Jim Jeffress Carried To Granville; Had Fight Here Monday

Jim Jeffress, former Warrenton negro of unsavory reputation, was yesterday carried to Granville county after spending a day and two nights in Warren jail as a result of an altercation with W. C. Ellington, ticket collector at the Imperial Theatre.

Charged with an assault, Jeffress was arraigned before Magistrate Frank Newell here on Wednesday morning. Evidence revealed that Jeffress struck Mr. Ellington while he was collecting tickets on Tuesday night and that the ticket agent returned the blow and the negro was put out. After he was downstairs, Jeffress cursed Mr. Ellington and abused him roundly and Mr. Ellington knocked him down. Constable R. O. Snipes appeared and arrested Jeffress, who admitted at the trial next morning that he had been drinking.

Jeffress was fined $25 and cost by Magistrate Newell. Unable to raise this amount, he was placed in Warren county jail. Learning that Jeffress was wanted in Granville county, the authorities were notified and yesterday the officers from that county came for him.

In addition to being wanted by Granville authorities, Chief M. M. Drake has a four-year-old warrant for the arrest of Jeffress, who fled the county at that time.

Woman Claims She Only Borrowed Car

Facing Judge Rodwell in Recorder's court on Monday morning, charged with larceny of an automobile, the property of P. E. Brauer of Ridgeway, Miss Grace Ross, young white woman, told the court that she only borrowed the machine for temporary use and that she had used the car on other occasions. For want of jurisdiction, Judge Rodwell transferred the case to Superior court under $50 bond, which she gave. The trial will come up in September.

Paul Carter was before the Recorder on a charge of abandonment. The case was not pressed.

Cases against W. E. Faulkner, charged with reckless driving of an automobile, and Caesar Rodwell, charged with reckless driving of an automobile and transportation of whiskey, were continued.

Jack Morton appealed to Superior court when Judge Rodwell sentenced him to work the roads for four months on a charge of aiding in the manufacture of whiskey.

Officers Get Still One Day; That Night Others Get Outfit

This Warren still wouldn't stay still even after capture by officers of the law, and it has gone, presumably, to steam-up again and make the forbidden juice of the corn. The still in question was captured by Deputies H. E. Brewer, J. T. Ellington and Magistrate J. C. Hardy on Sunday. Monday is could not be found.

Officers seized the whiskey outfit near Oline Sunday and sent for J. H. Duke, local transfer man, to cart it to the Warren jail, according to the ruling of the county board of commissioners. Mr. Duke went to the scene and the plant was loaded upon a truck and brought here. He reached home late and decided to park the captured still with his truck for the evening, delivering it to the county next morning.

During the night some one captured it again, and Mrs. Duke telephoned the news to the sheriff's office early Monday. Clues as to the thieves have not been found. It is still a mystery.

Jack Morton, white man who was captured at the plant, and who told the court on Monday that he was from Danville, had stopped by the still and gone to sleep, drew a road sentence. Judge Rodwell didn't believe his story for officers testified that he had said that it was his still when captured. He appealed the case and yesterday was given his liberty from jail after raising a $200 bond.

Nine Take Pasteur Treatment As Result Of Bite By

Nine pet Miss Carrie Broughton State Library pet puppy, the property of P. Titelman, and the discovery that the animal was mad.

Those taking the treatment are Mrs. E. T. Odom, Mrs. H. J. Brenner, Cecil Brenner, Mozelle Brenner, Eleanor Titelman, Morton Titelman, Irvin Titelman, William Pegram and Louise Pegram.

The puppy had been given to the Titelman children as a pet several days ago and the neighbors' children were bitten early last week while playing with the animal. But as the wounds were very slight, nothing was thought of the matter.

When the puppy attacked the Odom baby, Mrs. Odom swept the child up in her arms and received a painful bite in the foot. She notified her husband who made a search for the puppy only to find that it had disappeared from home.

An investigation showed that the puppy's mother had been bitten by the mad dog that attacked George Morris here a few weeks ago, had developed rabies and been killed. After a frantic search, Mr. Odom found that the dog had been penned by a colored man living on the edge of town. The dog was shot by Officer Lovell and its head cut off.

Mr. Odom carried the head to Raleigh for examination on Friday. The State Laboratory of Hygiene reported the dog had symptoms of rabies and eight persons known to have been bitten and a ninth with a suspicious scratch on its body are being given the anti-rabies treatment.

Young People Have Free Camp At Laurel

By NEVA HARPER

From the 22nd through the 26th of July the R. A. and G. A. camp of Tar River association was held at Laurel under the splendid leadership of Miss Bettie Tunstall, our associational young people's leader.

There was an enrollment of seventy-five boys and five girls and ten workers. Three study course books were very ably taught by Miss Tunstall and Miss Alva Lawrence, our State young people's leader. Classes, hiking, stunts and swimming were enjoyed by the campers, but the thing that brought a gleam of satisfaction to every one's face was the musical sound of the dinner horns.

We feel that the camp was a help to the boys and girls who attended and we hope that next year every R. A. and G. A. in the entire association will be enrolled.

Once a little boy who was very fond of peanut butter and molasses said to me, "If you run up with any boys and girls who have never tried to eat peanut butter and molasses together will you tell them how good it is? I hate for any one to be missing it."

Now if you know any boys and girls who did not attend our camp this year won't you please tell them about the good times we had there? We don't want them to miss it next year.

We heartily thank all those who contributed in any way toward making the camp a success.

BLACKJACK USED TO KILL SALMON

Nephew Strikes Uncle After Row At His Home On Sunday Evening

LAW LOOKS FOR SLAYER

Charged with striking his uncle, Thomas Salmon, over the head with a home-made blackjack, John Salmon is a fugitive from justice. Thomas Salmon died at the Henderson hospital Monday night.

John Salmon, it is alleged, went to his uncle's home near Wise on Sunday evening and during a quarrel struck his uncle over the head, fracturing his skull. He fled from the scene of the crime and has evaded efforts of officers to arrest him.

The cause of the quarrel is not known. No bad blood is known to have existed between uncle and nephew who until a few months ago jointly operated a filling station near Wise on the Virginia-Carolina State line.

Funeral services for Thomas Salmon were conducted Tuesday afternoon at Sharon Baptist church by the Rev. Mr. Walker, pastor of the church. He is survived by his widow, two daughters and one son.

Officers of the law are making efforts through telephone communication to Virginia officials to locate and apprehend the criminal. Salmon was seen at South Hill shortly after the crime. A report to the sheriff's office here yesterday was to the effect that he had gone to Canada, but it came more or less in a grapevine manner and could not be verified.

Epworth League At Arcola Gives Roast

Friday evening, July 26, the Arcola Epworth League gave a weinie roast to its members and the rest of the neighborhood. We are sorry all did not come. The crowd met at Davis' store, excepting those who went in cars, and hiked to the top of a hill some distance back of the Neal home. There we found a large fire which had been started by fun-loving boys.

After looking at some places of interest in this wood, the boys' swimming pool especially, the hikers returned to the hill and roasted weinies and marshmallows. During this act some one said, "My weinie is not roasted but I am."

Weinies were eaten, weinies galore, then all kinds of sticks were dumped into the fire, which, when ablaze, sent out rays of light and all could see to play games. We succeeded in making a racket if nothing else.

Those who hiked back to the village had a great deal of fun. As the moon was not up and flashlights were scarce, they could hardly see. Stumbling, falling in ruts and ditches and stepping in holes of mud and water added to the fun. Pity those who wore good shoes!

We regret to say that little Marvin King, while having such a good time returning to the village, fell down and cut a small gash on the side of his face, near the left eye. But the cut was very slight and he is sure not to know the difference in two or three days.

CARROLL IS PUT IN WARREN JAIL

Wife Flees From Home After Husband Curses And Threatens Her

GOES SUPERIOR COURT

Unable to raise a $250 peace bond and $100 bond for his appearance at Superior court, J. W. Carroll, white man of near Warren Plains, former operator of a filling station here, is in Warren county jail.

A peace warrant and a warrant charging an assault was sworn out before Magistrate John W. Allen by Mrs. Carroll on Saturday morning. Carroll was arraigned before Magistrate Frank Newell on Monday morning.

Evidence in the case was that Carroll while under the influence of whiskey went to his home on Friday night, used abusive language to his wife and threatened to take her life with a stick, telling her that the only reason he spared her life was on account of her condition, she being pregnant.

Mrs. Carroll fled to the home of a neighbor, Mr. Cook, after 9 o'clock at night and he gave her shelter. The next morning she came to town and swore out a warrant against her husband.

Mrs. Carroll told Magistrate Newell that she could no longer live with her husband and that she feared for her safety. Mr. Newell placed Carroll under a $250 peace bond. He found probable cause on the assault charge and bound Carroll over to Superior court under $100 bond. Carroll was unable to raise either and he is in jail.
