BIG BRITISH DIRIGIBLE R-34 MAKES TRIP IN 75 HOURS

With Wind Behind It Big Blimp Makes Swift Trip To England; Congress Has Week of Large Business Before It.

Pulham, Norfolk, England, July 13.—Great Britain's mammoth trans-Atlantic pioneer, the dirigible R-34, arrived here at 6:56 o'clock, Greenwich mean time, today, completing her round trip from the British Isles to the United States and return.

The R-34 poked her nose out of the clouds northeast of the village and, after circling the flying field three times, glided gently to the ground and ten minutes later was housed in the dirigible shed.

Made It In 3 Days and 3 Hours.

The voyage from Long Island was without particular incident and was completed in approximately 75 hours. Shouts from those on the field greeted the first sight of the long gray body low on the horizon. As the R-34 approached the field, she dropped from a height of 5,000 feet to 2,000 feet. The men who were to aid the airship in landing were ordered to their positions and waited silently as the ship circled the field, dropping lower and lower.

The Landing—Under Roof Again.

When Major G. H. Scott, her commander, had maneuvered the airship to position for the landing the water ballast was released to steady her and a rope was thrown from the bow. The rope was grasped by eager hands and the giant ship moved across the field to the shed where the delicate operation of berthing her was completed quickly without accident.

A military band stationed on the field played "The Call of Duty" as the airship began to settle and then changed to the strains of "See, the Conquering Hero Comes." As the ship was warped into the shed the band played "Keep the Home Fires Burning." The crowd was too intent in watching the ship to notice the music, while the whirr of the propellers made in inaudible to the men in the R-34.

Very Much Ready For Breakfast.

The tired, unshaven, but smiling men who composed the crew climbed from the gondola and were greeted warmly and with many slaps on the back by the officers and soldiers gathered on the field.

"The voyage home has been without incident," said Major Scott. "We want breakfast."

Washington, July 13.—Consideration by the Senate of the peace treaty with its League of Nations covenant—actually to open tomorrow with the meeting of the Foreign Relations Committee—transcends in interest anything expected to come before Congress this week.

Both branches of Congress, however have a busy legislative week ahead, with debate on prohibition enforcement legislation expected to continue in the House and with final disposition of the agricultural and sundry civil appropriation bills, vetoed by the President, to be decided. A number of committees, both those engaged in drafting legislation and those conducting investigations will hold meetings.

Foreign Relations Com. Meets Today.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, to which the peace treaty was sent after it had been laid before the Senate by President Wilson Thursday, will hold a special meeting today in considering the document. Although opponents of the League of Nations covenant held a conference today, there was no indication that any plan of action either in committee or on the floor of the Senate had been definitely agreed on.

Time To Cut Out Sob Stuff

True American Grit Needed In All Line of Activity—No Time for Weak-kneedness

(By J. E. Jones)

Now that Germany has signed up and the President has broken away from Paris, isn't it high time to cut a good deal of this over-indulgence of fear concerning unemployment, the high cost of living, Bolshevism, I. W. W.'s, and other terrors that try to camouflage their lawlessness—and make this business of reconstruction hum?

There is no minimizing the worth of the achievements in our national affairs, and those of the world; but the human mind cannot forever dwell upon the tragedies that cost ten million lives in battle, thirty million injured, and thousands made blind or insane—and others made poor, and some made rich.

How about To-morrow, as well as Yesterday? Industrial facts are worthy of, and must be considered: There are practically no business failures occurring in the country; the bank clearing are running about 17 per cent over last year's highest totals. Even if prices are high the cost of labor and the prices of food-stuffs furnish a firm foundation for the condition. Cotton is no longer in the dumps, and it like wool, is in the active class. Steel slumped and suffered a real bump after the war, but the human members of that industry, including the "men on the job," ought to be able to take protracted vacations for a time as the result of their era of prosperity. The railroads are lagging in making the purchases of steel, and the Director General is following the footpaths of his predecessor in having arranged for two-thirds of a billion dollars from Uncle Sam to take up the deficit, or slack of a year's operations, and to provide for essentials in betterments and replacements of properties. But someday this muddled muddle occasioned by Government operation will end; and it will be a gala day for the Nation when private owners of railroads resume charge, and restore decrepit roadbeds and rolling stock, and get the great steel highways back to normal condition. But while the railroads are down in low speed, the automobile business is on high, and the steel men are finding a pretty good output for their goods in that direction. Even house-building is on the gain, and unemployment is not half as serious as some agencies would have one believe. Our conditions contrasted with those that exist abroad, should produce optimism of the keenest kind. Raw materials and machinery are lacking in the war zone, and millions of men are idle in consequence, while the discontent that rages is causing further industrial stagnation because

Features of August Meeting; Oats and Clover After Cotton

COUNTY AGENT BASON IS URGING COVER CROPS

August 27, 28, and 29th Dates Of Farmers and Farm Women's Raleigh Conference.

EXTENSION WORKERS TO GIVE RURAL DRAMA

West Raleigh, N. C., July 14.—As a part of the social entertainment to be provided visitors to the Farmers' and Farm Women's Convention to be held at the State College of Agriculture on August 27, 28, and 29, some of the county men and women agents, together with other extension specialists, will endeavor to present a rural drama, "Kindling the Hearth Fire" by Estelle Cook of the University of Minnesota.

This is a royalty play in three acts founded on the line "Keep a clean hearth and a clear fire for me" in Tennyson's "Enoch Arden." Practice will begin on this production shortly. A committee consisting of Mr. H. H. B. Mask, Assistant State Agent in Farm Demonstration work, Miss Laura Wingfield, District Agent in Home Demonstration work and Mrs. T. E. Browne have charge of the presentation of the drama. Already enough copies for all those taking part have been bought and the right to present the play secured.

Mr. W. F. Pate, Secretary of the Convention, states that this one attraction is enough to guarantee anyone to make the trip to the Convention. However, he has provided many other attractions and is now preparing a lecture program for the day sessions that will have a special appeal to the farmers and their wives. Several noted men and women agricultural workers from different sections of the country have been secured among whom are Dr. H. J. Waters, of the Kansas City Star, a noted livestock specialist; Mr. Sam Jordan the noted county agent of Missouri, several speakers from the Federal Department of Agriculture, and leading farmers and specialist from North Carolina.

The County and Home Demonstration Agents want, every man, woman and child that can possibly do so, to attend this convention. The nature of the convention this year makes it especially attractive. Besides valuable lessons that cannot be learned elsewhere you are entertained by high class entertainments.

Boys and girls are also urged to attend the club short course from August 19 to 22.

Oats and Clover at last Cultivation of Cotton.

The hay situation is one of the most serious problems the farmers of the county have to deal with. However, this should not be the case. If every farmer who is not making all the hay that is consumed on his farm would only look about for some means of producing hay, he could discover in a very short while a crop or a combination of crops which would solve his problem.

To produce hay at comparatively low cost there is, as far as I know, no better crop than white blooming crimson clover and oats sown at the last cultivation of cotton. By following this plan you get your crop seeded without any cost whatever as to preparation of the land, which is a great big advantage. This crop covers your land during the winter and takes up the plant food that would be bleached out during this period of the year. In addition the oats and clover can be grazed up until December, then again in the spring. The crop can be harvested in time to plant the land to corn which is a proper rotation.

The winter variety of oats recommended are the Red Rust proof type and winter Turf. Seed at the rate of 2 bushels per acre. Sow 10 pounds of clover seed.

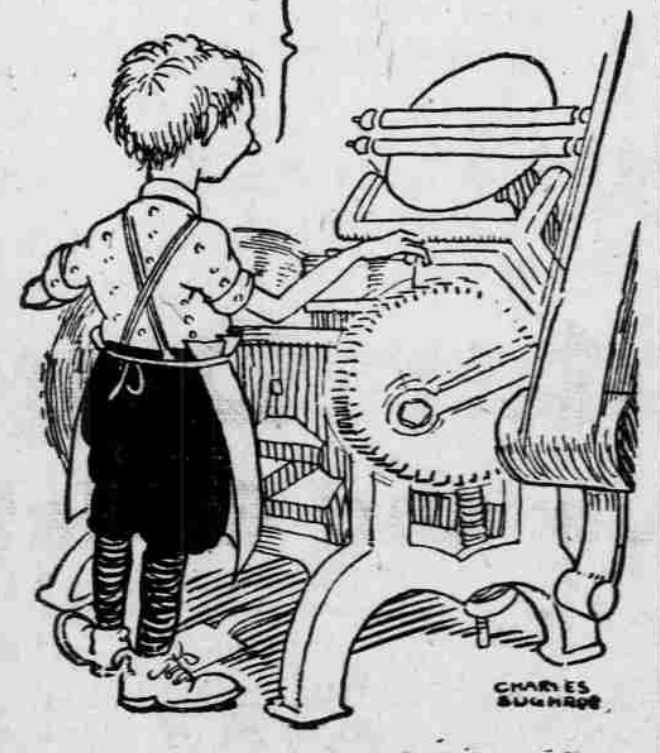

This is a hard combination to beat, and I know no better means of increasing the hay crop than that given above. This is one means of getting your tenants to raise hay. You sow the seed and the tenant will put them in for you at the last cultivation.

I urge all farmers who have been in the habit of using western grown timothy hay which analyzes 3.4 per cent. crude protein 42.4 per cent. carbohydrates 1.3 per cent. fat, to grow their own oats and clover which analyzes 8.3. crude protein 35.8 carbohydrates and 13 per cent. fat. The home grown hay contains more than twice as much crude protein, the substance that comes so high when we have to buy it, as does the timothy hay.

Important Meeting Farmer's Union There will be a very important meeting of the Arcola Farmer's Union Saturday at 3 p. m.

Laborer Shot Hollister Boss

Following Discussion Over Time Report; Bloodhounds Give Chase Without Avail.

A telephone message from Hollister last Friday afternoon for aid in securing the arrest of Richardson, young negro bad-man who had just shot a white foreman of the Fosburg Lumber Company through the hip because of a discussion over a time report, brought Chief John Bell and deputy sheriff W. C. Ellington and other exponents of law and order to immediate action.

Nichols' bloodhounds were ordered from Kaleigh and at ten o'clock reached Warrenton. They left at once for Hollister accompanied by several citizens of the town in addition to Messrs. Bell and Ellington.

The dogs picked up the trail with little trouble and ran for three miles to a house which the negro had been known to frequent. The trail was lost here because the fugitive had driven off in a wagon. Efforts made in the neighborhood to pick-up the trail were fruitless.

The shooting produced much feeling in the Hollister neighborhood and over one hundred men were in the posse. The negro assailant is of bad character having been a star party to many brawls in that section.

The Warrenton gentlemen returned at five o'clock Saturday morning reporting that the shooting took place just over the line in Halifax county and that the foreman was not seriously wounded.

Miss Rankin Home Again

Gains Inspiration And Valued Information From Trip To Anson and Work There.

Miss Rankin has returned after a week spent in Anson County helping Mrs. Redfern, the Home Demonstration Agent with some special meetings. She is very enthusiastic about the work done in the county and says in part; "Anson is considered one of the best organized counties in the state and it was a real opportunity to be able to spend a few days there to get on the inside of things. The first thing that impressed me was the condition the crops are in. Cotton and corn being the chief ones. It looks that they will have bumper crops. The second impression was the terraced lane. Every field that was the least rolling had splendid terraces all thru it, and all of them were cultivated. Then when I got to the meetings and found the enthusiasm and cooperation among the people I did not wonder at the reputation the county has. They are really doing things and are doing them thru the organizations of community clubs. They are proud of their efforts and well they should be. It simply shows what cooperation will do. The hospitality was as sincere as can be found at any place. The picnic dinners that were brought out were monuments of the ability of the women as cooks. The one feature was the amount of light bread made by the women in each community. I have never seen better bread at a picnic and to be able to make good bread is an art that any woman should be proud of. I have many new ideas and feel that I am in a position to help the people in Warren county to co-operate more fully than before having this opportunity."

"Be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the editors of the County papers and also to the News and Observer—Faculty and Students of Warren County Summer School."

IN MEMORY OF MRS. CULLOM

On the morning of July 5th, 1919 the death angel entered the home of Mr. A. N. Cullom, and took therefrom his loving and devoted wife in her 64th year. It was in 1879 that she became the wife of Mr. A. N. Cullom, and in them was exemplified that scripture "No man twain, but on flesh." Unto them was born eight children, seven of whom survive her. These with the stricken husband are left to mourn the loss of their best earthly friend. Early in life she sought and found the Saviour, and to the end of life's brief sojourn. She was one of his faithful fellowmen.

She was baptized into fellowship of Reedy Creek church, with father and mother, sisters and brothers of blessed memory and two sons Mr. M. T. and J. W. Duke survive her.

Her funeral was conducted by Dr. J. M. Mercer at her home in Wilson. She was buried in Fayetteville by the side of the loved one who preceded her. May God comfort by His spirit the loved ones so sadly bereft and help each one to live that at last they may all meet in Heaven.

E. Allen.
