Memorial Volumes

A Princess in Exile—Further Memoirs by Marie, Grand Duchess of Russia, given by the Junior Thursday afternoon Bridge Club in memory of Mrs. Kate White Williams, has been received at the library. Those who read The Education of A Princess will welcome this second volume of the very eventful life of the Russian Princess. The librarian is also indebted to Miss Lucy Edwards, Raleigh, for a copy of "Grandmother Brown's Hundred Years," by Harriet Connor Brown, sent in memory of her life-long friend, Mrs. V. L. Pendleton.

Other Gifts

Readers will be indebted to Mrs. Elizabeth Fisher, Richmond, Va., for the following books: A Daughter of the Dons, William McLeod Raine; Blue Castle, L. M. Montgomery; Prodigal Girl, and Tomorrow About This Time, Grace Livingston Hill; to Mrs. Roy Davis for copies of Wallflower, and Silver Slippers, by Temple Bailey, and Blue Ruin, by Grace Lutz Hill, and to Mrs. J. D. Palmer for "Senator North," by Gertrude Atherton.

New Books

In addition to the books mentioned the following books, purchased by the book committee have just arrived and will be ready for circulation on Saturday morning: Gray Caps, Rose B. Knox, a book for high school boys and girls; Mutiny Bounty, Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall, a romance of the sea; Forgive Us Our Trespasses, Lloyd C. Douglas, a new novel by the author of "Magnificent Obsession"; Ann Vickers, Sinclair Lewis; Human Geography of the South, Rupert C. Vance (U. N. C. Press); Expression in America, Ludwig Lewisohn. This is perhaps the most varied and inclusive order we have made. There is something for youth; something for the idealist; something for the realist; there is adventure; an interesting biography; a study of natural resources and potential wealth of the South and its resulting call for a reconstructed South based on regional planning; and then, there's "Expression in America," called a triumph in history.

To Discuss Proposed Markers

The Warren County Historical Society, several years ago, undertook to raise a fund to mark the graves of three former Governors, or in some other way to honor the memory of Governors James Turner, William Hawkins and William Miller. One of these distinguished sons, William Miller, sleeps in Gaulemala, where he died in his country's service. Another, William Hawkins, has, I think, been properly marked, but the third and most distinguished of the three has no marker and its place, which has been fairly well established, will soon be forgotten unless something is done about it. The U. S. Government will supply that on request if accompanied by certain data, he was a soldier in the Revolution. A little more than $100 was raised before the depression came on. Since then no further steps have

SALMAGUNDI

People drawn by a single unfulfilling motive, warmth, about an hearth. In whose light souls — whose lives are hopelessly separate, whose destinies are laid in regions apart as the poles — are knit by fundamental need. People who come from isolation, now cheered in a true companionship, the lonely past forgotten, the future unspiculated. Conversation that slips seamlessly from the tongue to the depths of the heart, from superficiality to truth. And a group finally lost in contemplation of a common great love, whose radiance upon faces through the ages has rivalled the fire, the torch, the conflagration reaching to the sky. A small world, surrounded by a thin atmosphere of entrancing music, whither other worlds of night and rain are for a while unperceived as space.

Perhaps the physical fever may be answerable for this fever in the heart — for the intense desire somehow to hold what is good, what is beautiful, of this hour. Or perhaps the excitement of society is the artist of this illumination wherein, all malice put aside, all envy and base feeling absent, the kindly touch is that of an angel, and the company sublime.

How charming people are! and how pleasant is the room of this hour! Is it that I am feverish and ill that so little combines to my happiness? Or is it that I have been lonely so long that the circle should be thus grateful that holds me rapt?

Ah, that thus I might endure, strength empowered by sympathy, befriended by numbers — where human voices are a rhapsody, where pain is but the faint exquisite fear of a distant parting; where joy and sorrow ever so lightly clasp hands, understanding each other. Were there only to be no rising from our places, no opening of the door, and closing of the door behind us forever, releasing us from the circle to the unknown night, far from home, into the occult dark where we shall sleep.

The exterior of you, or of myself, is like an unlighted residence across whose windows a presence passes fitfully, in an attitude now contorted, now free.

Brave is the phantom that would gaze from that window for long. The phantom glances tremulously and wistfully forth; and vanishes, only to continue its flitting from room to room of the spirit, from window to window.

been taken to go on with the work. Recently the suggestion was made that we ask the cooperation of the Warren Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. They have signified their readiness to do so through their Regent, Mrs. J. Edward Allen. A meeting to consider the project will be called at an early date to which representatives from the D. A. R. chapter will be invited to attend.

It may not be out of place to mention in this connection that Feb. 12th. will mark the 154th anniversary of the erection (strange word to use in this connection) of Warren County.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Newell Jr. and Miss Evelyn Daniels of South Hill, Va., spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hedspeth.

New Ford To Be Displayed Saturday

The first of the new Ford V-8 cylinder, 112-inch wheelbase motor cars will be displayed here Saturday in the showrooms of Boyd-Boyce Motor Co., Ford dealers, at Warrenton, it was announced yesterday. The showrooms will be opened at 8 a. m.

Because of the unusual public interest in the new Ford cars crowds are expected to attend, according to Bill Boyce of the local organization. Attendants will be on hand to explain the many important features of the new cars, he said.

The new V-8 is the largest and most powerful Ford ever built, Mr. Boyce continued. "It has new and distinctively modern lines, a most attractive front end, longer wheelbase, larger and roomier bodies, faster acceleration, increased power and speed and is exceptionally economical in operation. With its 75-horsepower, V-8 engine, the New Ford is capable of a sustained speed of 80 miles an hour.

"The styling of the 14 body types expresses the new mode in motor car building. The modern note is found in the sloping Vee radiator grill, the skirted fenders, newly-designed headlamps, cowl lamps and bumpers, the curve of the hoodside ventilators, the 20-degree slant of the windshield, the curved roof header, the reverse curve of the rear quarter and the backward sweep of the apron masking the gasoline tank.

"The new all-steel bodies are materially wider, almost a foot longer and consequently much roomier. The attractive instrument panel is directly in front of the driver with a large package compartment at the right side of the instrument board. Front seats in closed cars are fully adjustable. Interior fittings are luxurious. Options in upholstery and a wide choice of body colors are available.

"The improved V-8 engine is fitted with all-aluminum cylinder heads, one of the most noteworthy forward steps in motor design in many years. Because aluminum dissipates heat more rapidly, the use of the aluminum cylinder heads permits higher compression pressure and results in increased speed, power and smoothness, faster acceleration and added fuel economy.

"Smooth engine performance results also from the basis 8-cylinder design and the 3-point rubber mounting. Cylinder blocks are set at a 90-degree angle. The crankshaft is fully counterbalanced and the crank throws are at 90 degrees. Opposing pistons and connecting rods are even in weight. All of these features combine to place all moving parts in natural balance, resulting in exceptional smoothness of operation. The engine is fitted with down-draft carburetor, air-intake silencer and a diaphragm-type fuel pump.

"Features of the 112-inch wheelbase chassis include an extremely rigid double-channel, double drop X-type frame, torque tube drive, a straddle-mounted rear axle pinion, transverse cantilever springs, internal expanding mechanical four wheel brakes, 17-inch welded steel spoke wheels and tires of 5.50 inches section."

ENTERTAIN ALUMNAE

Mesdames H. H. Moseley, C. E. Rodwell, J. E. Adams, W. D. Rodgers and W. M. Gardner alumnae members of Meredith College, entertained the Henderson alumnae and senior girls of John Graham and Henderson High Schools at tea Friday afternoon in the city hall of the high school.

After singing of the Alma Mater and being welcomed by the president, Mrs. W. M. Parker, the radio was turned on the "1933 Founders"

Day program." Dr. Charles E. Brewer, president, spoke in behalf of the college and Miss Ida Poteat, professor of art, and one of the remaining figures who welcomed the first girls to Meredith, greeted "the girls."

Miss Maude Davis Bunn, general alumnae president, of Raleigh announced the receipt of $150 to be used in the art department and to be known as the "Ida Poteat Loan Fund."

Following a musical program, tea, cheese straws and cookies were served by the hostesses.

CAL CROSSAN DIES

Cal Crosson, respected negro of this county, died Friday evening at the age of 69 years. "One of the best old darkies that has lived in Warren county," was the tribute paid him by H. L. Falkner, for whom he and his family have worked for years.

COMES FOR PRISONER

Leon Nowitzky, chief detective of the Norfolk Police Department, came to the Warren County Prison Camp yesterday for James Simmons, negro said to be wanted in connection with a murder. Simmons had served eight months with the county road force.

MARMADUKE ITEMS

Several people in our community attended the shower last Friday evening at Mrs. Ernest Davis', given for Mr. and Mrs. Owen Davis. We are sorry to say Mr. E. C. Robertson is on the sick list at this writing, but we hope he will soon be up again.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. James and son and Miss Bessie Powell tried out the "Hoover" cart Mr. James made by calling on Mr. H. C. Darr and Mr. J. A. Cheek's families last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Joe D. Riggan and children of Mountain View were visitors of her sister, Mrs. W. J. James and Miss Bessie Powell, last Saturday
