That Justice May Ever Have A Champion; That Evil Shall Not Flourish Unchallenged.

Entered at the post office at Warrenton, North Carolina, under Act of Congress of 1879.

The joy of our heart is ceased; our dance is turned into mourning. The crown is fallen from our head; woe unto us, that we have sinned!—Lamentations 5:15, 16.

Time is the most important thing in human life—for what is joy after its departure?—and the most consolatory—for pain, when time has fled, is no more. Time is the wheel trace in which we roll on towards eternity, which conducts us to the incomprehensible. There is a perfecting power connected with its progress, and this operates upon us the more beneficially when we duly estimate it, listen to its voice, and do not waste it, but regard it as the highest finite good in which all finite things are resolved.—Wilhelm von Humboldt.

Congress is now engaged in framing a new tariff bill, but we know who will be framed.—Atlanta Constitution.

The farm-relievers' problem is to fix it so that a bumper crop won't bump the farmer.—Arkansas Gazette.

Making a fool of yourself isn't such a serious mistake, if you have sense enough to know who did it.—Kay Features.

This is the season when it is very difficult to sympathize with the man who is out of work.—Publishers Syndicate.

June is coming, and one habit Colonel Lindbergh has got to get out of before long is refusing to tell anybody where he's been.—Ohio State Journal.

Evidently the oil industry must take into accounts both the law and profits.—American Lumberman (Chicago).

The most discomfiting thing about dodging an auto is the dirty look the driver gives you for escaping.—Kay Features.

We don't know what has become of the old-fashioned girl. Years ago she was seen entering a beauty parlor, and she never came out.—Kay Features.

Interested parties are descending upon Washington by the hundreds in search of tariff favors. There's gold in them thar bills.—The New Yorker.

The sympathy of the entire section will go out to the Pinnell family in the death of Sam Pinnell, killed in the faithful performance of duty, and to Robert Pinnell, who lies in a hospital seriously wounded.

Both of these men were public spirited citizens, faithful to home and county. We sympathize in the death of Sam Pinnell and wish for Robert Pinnell a speedy recovery.

A BACKWARD STEP

Following years of slow but steady progress, Warren county on Monday took a backward step and discontinued the Maternity and Infancy work.

We trust that the board will rescind its order at the next meeting. We are unwilling to believe that the average taxpayer of Warren would not give up the price of a single admission to a picture show or a five-mile auto trip in order that the less fortunate might have needed medical attention and that handicaps that could be remedied at birth and during the pre-natal period may not plague Warren county citizens through life.

The cost of this work to the average taxpayer is less than 2 cents on the $100 valuation. The program of

Fidelity in Difficulties

OUR study of fidelity in the face of difficulties takes us back to the early ministry of Jeremiah, one of the greatest prophets of Israel, whose work was in the middle of the sixth century before Christ.

Unlike some of the other prophets who were called to the prophetic office from secular tasks, Jeremiah was of a priestly family. Like other prophets, he did not seek the prophetic office, but rather felt his unworthiness for it, and responded to the call only under the impulse of conscientious urge and the assurance that God had given him a message.

Here in our lesson he is represented as in dialogue with God concerning the prophetic work. He feels his weakness and assures the Lord that he knows not how to speak, that he is a child. The religious philosophy that has upheld men who felt their weakness in great tasks and crucial responsibilities is expressed, as Paul was to express it later, in the clear response that Jeremiah represents as coming from God to his own soul.

"Say not, I am a child; for to whomsoever I shall send thee thou shalt go, and whatsoever I shall command thee thou shalt speak." Along with this assurance came a deep conviction that God had put words into his mouth, and that he had, through this spiritual experience, a message for the nations. "I have this day set thee over the nations and over the kingdoms, to pluck up and to break down and to destroy and to overthrow, to build and to plant."

The man who develops such a consciousness as that is as much in a place of danger as in that of privilege and responsibility. Even spiritual power has its dangers, and the very fact that through spiritual strength men attain to a certain prestige and authority over their fellows puts upon them new temptations. Do not such temptations and the yielding to them explain the degradation of men and women, who in the beginning of their career seemed to have had much sincerity but who degenerate into mere fanatics or fakirs?

The temptations that are recorded of Jesus indicate that even his great mission was not free from the possibility of using his power for his own aggrandizement. But, as Jesus nobly vanquished all temptation, so Jeremiah, with his sense of prophetic power, fully subjected himself to the divine purpose. He stands as a character of great integrity, profoundly concerned for the truth of God and for the welfare of Israel.

As a prophet of truth, considering the welfare of the nation, he could not conscientiously speak words of ease. The prophet is often like the wise and intelligent physician who knows the truth concerning his patient and who knows how tragic may be the result of telling that truth. Oftentimes the patient turns from the competent physician to the quack who has honeyed assurances and ready cures.

progress is not in the interest of the rich, for they are able to hire the best of medical skill; they are able to send the expectant mother to the hospital where every precaution may be exercised for the mother and baby. The work is for the less fortunate, for those needing a word of skilled advice, yet unable to pay. This work was instigated in order that such children may have a better chance in life.

Our commissioners should know that our citizens will pay this pittance in the interest of this county, this State and humanity.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

We believe that sober second-thought and investigation will show the board and Chairman Powell that the double vote of the chairman is not permissible and that they should re-open the question of retaining the M. & I. work in Warren county, under supervision of the State Board of Health.

MRS. JAMES M. GARDNER
 There departed this life recently in Warrenton Mrs. James M. Gardner. A native of Warren county she spent her entire life there. A daughter of the late Judge William White, and a member of a family which has for many years played an important part in the history of Warren county, she evidenced with love and loyalty her interest in the best traditions of her county and the South.

My first and earliest recollection of Mrs. Gardner dates from my membership, as a child, in her Sunday school class in the Warrenton Baptist church. I can recall those scenes now as my memory turns back to those Sunday mornings when she met with us to teach us the finer things of life as inspired by the Master she loved and revered. Impressions and teachings im-

CHURCH WOMEN HOLD GOOD MEET

Auxiliary Workers Gather At St. Alban Episcopal Church At Littleton

REV. WAGNER IS RECTOR

By SARAH PETAR

Thursday, May 2, marked a day of much interest for the members of the Granville District of the Woman's Auxiliary, who had the privilege of assembling at St. Alban's Episcopal church, Littleton. The hymns, "Christ for the World, We Sing," and "Bread of the World," were used preceding the celebration of the communion with the Rev. B. N. de Foe-Wagner celebrant.

After this service a very hearty and kind welcome was extended to the auxiliary members and friends, which received an appropriate response from Mrs. S. B. Burwell.

Mrs. Clifton of Louisburg, our new chairman, introduced Mrs. Smithwick, who read the minutes of the last meeting, which was held in Oxford last fall, and called the roll. Littleton, Henderson, Oxford, Warrenton, Louisburg and Ridgeway were represented. Then Miss Katherine Hilliard gave an enthusiastic report on religious education, being pleased that that branch of the auxiliary work is gaining a foremost place.

Mrs. B. B. Williams' report of box work was quite encouraging.

A letter was read from Mrs. H. G. Cooper, who was visiting in New York, saying that her heart would be at the meeting, and sending sincere wishes for its success. Mrs. W. D. Burwell gave a brief report for Mrs. Cooper who is United Thank Offering secretary.

Mrs. L. H. Justis addressed the assembly upon Christian social service, urging that each auxiliary hold a service at the county homes at least once a month, and giving account of many past offices for the sick or poor.

The noonday prayer service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Meredith.

Mrs. F. S. Spruill, our diocesan president, spoke a few words of commendation of district leaders and explained some of the pledges.

After several parish reports, the meeting adjourned for the morning session, and a delightful social hour was spent at the home of Mrs. L. H. Justis.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Nash of Tarboro, Mrs. Bass and Mrs. Lewis were present for the afternoon session. It was a pleasure to hear Mr. Nash's address. He gave the injunction to continue the good work of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Edward Peoples and Mrs. Edward Taylor gave very impressive accounts of the church convention. Mrs. Taylor's address was pertaining to the facts heard at the convention about the children's hospital at Tokyo, Japan, at which many mothers have been kindly directed in the care of their children. The mothers appreciate the nurses' visits to their homes very much also.

Mrs. Taylor was elected box work secretary of this district of the auxiliary. Mrs. S. B. Burwell felt it necessary to decline her election as Christian social service secretary and Mrs. J. D. Scott received the nomination and election to that work.

Thoughts of appreciation to the members of St. Alban's church were expressed for their kind hospitality.

The invitation was extended and accepted that the fall meeting of the Granville district of the auxiliary be held at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Ridgeway. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Miller.

Rowan farmers are planning to cash in on the growing of sweet clover in that county by transferring their bees to modern hives.

tion be made in connection with the State relative to farming operations among the colored farmers of Warren county.

L. Daeke was refunded $2 dog tax listed against him through error of the list taker. One dollar was refunded W. T. Carter for a similar case.

The commissioners ordered that the Mother's Aid appropriation be continued. It was ordered that $25 be donated to the Children's Home Society of North Carolina at Greensboro. Commissioner Newell voted against this measure.

It was ordered that H. L. Falkner be allowed to pay three years taxes on 25 acres of land of Austin Allen on which he holds a mortgage. It was ordered that Edward Alston be charged with $480 worth of additional cotton, same being listed at $60 per bale, and $75 per bale judged a fair valuation. It was ordered that Paschall property be valued at $2,000 for one year, 1928.

Personal property of George Hester having been listed in Hawtree and Warrenton township, and it appearing that it should have been listed in the former only, it was ordered that it be so listed and Mr. Hester be given credit for land listed in Warrenton township.

It appearing that J. C. Powell holds a note in the sum of $1,000 which is secured by the residence property of A. W. Hall; and it further appearing that Mr. Hall has his property and Mr. Powell's note, it was ordered that each receive a credit of $500 valuation.

It was motioned by Commissioner Wall and seconded by Commissioner Skinner that the list takers be allowed the same compensation as in 1928. Mr. Wall's motion was supported by Mr. Skinner. It was balloted; Mr. Newell's motion, Burroughs and Powell, and it was ordered that the list takers receive the same compensation as in 1928.
