That Justice May Ever Have A Champion; That Evil Shall Not Flourish Unchallenged.

Entered at the Postoffice at Warrenton, North Carolina, under Act of Congress of 1879.

If ye fulfill the royal law according to the Scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself, ye do well; but if ye have respect to persons, ye cannot sin and are convicted of the law as transgressors.—James 2:8, 9.

Those who bring sunshine to the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves.—J. M. Barrie.

A HOPEFUL SIGN OF PROGRESS

One of the most hopeful signs of real progress in the state is to be found in the introduction of several bills in the senate looking toward the curbing of crime in North Carolina. Evidently two senators, at least, have realized that increased ease and rapidity of travel have made present methods of handling crime obsolete.

We read with pleasure that Senators Summersill of Onslow and Webb of Lenoir on Tuesday introduced three bills looking forward to improved police protection.

The first of these would allow Sheriffs and their deputies to cross county lines in serving criminal processes.

The second would provide for a state-wide system of police radio stations.

The third would have the Commissioner of Revenue furnish all sheriffs a complete list of motor vehicle owners and their licenses.

The purposes of these bills are too plain to need comment.

We would like to see these, or other gentlemen of the body, go one step further, and establish a central clearing house at Raleigh for criminal records and fingerprints, with a provision that every person arrested should be fingerprinted and the prints sent to this central bureau.

FOR ROADS OR CHILD IS ABSURD

"Roads are important, but we have reached a dangerous degree of disproportion when we disregard the road as twice as important as the child," says the News and Observer anent the proposed increase of $6,000,000 for highway funds as compared with only $2,500,000 for the schools.

It seems to us that statement of the News and Observer does not quite match up to the standard that many of us have looked forward to in the editorials of Raleigh's morning newspaper. It is to us just another high-sounding catch-phrase. Once we divided the world into

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

Black Georges and Gallahads, but we have learned that good and evil are too often mingled to draw such a line of demarcation. Likewise the legislature is utterly unable to deal with the child and the roads as two separate and distinct propositions. The school policy of the state makes any such idea fantastic.

A slow dismal rain is falling as this editorial is being written. Country roads have become slick and dangerous and another day of rain will probably make it impossible for school buses to travel in many sections. Hundreds of pupils will miss one or several days from school. Many before the school year is over.

Next year in making up the teacher lists for the schools of the county, the school heads will note that there are enough pupils enrolled in a given school to justify the employment of, say, ten teachers. But for some reason there has been so many absences during the year that the average daily attendance justifies only eight. As a consequence eight teachers are employed and the teacher load in that school becomes so heavy that it is impossible to do justice to the children and, in addition, repeat students increase and the cost of education naturally rises.

Large city schools know little of this. The path to school there is not blocked by muddy roads. Unless there is marked improvement in our secondard roads there can not be any equality of opportunity for education between the city and the country child.

The roads have become a

MOSTLY PERSONAL

By BIGNALL JONES

When I passed this home a few miles north of Warren Plains one morning this week, the appearance of the house, the grounds, and barns and other outbuildings tempted me to go in and find out just who was the prosperous farmer of Warren who owned such an attractive home. Later in the week I succumbed to the temptation, rang the door bell. A sweet-faced elderly lady answered the summons and informed me that her son owned the place and that he could be found in the pack-house a short distance from the residence.

I found Boyd Stegall busy with other members of the family picking over some scrap, while Tump Carroll, Warrenton warehouseman and farmer, looked on. I politiced a little with the crowd and returned to Warrenton. It is to me a pleasure to visit a farm where such an atmosphere of well-being presides. Boyd Stegall in my opinion owns one of the most attractive country places in the county.

I have done considerable riding around the county visiting the homes of farmers this year since I assumed the agency for a well known brand of fertilizer. I enjoy going around the farmers while they are working, finding them in pack-houses, around barns, fixing up buildings, and lately, before the rains, burning plantbeds. It is interesting noting things that must be perfectly familiar to a majority of our citizens and yet enlightening to me in spite of the fact that I have lived the greater part of my life in a country town. For instance, I have an unholly horror of rats, and made up my mind that should I ever build a barn I was going to try to make it rat proof. Concrete was my idea. However, I noticed at the home of W. E. Turner in Sandy Creek, an idea that was astounding in its simplicity, yet effective and I suppose in general practice on many farms. His corn crib was mounted on stilts with a large sheet of sheet-iron over each of the pillars. This iron effectively bars the progress of rats and Mr. Turner saves a considerable sum each year through thus protecting his corn.

Running a newspaper, selling coal and wood, selling fertilizer, farming, any and all kinds of work however simple it may seem to the uninitiated always offer plenty to learn. Because this is so almost all work is interesting. The only exception I notice is process work in which a similar task is done in a similar manner day after day, offering its killing monotony. I should think that cooking would be interesting; washing dishes terrible.

In Catawba county, poultry growers are getting 98 per cent livability from baby chicks brooder with home-made brick brooder. A check of 14,000 chicks at four weeks of age gave this result.

In Memoriam

JAMES H. DUKE

Or January 18, 1935, our Heavenly Father sent his death Angel down to the earth to claim the soul of James Hal Duke, who was in Maria Parham hospital patiently suffering agony as the result of a truck wreck.

He was the forty-two year old son of Mrs. Betty Overton and the late Murphy Duke. On April 10, 1921, he was married to Mary Ella Blackley of near Henderson. To this happy union three children were born, Genevieve, twelve, Julia Bet seven, and Hal, three years of age. There are also five sisters and a host of friends who mourn the loss of a loved one.

The funeral service for this well known citizen was conducted at Sulphur Springs Baptist church Sunday afternoon by his pastor, Rev. R. E. Jackson, assisted by a former pastor, Rev. C. L. Gillespie of Oxford, and the principal of Afton-Elberon School, Rev. I. B. Jackson. The music was in charge of Mrs. M. H. Felts.

Beneath the stars and stripes of his country, his body was tenderly laid to rest in the church cemetery where a large number of grief stricken relatives and friends gathered to pay their last respect to their "Buddy," for he was truly a big brother to every one. His grave was more than covered with perfectly beautiful flowers. Though perfect now, these flowers will soon perish but the many deed of kindness, cheerful words and smiles that he scattered along his path of life will ever flourish in the minds of those who knew him, for to know him was to love him.

During the World War he served his country over the sea with the 120th Infantry.

In that fair, heavenly land We feel you firmly stand Extending to us your strong hand, Your aim was always to cheer Never, letting others see your tear. So fond memories of you still linger here.

You loved life and wholesome fun Your friends, relatives, home and son And now, may the Lord say "Well Done."

CONSTIPATION Can be Helped!

(Use what Doctors do)

Why do the bowels usually move regularly and thoroughly, long after a physician has given you treatment for constipation?

Because the doctor gives a liquid laxative that can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Ask your doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, and these are natural laxatives that form no habit—even in children. Your druggist has it; ask for—

But we do have LUMBER traceable to the finest FORESTS in the United States. Just received a car load of Long Leaf RIFT PINE FLOORING and FINISH cut from Original growth on the west side of the Mississippi River on the Gulf of Mexico, and the very low prices are as pleasing as the beautiful color and texture of this virgin yellow pine lumber. THE JUNIPER SHINGLES we have are from the extreme east coast and the enormous swamps of eastern North Carolina. Now for the Pacific coast and Washington state Fire Forests. We have beautiful Fir Panel sheets of lumber 4 ft. wide and 8 ft. long. This lumber is unexcelled for beauty and variety of natural wood grain.

What is most surprising about these QUALITY materials is the very low price. Compare the products and the low prices with the ordinary, poorly manufactured and half dried materials and we know what the majority of people will do. They will select the QUALITY items.
