

JUNE 17-22 GALA DAYS

CHAUTAQUA PROGRAM IS CROWDED WITH INTEREST

Unusually Strong Features In Music and Lectures; Attraction To Be Held Beneath Big Tent On Academy Grounds.

The Chautauqua committee reports that the date of the Chautauqua this next summer has been assigned and the members of the committee are especially pleased with the strong and appropriate program which has been arranged. In addition to the great feast of music, entertainment and lectures special efforts have been made by the management to make the Junior Chautauqua bigger and better than ever.

The Chautauqua will be held during the five days beginning June 17, and as this is to be Reconstruction Year for the Chautauqua the program has been prepared so as to aid in every possible way a wise and just solution of the great problems which are to be met. It is understood that it has been the aim of the management to make the key note of the program a vital, virile Americanism, and it is expected that as a result the Chautauqua will be even more valuable during these uncertain and trying times of readjustment that it was during the war.

Big Features In Music.

It is said that in its musical numbers the management has succeeded in maintaining the usual high standard of its attractions. Evidence of this is to be found in the fact that they have been able to secure as a very special treat, the famous native Indian Orchestral Band from the Haskell Government Institute of Lawrence, Kansas. The Band will be under the direct charge of a government supervisor. The Indians will wear for a part of their program their native tribal costumes, and their program will consist of a happy blending of the weird Indian melodies with all that is best in conventional music. Special features of the group will be a feature dancer, and Fred Cardin, a native Quapaw Indian who is considered the greatest violinist of his race. As a special soprano soloist the management has succeeded in securing Sarsa Carey, a native of the Cherokeees.

Another notable feature will be the Keller Sisters. Miss Lou and Miss Anne Keller have for a number of years been giving programs which have struck a new note in the concert field. They do not play and sing for you, but WITH you. In their own unique way they bring the spirit of music close to the lives of their hearers. Both are composers, both are artists and with it all they are both human. Their program will be a delight both to the most exacting music lover and to the person who knows little about music.

The Chautauqua management considers itself fortunate in being able to present the Dough Boys Male Quartet made up entirely of soldier boys just back from service overseas. Each member has been carefully chosen from the standpoint of honorable and distinguished service to Uncle Sam as well as because of their unusual musical ability. Their program will be made up of trench songs and stories—thrilling experiences in the world war, together with a high class quartet repertoire. One of the special features of their program will be the history of the Great War as told in its trench songs.

The Del Mar Ladies Quartet will give a varied and delightful program of vocal and instrumental music. These ladies have had several years experience in the Lyceum and Chautauqua and their program never fails to please because they can not only sing well, but unusually well, and their instrumental ability is equally as good. A particular characteristic of the Del Mars is their alertness and enthusiasm which is said to be quite contagious.

High Class Entertainers Secured. There is so much sadness and sorrow in these trying times that it is understood the management has made a special effort to weave into the Chautauqua program enough delight-

THOSE TRIUMPHAL GERMAN HELMETS

Eighty-five thousand German helmets, captured by allied troops in Coblenz, are to be awarded as prizes by federal district committees in the Victory Liberty Loan campaign. They will be given to Victory note salesmen making the best selling records and school children writing the best essays on the loan. In the picture shown above, taken on the Treasury steps in Washington, are shown Frank R. Wilson, director of publicity (left), and Lewis B. Franklin, director of War Loan Organization (right). Wilson created a panic in the helmet market by buying the entire 85,000 allotment from the War Department for $1. It cost the German government more than that amount to manufacture each one of the helmets.

These helmets were a special supply held in reserve for a triumphal entry into Paris. Eventually they arrived there by freight.

ful entertainment to cheer the heart and rouse the smile and set the community singing on its way.

It is with especial pride that Miss Maude Willis is announced as a part of the entertainment features of the week. Miss Willis is a reader of plays and she has long held a most enviable reputation in the Chautauqua world. He work upon the platform is delightful, but she is loved as much for the character of her selections as for her artistic ability. She strives to be more than a mere entertainer, and she succeeds. Her appearance at the Chautauqua will be an event long to be remembered in the community.

On the same day with Miss Willis will be presented Brush, The Great, that refined and clever illusionist who for more than a decade has been delighting Lyceum and Chautauqua audiences in every state in the Union. His entertainment is as remarkable for its variety of mystery as for the mystery itself. He presents tricks culled from England, China, France, India,—in fact from every source under the sun. Mr. Brush too is more than an entertainer. He strives to educate as well. His aim is partly to show people that they cannot believe everything they see and so to beware of the other man's game. It would be difficult to find a finer combination of entertainment and instruction than is to be found in Mr. Brush's program.

Lectures Especially Strong.

That the Chautauqua management has been doing its utmost to make its message to the people and its contribution to the nation in these trying times as effective as possible is evidenced by the unusually strong group of lectures which have been secured. The keynote of the week will be struck by a notable lecture on Americanism by Montaville Flowers who for many years has been considered one of America's foremost orators and publicists. No man on the American platform has a clearer or fuller grasp of the facts and issues involved in present world affairs. He stands pre-eminent among America's greatest orators for his power to present vital subjects in forcible, logical address. His subject will be "America's Highway to Happiness." Every intelligent American patriot should hear it.

Then there will be Strickland Gillilan, America's foremost humorist. For twenty years he has talked to American audiences from coast to coast and no man has a cleaner, better record. He is constantly filling return dates, and he is always considered new because of his ability to originate while on the platform. Mr. Gillilan is a writer also. He writes for every issue of Farm Life and he has something in every month's magazines,—Good Housekeeping, Munsey, Womens World, Rycroft or Ladies

Home Journal. His subject at the Chautauqua will be "Just Among Ourselves."

The lecturer who will prove of a great interest as any is L. Harwood Spicer, a renowned English educator and an eye witness of the German Revolution. He will make a special trip to America to bring to Community Chautauqua audiences this summer a most timely and interesting message. His subject will be "The German Revolution as I Saw It." He will give accurate descriptions of what has been going on in Germany since the eleventh of last November, and from his extraordinary knowledge of Germany and the Germans he is able authoritatively to state what we may expect of Germany in the future.

All in all a great treat is in store for everybody. It is planned to put the season tickets on sale at least a month in advance and it will greatly assist the local committee if every one will plan to get their tickets early.

Opportunity To Help Loan

Secretary Glass Urges Optimism And Wants That Doctrine Talked Over America.

Dear Dr. Shaw:
"You and I are newspaper men and I am inclined to think that in that vocation we now will find our greatest usefulness. It sometimes seems to me that the heavy pressure of our routine lives distracts our minds and inclines us too slightly to pass over the opportunities and responsibilities that abide with those who present the written word to their fellows.

"We are in a crucial era, at a turning where the unschooled or unfaithful guide can lead us far astray. It becomes our special province to take heed that there be no stumbling. It is our responsibility wisely to shape our courses, and our privilege to give to the needs of the nation and of the world that publicity without which they will remain unknown or be misunderstood.

"We can show the American nation what it has done in bringing low the Prussian power which so short a time ago threatened the very foundations of our liberties. We can show in its true proportions the magnitude of the achievement by which a nation of husbandmen and earnest toilers, engrossed in their own worthy tasks, turned aside at the beckoning of the ideal called Right and forfeited their personal gain that Justice again might dwell among their imperiled brothers. The opportunity is given us to bring among all citizens of the United States a true understanding of where the tasks of the future lie, to show what must be done to rebuild a new and finer world on the outworn basis of yesterday.

"We can show them the meaning of the Victory Liberty Loan and how its purpose is to keep fair to the honor of the country and enable our Government to finish its job. We can remind them that those who say it is impossible for the Treasury to float a great popular loan at this time are heedless of the nation's records; have forgotten the momentous success of the four preceding issues; are unmindful of the manner in which every obstacle presented to our army and navy was overcome, despite the craven misgivings of ubiquitous pessimists. We can tell them with the inexorable force of truth that the success of the Victory Liberty Loan means the quick resumption of our normal and pleasant course of life and the dissipation of the shadowy menace of Bolshevism.

"It is our duty, if we can, to show that this is a time, such as no other we have seen, in which the whole theory of democracy is in the balance. It is a time when cross-purposes and counter-courses in democracy invite disaster. It is a time when the special sovereignty of every citizen must be realized and exercised. If, in these days, a man says, "I will wait for my neighbor to start his old-time industry, I will pause until I am sure what trend affairs will take. I will let others finance the Government meantime," he casts aside responsibilities which free government has placed upon him and betrays Democracy's trust. This is America's day and every man who boasts American citizenship must step briskly forth and address the task before him with a high spirit, and a firm determination to press forward, ever forward to better times.

"This is the remedy for any ills which may threaten the state, for where all are willed to progress, dismal uncertainties are banished. Let us do what small part we can in the completion of this task and be thankful that we can aid. Let every man put his strength into finishing this job so that when the other peoples of the world look to see how America has come out of the war they will find her shining and her people blithely marching onward to such mansions as are prepared for them."

Cordially yours,
(Signed) CARTER GLASS,
Secretary of the Treasury.

Eggactly a Curiosity.

Mr. W. H. Pridden, of Creek, was a recent visitor to the office, and much interested the force with two hen eggs, about the size of robin eggs, but joined together as one. It is a rare curiosity—any caring to see it my do so if they call this week.

CLUB WORK AT MILL HERE

GREAT WORK UNDER WAY AT PECK MANF. COMPANY

Community Welfare in All Its Phases Gain Exemplification Under Competent Instruction of Miss Daphne Carraway.

Last fall the housewives of the Peck, Mfg. Co. community formed a club for the bettering of conditions in that particular community. They did good work and had a regular clean up week then, when it was fashionable for each family to get their lot as clear as possible of all objectionable trash. The mill had all this taken off the premises and the lots presented a much more pleasing appearance. This club also helped in getting up the exhibit for the Warren Harvest Home and in caring for the influenza patients during the epidemic. Mrs. Lona Kearney was Pres., Mrs. John Gray, Vice-Pres., and Miss Iona Bridges, Secty.

Since Christmas the club has extended its usefulness and is now known as the Community Club. All the girls over fourteen years of age and all the women of the village are invited to be members. They hold meetings on the first and third Saturday nights in each month. After the reorganization in January it was decided to have monthly dues so that a fund would be on hand to carry out any needed enterprise.

A Patriotic Program was carried out in February. The last meeting in February Misses Josie and Belle Dameron gave a most delightful musical program of Southern Melodies and all learned some new songs. Miss Josie Dameron also talked to the club about home gardens, making suggestions about certain vegetables for winter use. At this meeting plans for flower planting as well as gardens were made. As a result of this meeting Miss Carraway has planted at least three flowering shrubs at each house and some around the school house. Flower seed have been ordered and each house-holder may have flowers this coming season. Prizes will be offered for the prettiest flower yard in the village. Prizes will also be offered for the best kept premises.

The first meeting in March was devoted to the election of another Pres. since Mrs. Kearney found it necessary to resign. Since deciding to have monthly dues a Treas. was needed and Miss Effie Lloyd was chosen, while Miss Carraway was made Pres. for the present. At this meeting foods for the sick were discussed. Each member had been asked a bring a cup and spoon. Certain members had prepared beef tea, beef broth and gruel according to recipes found in the reader used in the Adult Class. It was pronounced delicious by the club. Mrs. C. E. Lovell made a toothsome loaf of bread. Cottage cheese, made also from a recipe to be found in the reading book, was served. Plans for the State Clean Up Week were laid and several selections were read from the literature sent out from the State Insurance Department.

Now that the mill village has had its spring cleaning and flowers are being looked after we hope this will be one of the most attractive sections around Warrenton.

The Children's Society is doing its bit too. This meets every Friday afternoon and the membership is taken from the class of children between the ages of six and fourteen. This part of the work is handled most ably by Miss Alice Rooker. Everett Bridges is Pres. of this club and presides with care. Every Friday each child has at least some part in the program. Last Friday the subject was Clean Up Time. Every child in the school had something to say on the subject. At the end of the program a practical demonstration was given by all getting out on the yard or in the house and for a regular spring cleaning. Many hands made light work and in less time than you could imagine the yard had been raked and swept and the house had been given a regular spring cleaning. The children also helped in distributing flowering shrubs and in helping
