ONE CASE IN COURT There was only one case in Recorder's court on Monday. James Moss, negro, faced Judge Rodwell on an assault charge. Judgment was suspended upon payment of cost.

LUCKY BREAKS

HIS GAME MADE A NAME Too absorbed in cards to take time out for eating, the Earl of Sandwich invented a form of light refreshment that enabled him to eat without leaving the gaming table. --- It was named for him--the Sandwich.

Warrenton Fails To Score Against South Hill Eleven

For two quarters the football players of the John Graham high school team battled the squad from South Hill on even terms at the local park on last Friday afternoon but were unable to overcome the 7-point lead made by the visitors in the first period of play...

The local team has not won a game since its organization this fall, but their playing is growing better with each play, one who has watched all the game said yesterday.

Warrenton will play Windsor at Windsor this afternoon.

Fleming Wins Four Prizes At State Fair

Not content with winning prizes at the recent Golden Belt Fair at Henderson, John H. Fleming of Norlina, exhibited specimens of his Barred Plymouth Rocks at the State Fair at Raleigh last week, with the result that he brought home additional prizes to be added to those garnered at Henderson.

The Norlina man had four entries at the State Fair. He won first prize for Light Pen, second prize for Dark Pen, third for Dark Pullet, and Fourth for Dark Cock-erel.

The conference will mark the closing of the year's work, the Rev. Mr. Wright said and expressed the hope that the attendance would be large.

There will be no preaching at Bethlehem church, Arcola, Sunday on account of the Conference, Mr. Wright said. Services had been announced for this church at 3 o'clock.

PROGRESS ON WATER FILTER

Concrete Forms Completed Late Yesterday; Must Set For Two Weeks TO FINISH NEXT MONTH

Steady progress is being made on the construction of an aeration and filtration plant at the pump in north Warrenton, it was learned yesterday from H. R. Skillman, superintendent of the Warrenton Water Company.

Forms for the heavy machinery to be used in purifying Warrenton Water were completed last night. It will be necessary for these forms to "set" for two weeks before the machinery can be installed.

Work is being pushed as rapidly as possible, Mr. Skillman said, and next month Warrenton water users should be able to tap on the new supply. The construction work is being checked by W. H. Boyd of Henderson, engineer employed by the town.

Famous Aviator Chooses A Bride

HASBROUCK HEIGHTS, N. J., Oct. 22.—Before Bernt Balchen, comrade of Admiral Byrd in the Polar wastes, left his native Norway four years ago, he became engaged to Miss Emmy Soerlie of Oslo, his childhood sweetheart.

Today it became known that last Saturday he and Miss Soerlie were married, the love of both having remained steadfast through the years that made him famous.

The wedding was in a church in Coytesville, N. J., and the only attendants were Peter J. Siccardi, chief of Berger county traffic police, and Mrs. Siccardi. The bride then went to Balchen's apartment, near Fokker Field here, where the filer is employed, and it was hoped that they could keep their secret until Balchen finished some experimental work he was engaged in and they were away on their honeymoon.

But the secret leaked out today. Balchen shyly acknowledged that he was married and then dashed away and whisked his wife off on a wedding trip to save her from the publicity that has always been such an irksome matter to him.

Balchen, a flier in the Norwegian navy in his early twenties, first attracted general attention when he flew over the Arctic wastes five years ago in search of the late Ronald Amundsen, then missing. Amundsen was found and the following year took Balchen along to Spitzbergen on the expedition to fly over the North Pole in the dirigible Norge.

There Balchen met Byrd, who was himself preparing for an airplane flight over the Pole. Balchen was of some assistance to Byrd and the two became close friends, Byrd after his flight to the Pole bringing Balchen back to the United States. Later the young Norwegian, who is only 30 years old now, flew across the Atlantic with Byrd and then went to the South Pole with him.

After returning from Antarctica, Balchen went to work as test pilot for the Fokker Aircraft Corporation and Miss Soerlie came to America to keep the promise she had made in their homeland.

Joseph Stallings, 56, Dies On Tuesday

Joseph Stallings, 56, of Embro, died at the home of his brother, John Stallings of Warrenton on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock after an illness of several weeks. Hardening of the arteries was the cause of death.

Funeral services were conducted from the Warrenton Baptist church at 2 o'clock by the Rev. R. E. Brickhouse, pastor. Interment was in the Arcola cemetery.

Mr. Stallings is survived by a son, Ollie Stallings of Embro, by a daughter, Miss Eleanor Stallings of Warrenton, and by one brother, John Stallings of Warrenton.

OFFICERS CAPTURE STILL

A 50-gallon copper still and about 300 gallons of beer were captured in the Embro section near Walker's Creek on Friday by J. C. and E. D. Davis. The still was not in operation at the time nor were any men present when the officers made their appearance.

J. W. Bailey To Speak At Court House October 30

Josiah William Bailey, Democratic nominee for the United States Senate, will speak at the court house at Warrenton on next Thursday, October 30, at 12 o'clock, according to announcement made this week from State headquarters at Raleigh.

Mr. Bailey received a majority of more than 500 over Senator F. M. Simmons in the June Primary in Warren county, and it is expected that many citizens will be present to hear him speak.

Fair Demonstrates Value of The Live At Home Program

Again the North Carolina State Fair at Raleigh last week was largely a display of farm products. The fair presented a cross section of livestock entries showing that the farmers of the State can grow and harvest a variety of products second to no other similar section of the world.

The fair was largely a live-at-home demonstration throughout. Wake county won first prize of $400 in the county displays with an exhibit showing a variety of field, garden, and pantry products seldom surpassed at any fair.

Clifford Moore of Wilkes county won first place and $250 for his live-at-home exhibit in the individual displays; J. W. Sharpe of Guilford won second premium of $200 in this class and S. W. Dixon of Alamance won third place and $150. Other prize winners were G. V. Mann of Durham, fourth; Harvey Mann of Alamance, fifth; S. G. Doub of Forsyth, sixth; R. L. Eaker of Gaston, seventh and Carter Tisdale of Craven, eighth.

In the community displays, the Grantham community of Wayne won first place and $250. Second premium of $200 was awarded to the Colfax community of Guilford; third place and $150 to Fuquay Springs of Wake; fourth place and $100 to Neuse Road community of Craven; fifth place and $75 to the Tryon community of Gaston and sixth and $60 to the Vance community of Wake county.

The judges headed by Prof. C. L. Newman of the Progressive Farmer staff said the exhibits were the best he had seen in 22 years of judging.

Farmers May Buy Dairy Cows Cheap

Farmers, especially those located in eastern North Carolina, now have the best opportunity they have had in years to buy young dairy animals at reduced prices.

"In the drought sections of Virginia and Tennessee, hundreds of good dairy animals may be bought at beef prices," says A. C. Kimrey, dairy extension specialist at State College. "These are mostly grade animals but are of high quality. They can be shipped into eastern North Carolina on farms where there is sufficient feed to carry them through the Winter and may be grown into excellent cows."

When the heifers are two years old, they may be sold as cows or kept for dairy purposes on the farms where they have been matured, says Mr. Kimrey. At such an age, the cows are ready to pay a good market price for all the feed they can consume and convert into milk and cream. Every farm may ship some cream to one of the many creameries now operating all over the State. The skim milk may be fed to calves, poultry and hogs.

Mr. Kimrey says it should be kept in mind at all times that dairy cattle can convert their feed into more pounds of human food than any other kind of domestic livestock. Then too, he says, eastern (Continued on page 8)

INTEREST GROWS IN THE ELECTION

Referendums And Amendments To Be Submitted On November 4th CHANGE IN THE BALLOT

With the election a little more than two weeks off, interest in politics in Warren is increasing. While there is not expected to be the same interest as was manifested in the June Primary yet it is expected that the referendum on the consolidation of the roads and the proposed amendments to the Constitution will bring many to the polls.

The Republicans are making a determined effort to capture a seat in the United States Senate. While there is no Republican candidate on the county ticket, Democratic leaders are urging the voters to go to the polls in order to roll up a big majority for the State nominees.

There have been radical changes made in the ballots since the last general election. The new ticket to be used on November 4 contained both the Republican ticket and the Democratic ticket on the same ballot. Where there is no Republican candidates spaces are left blank for the writing in of their names.

The new ballot will offer no difficulty to the straight party man. The Democratic ticket is headed by the emblem of an eagle; the Republican, an elephant. Rings are placed under each of these symbols and to vote the straight ticket all that is necessary is to place a mark within the circle under the party of one's choice.

This year there is also an additional precinct. Warrenton precinct has been divided into east and west Warrenton. The road from Warren Plains to Bridle Creek is the dividing line. Voters living on the east side of this road will cast their ballots at the town hall. Voters on the west side of the road will vote at the court house as formerly.

Three amendments to the Constitution and a referendum on Veterans Loan Bonds will be submitted to the voters. The State Board of Elections has released a text of the proposals for the information of the voters. The board states that there is no purpose to either advocate or criticize them. The text of the present section and the text of the proposed change is given with an explanation that follows in the following paragraphs:

Article IV, Section 6—Increasing the number of Supreme Court Justices from five to seven.

Old Section: Sec. 6. Supreme Court justices. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and four Associate Justices.

New Section: Sec. 6. Supreme Court justices. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and six Associate Justices. Public Laws, 1929, c. 142.

Explanation: This amendment would simply increase the number of Associate Justices of the Supreme Court from four to six. The court would then consist of a Chief Justice and six Associate Justices. At present the Court consists of a Chief Justice and four Associate Justices. This section has been in effect since 1899. From 1875 to 1899, the court consisted of a Chief Justice and two Associate Justices.

Article IV, Section 23—Providing for Solicitorial Districts.

Old Section: Sec. 23. Solicitors for each judicial district. A solicitor shall be elected for each judicial district, by the qualified voters thereof, as is prescribed for members of the General Assembly, who shall hold office for the term of four years, and prosecute on behalf of the State in all criminal actions in the Superior Courts, and advise the officers of justice in his district.

New Section: Sec. 23. The State shall be divided into twenty solicitorial districts, for each of which a solicitor shall be chosen by the qualified voters thereof, as is prescribed for members of the General Assembly, who shall hold office for (Continued on page 8)

ATTEND WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Gregory and daughters, Misses Kiti yand Emily, attended the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Pettigrew at Richmond last Saturday. Miss Emily Gregory was ringbearer in the ceremony and Miss Kitty Gregory served punch at a reception given immediately following the marriage. Miss Pettigrew, who has visited a number of times in the Gregory home, is pleasantly remembered here.

ACCURATE, TERSE TIMELY

VOLUME XXX

WHY VOTE FOR J. W. BAILEY

Points Out That Democratic Nominee Is Native of Warren County

OTHER REASONS

Want to join with you in getting Mr. Bailey the largest Democratic vote ever given in the county. Mr. Wilson, former Warren citizen, living at Washington, D. C., is one of the editors of the Record in a letter accompanying an article giving additional reasons why the electorate should support the nominee. Mr. Wilson's letter follows:

On November 4th, next, the citizens of Warren county will have the opportunity of voting for a United States Senator. It is hoped that without regard to race, or previous political affiliation, they will prepare themselves and exercise this right to elect the Democratic candidate to the electorate. Mr. Wilson's letter brought up in the county the governing interest in the county.

William Bailey was born in the Baptist parsonage on Main Street, the then home of his father, Reverend C. T. Bailey, of really great memory. It had been the home of Colonel Jack Hawkins; of Captain Dugger, the principal of the Warrenton Academy; of Colonel William Jenkins, brilliant lawyer and Attorney General of the State; and Mr. Bailey will be elected Senator from Warren county.

The first Senator was Benjamin M. F. Wilson, a friend and staff officer of George Washington. The second was Nathaniel M. J. Boyd of Bucks Spring, the inmate of the State Prison. The fourth was Thomas Bragg, a lawyer. Governor, Attorney General and Jeff Davis' Cabinet. The fifth was Matt Ransom, a distinguished soldier, POW, Senator, princely farmer. The sixth will be Josiah William Bailey, of well-known name in the county. Without more than the advantages of education and a fellow in the schools and office of his day (a day of few years ago) he has by preference become a lawyer by profession, distinguished in both, by dint of unusual ability and unflinching work. He has represented thousands of democratic voters presented to us a loving and devoted model husband and devoted
