

OFFICERS SEEK NEGRO SLAYER

Alston Shoots Uncle
Following Argument Over
A Suit of Clothes

MAN IS REAL CAUSE

Officers of the law are searching for Alston, young negro of 20, who last Sunday morning shot his uncle, Joe Alston, after an argument over a suit of clothes. The dead negro was in court here on several charges for violating the prohibition laws and for fighting.

It is alleged that though the immediate cause of trouble was a suit of clothes which Dave had refused to give to his uncle, that the real cause was over a woman. Joe Alston was shot just below the heart with a pistol and death came within a few hours.

Frank P. Hunter rushed to the scene, but the bullet was speeded when he arrived. Officers reached the fork to find that Alston had fled.

This is the sixth violent death in Warren since late Spring. Eugene Alston was run down by an automobile driver on the Axtel road; Omahy was found dead in Madison-Warrenton road on a highway; a trial at September term, charged with the murder of John Salmon of Hawthorne, charged with the murder of Sam Pinnell was killed by "Buddy" Macon early in the year when he sought to arrest the man and Matthew Lassiter. The negro youth of 15, was in North Warrenton three days ago when he attempted to ride on a lumber truck.

Wrests Lead From Plane

Zeppelin, Germany, Sept. 3.—A record for circumnavigation of the globe, was hailed by aviation circles tonight when the lead, for the present, in the race with airplanes, of the transoceanic Zeppelin, was announced.

The Friedrichshafen proclaimed a unanimous welcome to the Zeppelin and its tired crew, and the airship eagerly accepted the forthcoming development of the Graf Zeppelin. Dr. Eckener, commander of the Zeppelin, is now in the United States negotiating for development of a route to America and depends largely on the success of his efforts.

The Graf Zeppelin, arriving at 8:51 a. m. today (Sept. 3), had crossed the Atlantic Ocean from Lakehurst in 33 hours and 33 minutes. It was on record for the first time, three hours and 33 minutes, making the world record for the Zeppelin in 20 hours and 56 minutes.

The airship was moored here in the shadows of a great crowd of 200 minutes after the airship landed. Despite the heat of the city and state, the crowd was in high spirits and to pay tribute to the commander of Capt. Eckener.

Paul Von Hindenburg, in a message to the Zeppelin, commending his "heartfelt greetings to Dr. Eckener and his crew who helped in success of the flight."

Paul Von Hindenburg was the first to greet the airship as it came to the ground. He walked the big craft, on which a huge sign had been painted, and was forced to fight back the crowd which rushed around the airship. Overhead, escort planes roared their welcome.

Passengers told of what was a narrow escape from the airship when a cigar, an American passenger, despite repeated warnings, smoked a cigar on board the airship. The cigar, which was found in a quiet room, was put under arrest, a captain refused.

An Unknown Man Fools Officers After Robbing Newell

An unknown negro, who robbed Ben Newell, merchant of Wise, of $50, after entering the Newell home last Saturday morning early has not been captured. A hunt by bloodhounds and a posse of about 50 men, headed by Sheriff O. D. Williams, last Saturday was unavailing. In addition to the cash the robber took a number of checks.

The negro, described as short and of ginger cake color, entered the bedroom and took about fifty dollars from his trousers pockets while Mr. Newell was sleeping. He was awakened at about 4:45 that morning by a slight noise in his room which he at first thought to be rats. He stepped out of bed quickly, however, and went into the hall where he switched on the lights. The robber dashed by him.

Mr. Newell struck at him with his fist, but having no loaded gun in the house he could do nothing more. The robber did his work carefully, entering the house through a window at the back of the parlor, then going through the house and unlocking all outside doors, before he entered the bedroom.

Mr. Newell was the only person in the house on the first floor, Mrs. Newell being in Florida. Dressing hurriedly, the merchant jumped into his car and went down the State highway toward the State line and sent his neighbors in other directions.

The negro was seen by L. J. King and Roy Ellis near Warren Plains, but when an attempt was made to get him into the King car, he fled to the woods.

875,000 Children Enrolled In Public Schools Of State

RALEIGH, Sept. 3.—Approximately 875,000 children will enroll in the public elementary and high schools of the State during 1929-30, according to an estimate made in the office of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction based on the increase of total school enrollments for preceding years.

Figures for preceding school years indicate that there will be approximately 605,000 white children and 270,000 negro children, who will either begin or continue their education at the State's public schools. It is estimated that more than 100,000 of these children will make their appearance at the schoolhouse door to get their first insight into the meaning of public education.

It is further estimated that of the total public school enrollment of 875,000 during 1929-30 approximately 120,000 will be in the high school grades, 105,000 white children and approximately 15,000 negro children. Last year, 1928-29, there were 96,739 white boys and girls and 13,236 negro children, a total of 109,975, enrolled in the public high schools. The estimate for 1929-30, therefore, is based on the supposition that there will be an increase of about 11,000 in high school. Since 12,145 of the 109,975 high school students graduated this past year, then there will be nearly 25,000 boys and girls who will enter high school for the first time.

According to the educational statistics, the enrollment in the elementary grades will be approximately 500,000, or identical with the past few years, since the enrollment in high school will practically absorb the increase in total school enrollment.

Urges That Tobacco Be Marketed Slowly

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 3.—Letters are being sent out from the office of the Tobacco Association of the United States here to tobacco growers in Eastern North Carolina, Middle Belt and Old Belt areas calling to the attention of the farmers a resolution adopted at the annual convention of the Association in June.

This resolution urges farmers not to rush their tobacco to the markets and requests the buying interest to keep buyers on the auction markets until the crop is disposed of, thus avoiding congestion and giving the buyers better opportunity to examine the piles and in a great degree prevent overcrowding the redrying plants.

Interests supporting the Association believe that a longer selling period will give greater opportunity to judge tobacco offered for sale and render it unnecessary for them to curtail purchases on account of (Continued on Page 8)

EGERTON RECOVERING

Three other persons, who were on the empty truck at the time, were only slightly bruised, but Mr. Egerton was painfully though not seriously injured. The driver of the truck was blinded by dust and plunged into a bank, shaking Mr. Egerton from the machine.

3 "Stay-At-Home" Dollars Are To Be Circulated Here

In an effort to show what circulating dollars will do in the business life of a community and to foster the trade-at-home idea, The Warren Record today is placing three "Stay-at-Home Dollars" in the avenues of trade here. These dollars are to work in this community until next Wednesday and a record of their progress kept.

The dollars, regular United States ones, will be started from Hunter Drug Co., Boyce Drug Co. and Tom's Place. On one side will be attached a slip of paper reading, "I am a 'Stay-at-Home Dollar', keep me at work. When you spend me, tell what for, but spend me here."

The plan works like this: Spent at Tom's Place on account—Pett Boyd. Then Tom Tunstall would spend it, say, with Bill Boyce for gas. Boyce would take it to the Cash Co. for a necktie. That is the general idea. Each time it passes into the hands of a person or firm, just state what it was paid for and sign.

Watch for the three dollars and keep them moving.

Yesterday in talking over the idea with a Warrenton merchant, Raymond Modlin, he said that once several years ago he was standing with a group of men at Rocky Mount when one gentleman said to another:

"Here's that $5 I owe you." It was accepted with thanks and the comment as he turned to another one of the group, "I owe you something, apply this on account."

Mr. Modlin is authority for the statement that in five minutes that one five dollar bill had paid $25 worth of debts and the man who started it on such a journey had it when its good will and good business mission was temporarily over.

The only trouble about the "Stay-at-Home Dollar" lies in the fact that it meets death when it is sent out of town or when it gets into the hands of any one who will not spend it.

The little journeys in finance will be watched during the next few days.

"Its dollars to doughnuts" that they will have interesting journeys about town. Help 'em along.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO MEET

Meeting for the first time during the new year, the Woman's club will be entertained on Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund White. Officers are urging a large attendance as the general program is to be outlined.

HOW IT OPERATES

How does the Stay-at-Home Dollar operate? What does it do? It works this way: First, let us take the case of the dollar that leaves the community. It is in the possession of one local resident. It buys him a dollars worth of goods, or pays a dollar debt. And that's absolutely all it does. After he has sent it out of the city, it will never return. It never will come back to pay somebody else's debt, or to buy local goods.

The Stay-at-Home Dollar is different. It is patriotic. For instance: A is the possessor of a dollar that is going to stay at home. He pays it to B, also a resident of the same community. B buys butter and eggs from C, and C passes it on to the haberdasher for a necktie. The haberdasher, D, pays it as part of his rent bill, and the landlord, E, gives it to F in payment of another debt.

Already this dollar has been spent six times within the community, whereas the dollar that was sent away was spent only once. The Stay-at-Home Dollar, in those few movements has proven that it is six times the value of the other money. In a few days it might prove to be a hundred times the value of the other dollar.

Now: What good does the Stay-at-Home Dollar do? Plenty. It does good for YOU.

MOTION FAILS TO SECURE SECOND

Skinner Moves That County
Pay Pinnell's Hospital
Bill: Wounded In Action

BOARD HAS QUIET DAY

A motion by Commissioner John L. Skinner that the county of Warren pay the hospital bill of R. L. Pinnell, wounded while attempting to arrest a criminal, failed to receive a second at the regular meeting of the county board here on Monday. A motion that Warren pay half the bill, likewise failed to receive a second.

Deputy Pinnell was wounded by John "Buddy" Macon, negro, at the home of Baldy Mitchell near Afton on May 3 and as a result was forced to spend several weeks in the Henderson hospital. Macon at the same time mortally wounded Sam Pinnell, a brother of Robert Pinnell, and was captured by Hunter Pinnell, another brother, and Walter Mustian.

Commissioner Skinner expressed the thought that as Mr. Pinnell was wounded in line of duty that the county should at least bear one-half of the expense, if not the entire amount. The other members of the board seemingly did not share this view.

Although the members were in session practically the entire day, only matters of routine nature were disposed of.

The board ordered that former Sheriff R. E. Davis be allowed all taxes due said R. E. Davis for the year 1925 and prior to that year except land sales.

It was ordered that a note in the sum of $1500, payable in 90 days, be made by River township in anticipation of collection of taxes.

The board ordered that a note for $600, payable in 90 days, be made by Fishing Creek township in anticipation of collection of taxes. A note in the sum of $500 was also authorized under the same terms for Fork township, and a similar one in the sum of $1100 for Judkins.

The board ordered that the discount feature of the Machinery Act, relative to the payment of taxes, be published in every newspaper of the county for four weeks, beginning September 19.

It was ordered that J. B. Davis be refunded amount of special school taxes paid by him for a number of persons, they not being in the special school district.

L. E. Baird received a county voucher for $20 for the capture of a still, under order of the board. When former Jailer Fate Weaver vacated the county bastille he left his bath tub. The tub having become a fixture of the jail, the board ordered that Mr. Weaver be paid $22 for the same.

Rev. James M. Daniel Dies At Rockingham

The Rev. James M. Daniel, Methodist minister, a brother of John and Roy Daniel of Warrenton, was found dead in bed at his home at Rockingham yesterday morning. He was 54 years old. He will be buried this afternoon at Fairview cemetery. Funeral services will be held upon arrival of body which reaches Norlina at 4:30 p. m.

The Rev. Mr. Daniel, who led an active life, was at Warrenton about two weeks ago. He was apparently in fine health and commented upon how well he felt. WARREN SCHOOLS BEGIN FALL TERM

Nearly 500 Pupils Are Enrolled Here; An Extra Teacher Employed

MEET HERE TOMORROW

With enrollment approaching the 500 mark in the John Graham high school here, school authorities were this week faced with the necessity of employing another teacher to assist in relief work in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. This position has been accepted by Miss Mattie Davis, graduate of the school.

Yesterday J. Edward Allen, superintendent of education, said that the schools here and over the county had commenced auspiciously, although numbers of the teachers were burdened with more work than formerly on account of the requirements of the recent State-wide school law. Busses, he said, were being operated to capacity, and in some instances congestion had to be relieved.

From Mrs. Joseph S. Jones, county nurse, came the news that more than 2500 school children of the county had been vaccinated. The treatment will be given others in accordance with the law which makes vaccination against smallpox compulsory for all school children.

It was pointed out by a physician yesterday that the work which Mrs. Jones had done saved many dollars to parents of the children. The medical fee for vaccination is $1. This physician said that he thought more than 96 per cent of those school children treated had been cared for by the county nurse. The serum is furnished the county free, it is said.

Parents have been coming into Warrenton from all sections for books, and everything seems to be shipshape for carrying out the plans of the board and committees.

The school conference here Saturday, attended by the truck drivers and committeemen, was exceedingly beneficial, it was said. Tomorrow the first general teachers meeting will be held at 11 o'clock in the Court House, and every teacher in the county school system is required to attend.

Represent State At International School

To secure leadership training, two advanced 4-H club members from Catawba County, Miss Vinnie Lee McCombs of Conover and Philip Lutz of Newton have been selected by agricultural extension workers at State College to represent the club members of North Carolina at the International 4-H Training School to be held at Springfield, Massachusetts, September 8 to 12.

Miss McCombs is 22 years old and has been a club member for 13 years. During the period of club work from 1925 to 1928, she earned a total of $4,288 on her club projects. From a poultry flock alone she earned $3,243.06. Other earnings were from calf, corn, pig, marketing and clothing projects. Some money was also made from exhibits at fairs. She was one of the girls to be awarded a trip to the annual 4-H short course at State College this Summer by the Southern Planter of Richmond.

Philip Lutz has been no less successful. At the age of 21, he has been a club member for 13 years also. During this time, he has earned a net profit of $3,819.51 including returns from corn, cotton, pig, calf and poultry projects. He has served his local club in all official positions and is now conducting a successful dairy farm as a partner with his father and older brother. The herd consists of about 50 milking animals and the farm is doing the largest retail dairy business in the county. Last year, Philip produced 113.1 bushels of corn on one acre of land.

The two young folks have been closely associated with Miss Anna Rowe, home agent, and J. Wade Hendricks, farm agent, of Catawba County. Both plan to do further work as local leaders in 4-H club activities.

"STAY-AT-HOME" DOLLAR

See if you can get your hands on those three "Stay-at-Home" dollars this week. Use them for a good purpose—that is to say: spend it with some of our local firms. Let us keep them moving.
