

MUST NOT PASS SCHOOL BUSES

Superintendent Allen Asks Cooperation For Safety Of School Children

TO OBEY CAPT. FARMER

All drivers of school buses in this county have been instructed by Capt. Charles D. Farmer, of the State Highway Patrol, to report to the proper officers each and every case in which any driver of a car, truck or other vehicle has stopped to receive or unload passengers; and the drivers are going to obey Capt. Farmer's instruction, J. Ed. Ward, superintendent of Warren schools, said in an open letter to this newspaper asking the cooperation of the public in observing regulations for the safety of the school children. His letter in full follows:

"The attention of the public is respectfully and courteously directed to that section of the law which makes it a misdemeanor to pass a school bus while it is receiving or discharging passengers. All drivers of school buses in this county have been instructed by Captain Charles D. Farmer, of the State Highway Patrol, to report to the proper officers each and every case in which any driver of a car, truck or other vehicle has stopped to receive or unload passengers; and the drivers are going to obey Capt. Farmer's instruction."

"I make an urgent appeal to everybody who drives, to cooperate with us in the enforcement of this law. I heard a learned judge say not long ago that some of the most interesting cases he had ever presided over concerned violations of such a law. To pass a school bus from which children are descending, on which they are entering, is highly dangerous; hence the law. We hope it will not be necessary to invoke this law, but human life is not cheap enough to be placed unnecessarily in jeopardy. I propose to protect every child in this county just as if it were my own. If prosecutions should be necessary to do this we shall be very sorry, but they will have to come."

"On the other hand, drivers of school buses have no right to violate the law any more than any other driver. They must not 'hog' the road, nor drive without mufflers, nor at speed greater than 25 miles an hour. They must never make trips with unsafe equipment. Any driver finding such violations will make a distinct favor upon each child who has a child who rides school bus, if he will report all such violations or dangerous practices."

"In other words, the driving public is expected to stop violations of the law by drivers of school buses; and children on school buses, drivers, particularly, are required to take numbers and other information by school buses loading or unloading, or otherwise unnecessarily endangering the lives of school children."

"The sympathetic assistance and cooperation of the public in the interest of the safety of our children is earnestly invited."

Erroneous Opinion About Fox Hunting Without A License

"There seems to be an erroneous opinion among some persons that unless they have dogs in the fox hunt they are not required to purchase a license. Any person who goes fox hunting in the sense that he accompanies other hunters, some of whom have dogs in the race, are fox hunters and must have a license," C. H. England, State Game Warden this week wrote County Warden E. H. Pinnell in reply to his request for additional information on this phase of the game law.

Several citizens of Warren have been recently indicted on charges of hunting of fox without license. Protest against this action by interested friends led Mr. Pinnell to write the State Warden asking for further interpretation of the law. Mr. England reply in full follows:

"I am in receipt of your letter, asking for further interpretation of the North Carolina Game Law dealing with fox hunting.

"I am also in receipt of letters from gentlemen particularly in the section of Littleton advising that arrests have been made or persons who were really not fox hunting, because they had not purchased a hunting license.

"I beg to advise you that the North Carolina Game Law classifies the fox as a game animal and requires that a license must be secured to hunt in open season all game animals.

"Therefore, a fox hunter must have a hunting license to hunt foxes. This provision of the law has been tested in Superior Courts twice and Judges trying cases held that all persons hunting foxes must first obtain a hunting license. I beg to further advise you that there seems to be an erroneous opinion among some persons that unless they have dogs in the fox hunt they are not fox hunters and not required to purchase a license. As stated, this is an erroneous interpretation of the law. Any person who goes fox hunting in the sense that he accompanies other hunters, some of whom have dogs in the race, are fox hunters and must have a license.

"For instance, very often two men will hunt quail over the same bird dog, although only one of the hunters owns the dog. Certainly no one would contend that the second person was not hunting quail simply because he did not have his own bird dog with him when he was killing quail over the other man's dog.

"On the other hand, it is not the policy of the Department to require people living in a community who happen to hear a fox race in their section to have license if they step out on their porches or in their yards, or elsewhere, to head the race; neither does the law require people who congregate along road sides to listen for a while at dogs running a fox to have license.

"It seems to me that it is an easy matter not only for the wardens, and the courts, but the people generally to understand the difference between a fox hunter and some person who is attracted by the cry of a pack of hounds and stops to listen to them for a while.

"As you know, whenever I can I come to Warrenton to hunt with my good friends, Macon Thorne, Dr. Macon, Dr. Rodgers and others. I bring no dogs. However, when I go there for the purpose of participating in a fox hunt I am hunting foxes just as much as the above named gentlemen or any other person who starts with the crowd to hunt and, of course, am subject to the license.

"I am sure you know who the fox hunters are in your county and that you are perfectly capable of determining who in any crowd are the hunters and who are simply listening to the race for a little while because their attention has been called to it by the cry of the hounds.

"As you know, it is the policy of the Department to enforce the law without fear or favor, and to require all persons hunting to obtain a license to do so.

"I am confident the good people of Warren County will not quibble over technicalities nor attempt to evade the provisions of the North Carolina Game Law enacted primarily for the best interests of the sportsmen and hunters of the State to the end that game life may be made more abundant, and thereby afford greater sporting facilities.

"If you will continue to exercise the judgment you have already shown in making arrests for violations of the provisions of the game law I have no doubt that the courts will continue to sustain you, as I understand they have done in the past."

Powell To Face Recorder Monday On Liquor Charge

Vernon Powell, well known white man of near Warrenton, will face Judge Rodwell in Recorder's court on Monday on a charge of manufacturing whiskey.

Powell was captured by Deputies J. C. Davis, E. D. Davis, W. E. King and F. T. Overby in a raid near Warrenton on Monday. He was tried the same day before Magistrate W. C. Fagg who found probable cause and bound him over to county court under $100 bond which was given.

Evidence in the case was that Powell was seen at the still by the officers. He ran upon their approach but was overhauled and brought to Warrenton. The pair of overalls which he was wearing had mash stains on the side and his shoes were muddy, it was brought out at the trial.

Several other men at the still at the time escaped. The officers destroyed ten gallons of whiskey, 350 gallons of beer, and brought the 100-gallon capacity copper still to town with their prisoner.

Citizens Listen-In On World Series Games

Citizens of the town have turned their minds to baseball this week and hovered around radios with attentive ears to gather any word that Graham McNamee uses in telling of the contest between the Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Cardinals as these teams battle for the world series of 1930.

Most of the fans here are for the Athletics, but there is enough difference of opinion for a few wagers and always the pool for the inning scoring.

With the first game of the series ending in a 5-2 victory for the Athletics, and winning again yesterday afternoon with a score of 6-1, it looks like Connie Mack's boys have this series sewed up, however, proponents of the Cardinals are claiming that the series is not over, and many things can happen.

Inaugurating its first game of football in the history of the school, the John Graham high school eleven will meet a team from Whitakers at the local ball park in South Warrenton this afternoon at 3:30.

Working with good material the coaches have whipped into shape an eleven that should prove a battle royal with the visitors and furnish many thrills for those who attend the game.

Extension Workers Agree On Best Type Tobacco Fertilizer

RALEIGH, Oct. 1.—The kind and amount of fertilizer to recommend for tobacco by agronomists of the experiment stations of Virginia, North and South Carolina and Georgia was the subject of a conference held by these men at the Tobacco Branch Station farm near Oxford in August.

After discussing research results secured in the various states, the agronomists prepared a mimeograph sheet giving the recommendations which they have agreed upon for the coming year. Copies of these recommendations are available from C. B. Williams, head of the Department of Agronomy at State College. In brief, the experts say bright flue-cured tobacco grown on the heavy or more productive soils should have a mixture analyzing 8 per cent available phosphoric acid, 3 per cent ammonia and 5 per cent potash, except for gray soils with red subsoils. These latter should have an 8-3-3 fertilizer. The light and less productive soils should have an 8-4-6. Use from 800 to 1,200 pounds an acre in the drill, thoroughly mixed with the soil, and applied at least ten days before planting. Part of the application may be saved and applied 20 days after transplanting.

It is important to control sand-drown, recommend the experts and they advise at least 2 per cent of magnesia in the fertilizer. This may be given by such carriers as sulphate of potash-magnesia or by the use of dolomitic limestone.

In preparing the fertilizer the phosphate should be derived from superphosphate, and the potash from high grade muriate and sulphate or some other available potash carrying material free from chlorine. Too much chlorine injures growth and the quality of the cured leaf. One-half of the ammonia must come from high grade organic materials and the other half from inorganic with at least one-fourth of the total ammonia content supplied by nitrate of soda, advise the agronomists.

Beer And Wine May Be Made In Home, For Use of Family

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The citizen who manufactures wine or beer in his home for home consumption, with no sales involved, was held today by Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock, to be beyond the reach of Federal enforcement agencies.

As a matter of law, Woodcock explained today in his first pronouncement on this point, the home manufacturer is liable to punishment if the liquor he produces is "intoxicating in fact." This, he said, is a point for the jury to decide.

Practically speaking, however, he continued, evidence to bring the home manufacturer to trial cannot be obtained unless criminal features are involved upon which a search warrant can be issued.
