All schools are to close for the Christmas holidays on December 21st and all schools are to open for the Spring term on January 3rd, 1933.

S. J. Satterwhite requested the Board of Education to require the Drewry District committee to stop the Mount Auburn truck which now takes a few of the Virginia people to the Drewry school inside the state line, so that costs of transportation may be reduced and the number of teachers in the Drewry school may be reduced, all in the interest of economy. Superintendent Allen said yesterday that Warren county had a reciprocal agreement with Virginia in handling these pupils.

On petition of J. B. Gupion and others it was voted to allow elementary children in lower Fishing Creek below Arcola to attend school at Hollister or at Warrenton at their parents' prefer, provided the State Board of Equalization agrees to this arrangement.

The County Budget for the six months budget was considered. On motion it was voted to include the items of agricultural teachers in the budget. Those voting for the motion were Messrs. Blalock, Pinnell, Riggan, Powell, against W. T. Carter. Certain alternative items of capital outlay were held in abeyance pending disposition of the agricultural item, it appearing that if the former were included and funds provided for it by the Board of Commissioners, the latter would not be necessary in its entirety. Items of debt service amounting to approximately $2,150, were included without question since these are said to be mandatory on all parties concerned.

Hollister Man Is Drowned Following All-Night Party

Herbert Sledge, white man of near Hollister, was drowned in little Fishing Creek between Hollister and Brinkleyville in Halifax county at about 6 o'clock on Sunday morning.

According to reports reaching Warrenton from Hollister, Mr. Sledge had been on an all-night party with a number of other citizens and had halted at the bridge spanning the creek. Testimony differed as to whether he was thrown in, fell in, or went into the creek.

Evidence at the inquest conducted by Coroner W. C. Williams of Halifax county on Monday, was that two men had offered to assist Mr. Sledge from the waters of the creek, but that he had refused their aid. These men led two other members of the party, who were quarreling from the bridge to automobiles parked nearby and upon their return to the bridge, Mr. Sledge had disappeared. His body was later recovered from 14 feet of water by the use of a grappling hook.

PUBLIC HEARING ON BUDGET ITEM

Delegation of Farmers Appear Before Board Of County Commissioners

ABOUT 100 ARE PRESENT

The question of the rejection or retention of a $2600 item for agricultural teachers placed in the school budget by the board of education was the principal problem before the board of county commissioners at their regular meeting at the Warrenton court house on Monday.

A delegation of farmers, representing practically every section of Warren county, appeared before the board on Monday morning asking that these teachers be retained. The commissioners agreed to hold a public hearing on the matter in the court room at 3 o'clock.

Approximately 100 farmers were in the court house at the hearing when Chairman John Clay Powell invited those present to make known their views. J. C. Hardy, editor of the Norlina Headlight, said that he was representing his people and asked that the work be retained. He stated that he opposed this work a year ago before Mr. Lawrence was appointed for the Norlina school, but that after a year of observation of this teacher's work that he had been won over to the cause of the agricultural teachers. He charged that opposition was not on account of taxes, but because co-operative sales of fertilizer had cut into the suppliers' profits. Mr. Hardy called on various farmers to give their views on the value of the work.

Another champion of the teachers was Boyd White, commiteeman from Norlina. Mr. White stated that the work of Mr. Lawrence in treating sick farm animals for him would pay his entire tax bill and would pay his cost for this work for many years. J. V. Shearin of River, W. A. Connell Sr., and W. A. Connell Jr., of Warren Plains, Jerman Walker of Norlina, Ed Turner of Sandy Creek, Fletcher Scbbiti of Macon, Francis Limer of Shocco and other citizens spoke briefly in favor of this work. Practically all the testimony in favor of these teachers was for their work outside the school rooms, their work as teachers being overlooked in the enthusiasm for the other phase of their work.

Speaking against the retention of these teachers were Evans Coleman of Wise, Will Stewart of Sandy Creek, Roy Daniel of Afton-Eberon, Coley Perkinson of Wise, and other citizens. Opponents of the retention measure stated that they had absolutely nothing against these teachers personally but felt that due to economic conditions that expenses must be reduced.

Superintendent J. Edward Allen, at the conclusion of the debate, stated that he had been informed by the state that in the event that these teachers were not retained that it would be necessary to spend around $3,000 for equipment to teach substitute subjects and if this was not done the schools would lose their accredited standing. He later stated, when asked the result of schools losing such standing, that East Carolina Teachers College and Greensboro College for women, training schools for teachers, would not accept graduates from any but accredited high schools. Superintendent Allen said that the cost of these teachers would be several hundred dollars less than the cost of the equipment in the event that they were not retained.

Commissioner John L. Skinner of Littleton told the citizens assembled that the commissioners were neither for or against the retention of these teachers, but were sitting as a jury to determine the wishes of the taxpayers.

Following the hearing in the court room the commissioners met in executive session downstairs to discuss the matter. Decision was reserved until a called meeting of the board in the next few days when that body meets to consider the insolvent list.

With the exception of the deliberations over the question of approving or rejecting the item in the school budget providing for the agricultural teachers, the commissioners had a quiet day. A few reductions were granted in property, due to removal of timber and destruction of buildings, two pauper were ordered admitted to the county home, and the contract awarded for the erection of a small building at the county home.

The board ordered that Margaret Wall Thomas estate, Smith Creek township, consisting of one acre and valued at $250 be reduced to $50; that J. H. Riggan's home place in (Continued on page 8)

DOWTIN, POWELL VICTORS IN RACE

County Swings Large Majorities Into Reynolds and Fountain Columns

THREE CONTESTS CLOSE

Casting approximately 2500 votes, Democratic voters of Warren county on Saturday nominated J. A. Downtin for member of the House of Representatives and Joseph C. Powell for Register of Deeds. The vote on Saturday was about 15 per cent less than the vote cast in the last primary.

Mr. Downtin defeated Judge T. O. Doherty for the House by 43 votes. The vote between Mr. Powell and his opponent, Tom B. Gardner of Warrenton, was one of the closest in the history of the county balloting. Official count reveal that Mr. Powell retained his position as Register of Deeds by a margin of eight votes.

The closest vote recorded was between A. L. Fletcher and Clarence Mitchell for the nomination for Commissioner of Labor. Mr. Mitchell secured two more votes than did Fletcher. Mr. Fletcher, however, won in the State.

Lieutenant Governor Richard T. Bland led the entire ticket in the race for Governor, receiving 1666 votes compared with 753 for his opponent, J. C. B. Ehringhaus. While a more than two-to-one vote, the Ehringhaus won in the state by a majority of approximately 5000 votes.

Reverend B. Reynolds was second high man in the county ticket, polling 1371 votes to Senator Morrison's 1017 for the short term, and 1477 for the long term. Mr. Reynolds won in the state by a majority of near 100,000.

The election passed off quietly and the full returns were late in being reported from all the precincts. The count was finished early on Saturday night, and those interested in the results were able to judge well how the vote was going when retiring for the night. This was quite a contrast to the first primary in which counting the ballots was an all-night affair in many precincts.

The full official vote by precinct appeared on page 8.
