163 Cases Heard By Judge
Taylor In Recorder's Court
During The Past Year

WHISKEY CASES LEAD

One hundred and sixty-three cases were tried in Recorder's court before Judge W. W. Taylor during the year 1934, a survey of the files of The Warren Record discloses.

Contrary to popular belief, nearly 90 per cent of those who came into the temple of justice as defendants were found guilty on some charge. Out of 163 cases tried, there were 143 convictions and 20 acquittals, a search through the records shows. The majority of those brought before Judge Taylor were members of the negro race, however they did not outnumber white defendants by any great figure. Negroes were involved in 94 of the cases and whites in 69.

Whiskey proved to be the nemesis for most of those who were ensnared in the meshes of the law. There were 36 whiskey cases, such as possession, transporting, manufacturing, and there were nine cases of operating an automobile while under the influence of whiskey. Negroes were in trouble in most of the whiskey cases, however, it seems, members of this race were more careful about getting behind a steering wheel and going places than were white people. Out of the nine cases of operating an automobile while under the influence of whiskey, white persons were defendants in eight of the actions. Members of the white race also led in the number of cases of reckless driving tried. There were nine such cases, and five of the defendants were white.

There were as many cases of assault as there were whiskey counts, however, the evidence in many of the 45 assault charges showed that whiskey was in evidence. Out of the 45 assault cases, eighteen white persons were involved and 27 colored.

There were eight cases of carrying a concealed weapon. Six of those who faced Judge Taylor on this count were colored and two were white.

Three white persons were tried for larceny while a similar charge was written opposite the names of six negroes.

Other cases tried included charges of speeding, trespass, impersonating an officer, non-support, bastardy, bad check, escaping from prison, interfering with an officer, disorderly conduct, gambling, occupying a room for immoral purposes.

Merchants Told Not To Cash Any Relief Vouchers

Any one found guilty of giving cash money for Money Orders written by the local Emergency Relief Office will be in indicted, according to the following warning which was issued from the relief office this week:

"The local Emergency Relief Office gives warning to all merchants and others that giving cash money for Relief Orders written from this office is violating the laws of the United States Government and anyone found guilty of cashing these orders will be indicted.

"This does not mean, of course, that merchants should refuse these orders but the orders must be used to purchase the specification written on the order. People employed by the Relief Office are paid either in "cash" or "kind," the written white order representing "kind," and anyone converting a "kind" order into cash money is deliberately overturning the Government Officials decisions on definite cases. Also no Relief order should be partially filled and the remainder of the order converted into cash. All of the Relief order must be filled for food, clothing, fuel, hardware or whatever specification it may bear."

Littleton Player In Charity Game

Littleton, Jan. 3.—Francis Ricks, star guard and Captain of the 1934 Littleton High School football team, participated in the East-West Charity football game which was played in Morganton on New Year's Day. The Littleton boy was one of the twenty high school football players in eastern North Carolina, chosen to represent their section. His ability to hold his own with the best of them was shown by the fact that he was selected to start the game, which was played before approximately 3,000 fans.

Local fans are delighted at this recognition which Ricks has received. He has been known in Warren and surrounding counties for a long time, as one of the most aggressive players ever seen in this section. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Telfair Ricks, of Littleton.

Windows Shattered By Force Explosion On Christmas Day

Windows in Dr. W. F. Mustian's office and glass over the door of the Sanitary Barber Shop were shattered by the explosion from a giant firecracker or dynamite set-off in the heart of town on Christmas afternoon about 5:45 o'clock.

Chief M. M. Drake said yesterday that he had a pretty good idea who was responsible for the explosion but that at present he did not have sufficient proof to make an arrest.

There were only two cars in the block when the explosion occurred, it was said, but persons on the street were unable to say where the dynamite of firecracker came from.

Chief Drake expressed the belief that the explosion was from a giant firecracker rather than dynamite. His belief was based on the fact, he said, no dynamite cap was found on the street when an investigation was made immediately after the explosion shook the town.

It was reported here that a similar explosion occurred at Norlina and that no clues could be found which would lead to an arrest.

kept pretty quiet but there is an under-cover movement to have the Legislature change the government of Raleigh from the commission form to a city manager form with a Board of Councilmen, according to the Raleigh City Commissioners have been from one row to another almost since the day of election and even the man on the street can sense sentiment for a change in government. None of the Wake county members of the General Assembly have expressed themselves publicly on the subject but pressure for the change in your Capital City is about as sure as death and taxes.

COST OF TALKING—The order of the State Utilities Commission reducing Southern Bell telephone rates in 58 North Carolina communities has received a delay by order of Superior Court Judge W. C. Harris. The court injunction halts the proposed reductions in rates until the company's appeal is heard in Superior Court which may be in January or several months later. The Utilities Commission, aided by the office of Attorney General Dennis G. Brummitt, is ready to fight for the last ditch for the approximately 12 per cent cut and reliable, although non-quotable, sources are of the opinion that lower phone rates are just around the corner.

FERTILIZER—Governor Ehringhaus and Commissioner of Agriculture William A. Graham are going to bat for lower fertilizer prices in North Carolina. The Governor writes that he is unable to understand the upping of fertilizer prices in 1934 over those of the year previous and wants Mr. Graham to assemble data and attend a conference on the subject to be held in the nation's capital in the near future. Fertilizer and gasoline prices have been worrying the Governor almost as much as the increase in tobacco prices has pleased him.

New Registration Of Citizens
Seeking Work

WANT FILES COMPLETE

In order to keep their registration active it will be necessary for all persons registered with the National Reemployment Service to renew their cards once every three months, according to an announcement by James T. Maddox, Manager of the Raleigh District Office, which embraces Warren, Franklin, Johnston and Wake Counties.

When those registered with the employment service have not notified the office over a period of ninety days, their cards are removed to the inactive files and it is assumed that they no longer desire the help of the Free Government Agency in securing work.

It is not necessary for persons residing in the section of the District outside the Raleigh Area to come to the office to give notice of their renewals. This may be done by postal card or letter. It is important, however, that the applicant in communicating with the office, state his name exactly as it was given at the time of registration and the address as given at that time, along with any change in address.
