Congressman Aids In Effort To Have County Included In Drought Area

SETS FORTH ACTIVITIES

Congressman John H. Kerr is due a share in the credit of having Warren County included in the drought area to receive Federal aid, it was leaped yesterday in a letter to this newspaper from Howard F. Jones Sr., secretary to Congressman Kerr.

In the news story carried in this paper in its issue of January 30, the work of a number of citizens was set forth. No mention of Congressman Kerr was made. It is believed that this omission was made because the local committee did not know of the work of Judge Kerr through his Washington connections. What this work consisted of is set forth in the following letter from Mr. Jones:

"With no desire to take credit from any citizen of Warren County who participated in the effort to get Warren county included in the drought area, I feel that in justice to Congressman Kerr that he should, at least, share in the honor."

"On January 14th Colonel Claude McGhee of Franklinton expressed his appreciation of courtesies shown by Congressman Kerr in accompanying a delegation of Franklin county included (with Warren and Vance) in the drought area."

"On January 10 in a reply to Mr. James H. Brodie of Henderson as to Vance being included he wrote of the condition in Warren and its inclusion in the drought area."

"On January 19th following up his personal interview with Dr. Warburton (in charge of drought relief) he spoke of the condition in Warren in part as follows: 'I have just returned from my home County (Warren), and I find that the condition there is such that we will need help from both the seed and food fund, and such additional funds as the Red Cross may bestow. This condition also applies to adjoining counties of Vance and Franklin on the West, and Northampton on the East. Warren County adjoins the Virginia line, and Virginia suffered terribly in the drought. In formulating the plans for aid to our farmers I hope that the Counties I mention will have your sympathetic consideration—for conditions are bad. No money, little feed and no way to make a crop.'

By insistence and showing that certain sections of Halifax and Northampton were truly sufferers from drought conditions in certain areas, Congressman Kerr received assurance that the Western parts of Halifax and Northampton would be included.

"As I said, this communication is not called forth in criticism of any of the valuable assistance given in this humanitarian work by citizens of the affected Counties, but simply because in the issue of The Record of January 30th you state that its inclusion was brought about by the action of the local Committee of the County. We are firmly of the opinion, knowing the instance of Congressman Kerr that this be done, that Honor to whom honor is due' should at least, be shared by him.

stock, fuel and oil for the tractor, and dusting and spraying material for the protection of the crop after it has been made. Loans for seed, he said, will be based on the approximate cost of seed required per acre, but in no case will exceed $2 an acre for corn, wheat, oats and tobacco, and $5 on other crops except truck crops for which the maximum will be $25 an acre. Loans for fertilizer will be at about $5 an acre except for tobacco and truck crops when it will be $10.

Can't Barter for Gasoline

It was pointed out to Dr. Warburton that good tobacco fertilizer could hardly be secured for $10 an acre, and he stated that some leeway would have to be allowed for that crop. He declared that the money would not have to be spent positively as designated in the regulation, but had to be spent for the purposes specified. In other words a person might save some out of his seed or feed bill and use it on his fertilizer bill. He made it clear, however, that no one could buy fertilizer with government money and swap the fertilizer for gasoline for the automobile. The penalty for misuse of the money is a fine of $1,000, or six months imprisonment or both. Then, too, a report must be made as to how each installment of the money advanced is spent. If spend improperly, no more funds will be advanced.

April 30 Final Limit

Applications for the loans must be mailed in time to be received by the designated representative of the Department of Agriculture at the Farmers' Seed Loan Office, Washington, D. C., not later than April 30. The director declared that North Carolina was in much better condi-

Find That Most Soils Are In Need of Lime

For fifteen years Cornell Experiment Station at Ithaca, N. Y., has been conducting an experiment designed to divulge mors about what goes on in the soil. One of the main objects of the experiment is to determine how much lime (calcium and magnesium) is lost in the drainage water. The experiment is being carried on with a battery of 12 lysimeters filled with a silty clay loam soil. (A lysimeter is a sunken cylindrical tank open at the top and with a funnel-shaped bottom, designed so that all the drainage water which seeps down through the soil is caught in a receptacle.) Different crop rotations are employed and a few of the lysimeters have been left bare, without any crop.

It has been found by analyzing the drainage water that of all plant food elements lost by leaching, lime suffers the greatest loss. These experiments also show that unplanted soils lose more lime through leaching than when cropped. During the fifteen years of the experiment, the average annual loss of calcium acre was as follows:

Planted soil 224.5 pounds.

Bare soil 368.8 pounds.

At this rate of loss it is not difficult to understand why over 70 per cent of the tilled land in the United State is acid and requires stores. We extend our sympathy.

an application of a liming material at regular intervals to replace the lime elements which are carried away by drainage water and crops. On cropped land it would require about 600 pounds of finely ground limestone, 450 pounds of hydrated lime or 350 pounds of burned lime to restore this loss each year.

Fortunately, the liming material need not be applied annually. If application is made every three to five years in amount large enough to replace the loss through cropping and leaching, the acidity of the soil will be controlled so that best results are obtained.

New Books

"The Collapse of the Austro-Hungarian Empire," written by Colonel Von Glaise-Horstenaus, Director of the War Archives in Vienna and spectator of the great catastrophe of the Empire that had once extended from Spain to Transylvania and from the Carpathians to the plains of Lombardy, but which on November 2, 1918, disappeared from the map of Europe as easily and as noiselessly as a chalk mark is brushed off a blackboard,—will be of special interest to readers because it is written, without bitterness from a new angle—the Austro-Hungarian point of view. The book was given to the library by Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Holt, in memory of Mrs. Ella Brodie Jones Taylor, and will be placed with the other books on the W. Brodie Jones Memorial Shelf.

Circulation

The records show that 1,566 books were taken from the library for home reading during the month of January. The average daily circulation for the first week of February was 65. The library presents a very interesting appearance in the afternoon when children from the grammar grades are looking up data on some assignment in the field of art, history or literature. Noting their interest and the scope of their knowledge of subjects unknown to children of their ages under the old regime, one can but hope that the slons at the capital will find ways of cutting expenses other than withdrawing appropriations hitherto used to put books in easy reach of the school children of the State.

Warren County Day

February 12th, commonly celebrated in the schools as Lincoln's birthday, should have another—a local—significance to us. Let us not forget that it marks the 152nd anniversary of the creation of the county. It is the purpose of the county historian to call a meeting of the Historical Society some time in the near future in commemoration of the anniversary and to discuss plans with reference to certain markers for which some funds have been raised. Friday evening, February 27, has been suggested as a proper time for the meeting and unless it will conflict with something previously planned, the meeting will probably be held at the library at that time.

W. H. and R. S. Francisco of Craven County have placed 35 head of beef steers on feed to begin a new demonstration in livestock farming in eastern Carolina. The steers averaged 699 pounds each.

More than 200 business men of Alamance County attended a banquet tendered them at Graham by farmers of the county to discuss a farm program for 1931.
