Miss Nan P. Jones Weds C. F. Mosley

Mrs. Nan P. Jones announces the marriage of her daughter Nancy Peters to

Mr. Charles Fred Moseley at her residence in North Warrenton Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock August 14th, 1919.

Miss Nan P. Jones, popular daughter of Mrs. Nan P. Jones of this city and Mr. Charles Fred Moseley, prosperous business man of Warrenton, were made man and wife by the impressive words of Rev. G. B. Starling at the home of the bride yesterday afternoon at three minutes after three o'clock. Only the members of the immediate families and intimate friends of the contracting parties were present.

Mrs. Howard F. Jones, in white georgette, received the guests. The reception room was a mass of golden red and golden glow intertwined with fern tastefully draped over the stair and surrounding with quiet beauty the furniture of the room. The parlor was winsome in its dress of fern and clematis and soft in the light golden hue from the candles which peeped from candelabrae surmounting the improvised altar and other points of vantage.

As the wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Miss Belle Dameron, gowned in old rose georgette, Miss Nannie R. Jones, of Raleigh, in white embroidered georgette, entered closely followed by the bride and groom. The bride was attractively gowned in a travelling suit of blue with accessories to match and carried a large bouquet of bride's roses.

To Mendelsson's wedding march the couple left the home of the bride and motored to Norlina where they left for a ten day trip to the mountains of North Carolina and Kentucky. Numbers of friends motored to Norlina and with a sprinkling of rice and good wishes bade them bon voyage on their honeymoon and throught Life's journey.

Comes Here After Absence 50 Years

Quite a celebrity, conspicuous for badges of the lost Cause and the wrinkled strokes of Time's hand, yet still cheerful and commenting upon how much Bill or George's boy was like their pa, Mr. Richard T. StSing was the center of an interested group here yesterday.

Mr. StSing was a member of Co. G., 43rd N. C. Infantry, under Captain Anthony Dowtin, father of Register of Deeds Dowtin of this county. He enlisted at fifteen coming here from Raleigh where his father was working and served throught the war.

Mr. St. Sing hails from fifteen miles this side of Raleigh and is visiting in the home of Mr. Billy St. Sing, of near Wise. Dropping into a reminiscent mood Mr. StSing told that he could remember when there was only one house in Wise and that built by their father and used as his home.

Mr. StSing was in attendance upon the Reunion at Rocky Mount and dropped by the county to renew the memory of old associations. His trip here last Saturday was the first time he had been to Warrenton in over fifty years.

Agricultural Picnic Proves Great Value

Experts of Various Departments Give Demonstrations and Lectures On Timely Topics; Much Interest In Tractor Demonstration; Splendid Address By Hon. Tasker Polk On Opportunity of Farm Life.

Many Warren county farmers and their wives were in attendance upon the Board of Agriculture's picnic here yesterday and great was the benefit derived from this day of practical schooling. Experts in many lines of endeavor gave their knowledge and experience. The day was one round of activity—a meeting here for the ladies, a meeting there for the men and over all the general atmosphere of the unusual for Warrenton, but an atmosphere delightful and thoroughly pleasing to all.

As the opening feature, the tractor demonstration in a field back of Prof. John Graham's was well attended. Farmers were interested in the different makes exhibited and the tractors pulling two 11-inch plows, cutting a 24-inch furrow, in a heavy redish clay were at a disadvantage for making the flashy showing which might have been expected—the showing was highly creditable, however. The J. I. Case Co. was represented by Special Agent R. U. Fox, of Nashville, and the demonstration conducted by Dealer T. H. Aycock, of Elberon; C. D. Diggs, of Richmond, was in charge of the Fordson tractor for the Norlina Motor Company which was represented by E. G. Heck and Dr. N. D. Morton; Allen and Fleming Co., dealer of the International had present as representatives of the International Harvester Co., Messrs. J. W. Roberts, of Winston Salem, R. E. Crutchfield, of Washington, and S. R. Cransford, of Greensboro. The demonstration, the first on a competitive basis in this county gave excellent opportunity for practical study of the value of modern farming methods and farmers were interested in the showing made.

After the demonstration the crowd came to the Court Square where Mr. Earle Britnall, of the Animal Industry Department, Dairy Division, made an object talk on "How to Select A Family Cow." Mr. Britnall was master of his subject and his revelation of the outstanding characteristics of a good milk and butter producer, the cow's only proper function, was interested and had a practical value for the farmers present.

During Mr. Britnall's talk, Mrs. Henley, district home demonstration agent conducted a cottage cheese demonstration in the Court room before the ladies of the county and followed this demonstration with an appeal for a close cooperation in the community and county fairs and urged the necessity of competent judges before any awards were made. Mrs. Henley is a pleasing speaker and the message she impressed could not help but be of great value to the housewives of the county.

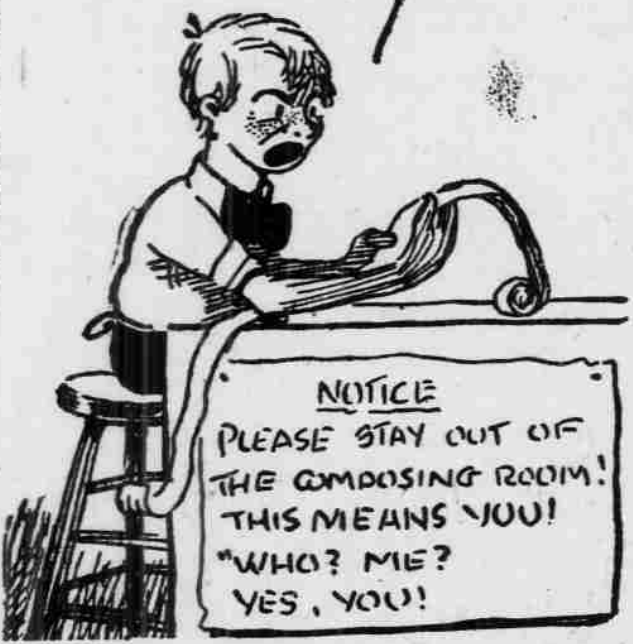

Throught the day the value of the Lalley Light system was demonstrated by special agent Deal and Mr. W. R. Strickland, local dealer. This compact system received the plaudits of many witnesses.

After the basket picnic dinner Hon. Tasker Polk delivered an excellent address. Mr. Polk's theme was vibrant with the opportunity of farm life and of the lucrative value of better farming. Neither law nor medicine could offer any comparative returns if the selfless devotion and study was applied to farming as was necessary for success in these lines of endeavor, he stressed. The talk, delivered in the court house, was much enjoyed and fitted admirably with the general trend of the day's activities.

Mr. H. B. Mask, representing district agent McLean, made earnest appeal for the co-operation of all agencies in a community in building that community into permanent progressiveness. This co-operation, he declared, to be absolutely essential to the proper functioning of the various agencies directing the public welfare. He plead for community meeting and for discussion at these meetings of the matters relatives to farming, and the opportunity for all to gain the benefit of the knowledge of the individual. Mr. Mask played hard upon the beacon lights of success and no one could hear him without realizing (Continued On Fourth Page)
