AT THE PEACE TABLE

Who shall sit at the table, then, when the terms of peace are made—

The wisest men of the troubled lands in their silver and gold brocade? Yes, they shall gather in solemn state to speak for each living race, But who shall speak for the unseen dead that shall come to the council place?

Tho' you see them not and you hear them not they shall sit at the table, too;—

They shall throng the room where the peace is made and know what it is you do; The innocent dead from the sea shall rise to stand at the wise man's side, And over his shoulder a boy shall look—a boy that was crucified.

You may guard the doors of that council hall with barriers strong and stout, But the dead, unbidden shall enter there, and never you'll shut them out.

And the man that died in the open boat, and the babies that suffered worse, Shall sit at the table when peace is made by the side of a martyred nurse.

You may see them not, but they'll all be there, when they speak you may fail to hear;

You may think that you're making your pacts alone, but their spirits will hover near;

And whatever the terms of the peace you make with the tyrant whose hands are red,

You must please not only the living here, but must satisfy your dead. —Edgar A. Guest, in Literary Digest.

Concrete curbing gutter on every street in town and asphalt around the Court House and thru town on Main street. That's the program we want. Means of obtaining it are at hand.

CHAMBER COMMERCE TONIGHT

The Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight at eight o'clock for the discussion by the people of the city of several measures important and far reaching in results.

To reiterate the value of everyone's attendance and co-operation is but the old story forever true that success is born only when people united in purpose come together for the good of all. The sphere of service of this body is great, and it is to be hoped that earnest co-operation and loyal attendance will guarantee the erection of a hotel, the improvements of our streets and the erection of a good school building.

HOLD TO THAT COTTON

That the law of supply and demand determine prices is as sure as death is certain. The many other phases which enter into the control of the price of cotton all hark back to this law. Though seemingly the staple is headed for the bottom rung of the ladder and the market is as uncertain as fancy, there must be a rise in prices soon or late. America needs cotton and the demand will become urgent as soon as the "slack in the line of trade" is drawn taut. Demand will make its voice heard if the farmer sits steady in the boat, plans now to reduce his acreage and learn thru the press of necessity the advantages of diversified farming and living at home. The crop of the past year is short, there is no great amount of cotton in the hands of the manufacturers, cotton goods are bringing the price which justifies thirty-five cents, at the least. It is up to the agricultural interests to play the safe game by decreased cotton acreage and increased food-stuffs; to hold to every bale of cotton until the market reaches thirty cents and to guarantee to every cotton farmer a just emolument of the labor and money invested. The demand will force the prices up—if the acreage of this year's crop is held down. Hold to every lock of the staple for the good of the pocket book and the financial prosperity of the whole South. The co-operation of the business interest will make this possible.

Mrs. Sallie Twitty Entertains U. D. C.

Mrs. Twitty beautifully entertained the U. D. C. on Friday afternoon, Feb. 7, in the hospitable home of Mrs. George Scoggin on main street.

Twenty one members of the Confederacy were represented. A most interesting meeting was held. At the appointed hour, 3:30 o'clock, Mrs. Twitty opened the exercise with responsive reading and prayer, followed by a piece read by Mrs. Eugene Allen, on the death of Miss Mary Lee, daughter of our great Gen. Robt. E. Lee, the last of his family. Mrs. Del Jones read a beautiful poem, written on a memorial window in St. Paul's church in Richmond Va. Mrs. Twitty read an article in reference to the maintenance of the memorial beds in France, dedicated to the wounded soldiers "Over There," and asked that we increase our dues to one dollar a year and thereby enable us, to give $25.00 towards the beds.

Mrs. Eugene Allen made a few complimentary remarks about our Pres. Mrs. Twitty and our Historian, Mrs. Pendleton, and the honor we appreciated in having them our officers, none could be better! A committee of three or four, were appointed to visit Miss Annie Lee's grave at Jones' Springs and see condition of same. Delicious mints and grape fruit salad was served.

The U. D. C. adjourned to meet next with Mrs. Pendleton, Friday March 7.

Items Of Interest From Creek Section

For quite a while there has been nothing stirring around Creek except the "Flu" which has been very abundant until recently. At this writing I do not know of a case anywhere in this community, and we trust from now on it will be a thing of the past.

The school at this place is still in operation with a full attendance this week and all seem down at work.

Mr. J. S. Davis spent last week-end at home, returning to his post in Raleigh on Tuesday.

Rev. Walter Ball preached at Shady Grove last Sunday in the absence of the pastor who was not well enough to be there.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Scott recently spent a day and night in the home of Sheriff Davis.

About noon last Sunday nearly every one for miles around here were out beholding an air ship going toward Raleigh.
