

WILSON MAKES APPEAL

Washington, Nov. 7.—President Wilson today urged his "fellow countrymen" to join the Red Cross "in impressive number" during the fourth annual roll call to be held during the fortnight beginning Armistice Day.

"The American Red Cross," said the President, "deserves a hearty response to its fourth invitation to annual membership, which will be issued during the fortnight beginning November 11, Armistice Day."

"Under the stimulus of war and through the co-operation of our people, this organization grew into immense size, enlarged its range of activity, served not only our fighting forces but also civilians involved in the hardships of war in our own nation and in the nations associated with us in a great common enterprise, and gave to the world an example of effective mercy through co-ordinated effort."

"Since the cessation of hostilities the organization has faced a dual duty: First to fulfill obligations created by the war, and, secondly, to adapt its experience and machinery to the needs of peace."

"It is, today, still assisting governmental agencies in the care and cheer of our disabled soldiers and sailors, in replacing those able to work in civilian occupations, and in counselling and aiding the families of former combatants; and it is still assisting, with diminished resources, the process of rehabilitation in some of the more prostrated countries of our former associates."

"While continuing these manifest obligations, the Red Cross has been accommodating methods and applying lessons learned in war to the normal needs of our people in times of peace, especially in regions where provisions for public health and welfare were imperfectly developed. It has placed public health nurses in many localities, and has endeavored to enlist greater number of young women in the nursing profession in order that the supply might more nearly equal the steadily increasing demand for community nurses. It has devised a scheme of "public health centers" for the relief of maladies and for instruction in hygiene, dietetics, and general principles of disease-prevention. With its nurses and nurses' aides it has rendered incalculable service in the serious epidemics of influenza. It has carried instruction in hygiene and first aid into schools, the women's clubs and the homes of our country. It has taught young and untaught mothers how to care intelligently for their babies, and has done much in many ways to promote child welfare, upon which the welfare of the nation ultimately rests. It has made it a fundamental principle to avoid futile duplications, to co-operate with public agencies when its co-operation was sought, and to supply deficiencies where such agencies had not yet been established."

"It has continued its educational work among the school children thru its Junior Red Cross branch, and it has, as one result of its war experience, put preparation for disaster relief on a scientific foundation, so that it is now equipped to meet disaster emergencies promptly in almost every part of our country."

"By systematic plans and practical performances, it has given a clear answer to the question why the Red Cross should be continued and carried over from war activity into peacetime activity. The answer is in the record."

"Additional to these obvious aspects of the matter, there is another reason why I, as President of the United States and President of the American Red Cross, urge my fellow-countrymen to join the Red Cross in impressive numbers: Reaction follows emotion, and after great effort comes perilous lassitude. Sound patriotism and genuine human service are continuous not intermittent not contingent merely upon the excitement of war. If there is in some of us an inward cooling of the fine fervor which animated us in the crisis of the nation's stress and peril, a contraction of the spirit which ennobled us as individuals and as a nation, now, during the 'Red Cross Roll Call,' is a fitting season to take counsel with our inner selves, to rekindle the old flame, to reaffirm allegiance to practical patriotism and practical humanitarianism, and to symbolize the regeneration of our better thoughts and handsomer selves by re-enlistment in a great army mobilized for the common good.

(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON."

* Mrs. Kate Arrington,
* Chairman Red Cross,
* My dear Mrs. Arrington:
* It gives me pleasure to endorse the work of Miss Hinnah, the Red Cross County Nurse. In itself this work is of great benefit, and reaches and teaches numbers of people who are largely helped, and who otherwise would never receive such attention. Besides, Miss Hinnah in her work has showed unselfish and assiduous attention to all classes, and has been the means of doing great good.
* Yours sincerely,
* C. H. PEETE, M. D.
* Nov. 8, 1920

* I heartily endorse the work done by Miss Hinnah since her appointment here. The World's War is over but the war against disease and suffering goes on with increased activity. The American Red Cross has on a vigorous campaign in America as well as abroad and it is the duty of Warren County Citizens to have part of the work done in our own county. In order to do this it is necessary to continue the services of this efficient nurse and you will help in doing so by joining the American Red Cross.

* The day is lost if no worthy deed is done.

* Public Health work according to my way of thinking is the most important subject that confronts us.

* Did you know that we are spending more money in North Carolina each year to cure hogs and cattle than we are spending to cure and prevent disease among our people, especially children. Our Red Cross Nurse has been with us about four months. Who has she helped most?

* 1st. The patient and its relatives. 2nd. The Physician in attendance. She has and will eliminate a number of unnecessary deaths, because she sees that Physicians instructions are carried out. If the Physician's instructions are not properly carried out his visit is useless. It is the duty of a Public Health Nurse to instruct those that need instructions. I know of three lives Miss Hinnah, our nurse, has saved by intelligent nursing.

* With a whole time Health Officer and a whole time nurse we will not see as much suffering and unnecessary deaths as we have in the past.
* G. H. MACON, M. D.

* To the Public:
* This certifies that I employed Miss Hinnah in my Professional work on many occasions during the past summer, and greatly appreciate her services and willingness to assist.
* T. J. HOLT, M. D.

* County Agent Leaves Warren

* We regret very much to lose our Demonstration agent. Mr. Trevathan and family left this week for Laurens, S. C. Mr. Trevathan is now County Agent for Laurens County South Carolina. Mr. Trevathan has many friends here and throughout the county who wish him success in his new home.

Miss Hinnah Makes Report of Work

The following is an account of Miss Hinnah's activity in the county since her arrival. In Friday's issue we will give a detailed monthly report of her work in Warren:

During the five months of work for the Red Cross the time has been spent mostly with babies. A few have been ill and in those home nursing care was given. An hour or two is all the time spent on one home but during that time the mother is taught how to care for the baby the remainder of the time or until the next visit. In homes of well babies the mother is talked with and allowed to ask any questions she wishes about the care of the baby. Diet seems to be the greatest worry of most mothers. A great many of the mothers want to feed their babies solid food before the baby's stomach is strong enough to digest the food.

The name of the baby is sent to Raleigh from where the State Board of Health and Bureau of Infant Hygiene send literature to the mother about the diet and care of the baby. To expectant mothers the State Board of Health sends very interesting letters of information.

The colored nurses of the county, of which there are a great many, have met several times and were told of the importance of cleanliness and the signs of danger in their work throughout the county. Their co-operation has been very good coming from the remote parts of the county on these meeting days.

The co-operation of people in some places has been very good and also from three or four of the doctors. It takes some time for the people to learn just what to expect of such a public worker as this is just a new undertaking by both Red Cross and Warren county.

I will be more than willing to call to see any person who would like or need nursing care—especially the babies.
* FREDIA L. HINNAH.

MARMADUKE ITEMS

THE RED CROSS ROLL CALL

DO YOU KNOW—

That from November 11 to November 25 every American should have the opportunity to renew his membership or to enroll as a member of the American Red Cross?

That the success of the work of the American Red Cross, both in your community and throughout the world, depends entirely on the number of people interested in helping it succeed?

That the Red Cross is seeking loyal, faithful members who will help in the Roll Call, that the great peace-time work to which it has put its hands may be carried on. That every man, woman, and child who knows what the Red Cross has done in the past, what it is doing in the present, and what it can do in the future, wants to become a member?

That there is to be only the Roll Call this year with no quota other than membership?

That to carry on its community work, the chapter is to keep—
$ .50—Out of each $1.00 membership
$4.00—Out of each $5.00 membership
$8.00—Out of each $10.00 membership

That the amount turned over, by the chapters, to headquarters, makes possible the National Organization of the American Red Cross and allow it to do its work—overseas, in times of disaster, and in other crisis.

That Red Cross membership dollars mean—
Public Health Nurses. Health Centers. Classes in Dietetics. Classes in Home Care for the Sick. Instruction in First Aid. Home Service for Service and ex-Servicemen. Work with the Crippled and Disabled. Recreation Leaders... Community Welfare Leaders. Care for the Unfortunate.

DEFEAT IS NOT SURRENDER

Columbus, O., Nov. 5.—Gov. James M. Cox returned to his office in the State House to-day for virtually the first time since Sept. 2. He dictated the following statement, his first and only declaration since the election:

For the first time in ten years, the Republican Party is in complete control of the legislative and executive branches of the National Government, there its policy as to statute and administration is with it. Its task is no longer that of the critic, but the constructor. It is my hope and firm belief that the Democracy of the Nation will not attempt political sabotage. The country has seen quite enough of that. We are in the midst of emergency and the Nation's every source should co-ordinate in behalf of the things that are helpful.

So long as government exists, the principles of Thomas Jefferson will be the centre about which human hopes will gather. Talk of a new party is absurd. One might as well discuss the destruction of human emotions. As essential as it has been to the welfare of the country in the past, the creed of democracy is more needed now than ever because recent events have made it distinctly the American party.

In spirit I am as proud as when the fight started. I would not retrace a step nor yield a single jot in principle. It was a privilege to make the contest for the right in the face of overwhelming odds. There is a distinct difference between defeat and surrender. The flag of Democracy still flies as the symbol of things more enduring than the passions and resentments that come with the aftermath of war."

The Governor will remain in Columbus long enough to attend to some official business and on Wednesday will leave for Alabama on a hunting trip. He remained silent as to his future political plans, but there is every indication that although he may be "down" just at present he does not consider himself "out."—A Staff Correspondent of The (N. Y.) World.

Makes Special Appeal To South

To All Southern Division Roll Call Officers:

No part of the United States can afford to fall short in its support of the American Red Cross in the Fourth annual Roll Call, for the Red Cross is the institution of the entire country, alike valuable to east and west in its ministrations.

Least of all can the South afford to fail, in the slightest particular, to back the Red Cross wholeheartedly and thoroughly. If any section of America stands for warmth, hospitality, generosity and kindness, it is the south. These have been considered the cardinal qualities of southern people since time immemorial, and the Red Cross—that great humanitarian institution—is the great medium for the expression of traits that beat in kind generous hearts.

There is another reason that makes the cause of the Red Cross a cause to be particularly cherished by the South. Last year, for every dollar contributed in the South to the Red Cross, the Red Cross spent $1.25. This was due to the large number of military posts and hospitals in the Southern Division and to the fact that the Red Cross concentrated a great deal of its health and social work in our section.

If any other incentive were needed to southerners to join the Red Cross in a mighty army, this should furnish it for never will it be said of the south that it lacked in appreciation. Thus, from every viewpoint, the Fourth Roll Call comes as a clarion summons to every true southerner to give his best, in time and money and zealous effort. Let us prove our mettle from November 11 to November 26. Let us roll up such a majority from the Red Cross in Dixie that the south will lead the nation in its response and its loyalty.
* Yours cordially,
* J. L. McMILLIN, Mgr.
* So. Division American Red Cross.
