MAKE CHANGES IN BUS ROUTES

State Man Here For Week
Rerouting School Buses;
Allen Goes To Raleigh

PATRONS AID IS ASKED

Mistakes which were made in routing buses to schools are being corrected out as rapidly as possible. Supt. J. Edward Allen stated yesterday and requested that patrons of the schools notify him at once if they know of any routes which are not workable.

Supt. Allen stated that E. W. Wilson, who is with the transportation department of the State School Commission, was here for a week selecting the routes for the various buses to follow in bringing pupils to and from the schools of the county but that some of the routes mapped out had proven impossible and that changes had to be made.

The superintendent said that he would be in Raleigh Saturday to work out practical routes with the school commission and asked that patrons of the schools know of changes which are necessary to make him before he goes to Raleigh.

From school buses and routes, Supt. Allen switched to the subject of the newly adopted statewide system of renting school books to children. He said that already about 14,000 text books had been distributed in Warren county and that there is a need for 500 more. The additional 500 will be distributed as soon as they are secured from the printing houses, he said. The books are rented for 1-3 their

Debt Committee Continues Work

Work of the volunteer debt adjustment committee in Warren county is being continued and extended under the supervision of the Resettlement Administration. S. S. Bugg of Warrenton is chairman and Jesse Gardner of Churchton is secretary of the local committee.

The debt adjustment program, inaugurated in 1935 by the Farm Credit Administration, has been transferred by President Roosevelt to the Resettlement Administration. An allocation of two million dollars from the Works Relief Fund has been made to carry on the program throughout the nation.

Members of the volunteer committee have received no compensation. Many of them have paid their own expenses when, as was often the case, their duty called for travel. The allocation made for this work is to be used to defray expenses of the volunteer committees and for supervisory services.

The county committees were appointed for the purpose of trying to avert court liquidation by preventing bankruptcy or foreclosures. It is their duty to attempt to bring (Continued on page 8)

Farmers Urged To Attend Meeting

All Warren county farmers are urged by George R. Frazier to attend the cotton meeting which is to be held in the court house at Warrenton on Tuesday, Oct. 1, at 11 a. m.

The purpose of the meeting, among other things, is to enlighten farmers as to the provisions of the Government 10-cent Loan Plan, explain who is eligible to secure the loans and who can get the Subsidy Payments, and tell how farmers can get 13 or 14 cents a pound for their cotton. Mr. Frazier stated that these and other important questions will be answered by an authority from Raleigh for the benefit of Warren county farmers, Mr. Frazier said.

Patrolman Hurt When Tire Blows Out On Motorcycle

Paul Welch, State Highway Patrolman stationed at Warrenton, is recovering in Watts Hospital at Durham from injuries he received near Vaughan on Sunday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock when his motorcycle left the highway and crashed into a stump.

Immediately after the accident, the patrolman was picked up by E. E. Gillam and brought to Warrenton where he was given first aid treatment by Dr. W. D. Rodgers. He was then rushed to the hospital by Mr. Gillam, Chief of Police Lee Wilson and Lawrence Rose.

Patrolman Welch was bruised and badly hurt about the face, but he did not receive any broken bones, according to a report reaching here this week from another member of the force who had visited him in the hospital. It was reported here following the accident that he had received a broken nose and jaw.

The accident was caused, an eyewitness is reported to have stated, by a tire on the motorcycle going down just after the patrolman rounded the curve at Vaughan. He was headed towards Littleton to investigate a wreck which occurred near that town, it was stated.

Mr. Welch is one of the new members of the enlarged State Highway Patrol. His home is at Greensboro and he was stationed at Warrenton about a month ago. During his absence from duty, no new man has been assigned here.

The motorcycle, bent and with a tire blown, was brought here Sunday afternoon on a wrecker, and was later carried to the State repair shop at Henderson.

Company B Men Return From Camp Perry Matches

With a score that ranked well up the line for National Guard organizations, members of the North Carolina Rifle Team returned to their respective homes this week from Camp Perry, Ohio, where they participated in the National Rifle Matches. In command of Captain Claude T. Bowers, who was chosen among the state officers as team coach, members of Co. B reached Warrenton Friday afternoon.

Traveling in a new Ford V-8 truck, the property of Co. B, and three cars, members of the state team left Camp Perry on Wednesday afternoon, spending the first night in Cincinnati, Ohio, and the second in Bristol, Tenn. Warren county members of the team report a splendid time, and their scores would indicate that they held up their end of the competitive shooting.

Of the 15 men chosen to represent the state team, four were taken from the local military unit. Those participating in the matches from Warren county, and their scores for the National Match, which was won by the U. S. Marines, in addition to Captain Bowers, team coach, were: John E. Floyd, 257; E. P. Bowling, 268; James E. Overby, 251. These scores were from a possible 300 points and were fired on the 200, 300, 600, and 1000 yard ranges.

The completion of this job will afford the traveling public a hardsurfaced road from Warrenton to Rocky Mount by way of Essex, which, it is said, will shorten the distance to Rocky Mount by six or seven miles.

Devere Likes Way Of Warren Sheriff

"I don't know who your sheriff is but I want to say that he is a courteous gentleman with good common sense," Mr. Devere, landscape engineer of the State Highway Department, stated to a representative of this paper in referring to an accident which happened a few days ago when Harry Wortham, 17-year-old negro, fell from a truck and broke his leg on the highway leading from Warrenton to the Anne Lee Memorial Highway Park, where Mr. Devere has been doing some work.

Mr. Devere picked up the negro and brought him to Warrenton where he was given first aid treatment and then sent to a Rocky Mount hospital to have his leg mended. Mr. Devere said that the sheriff appeared on the scene and "he could have delayed me and given me some trouble until he investigated, but he accepted the facts as I stated them and I was permitted to go on my way without unnecessary loss of time."

J. L. COLEMAN DIES SUNDAY

Prominent Macon Citizen
Dies Suddenly Sunday;
Funeral Monday

A COMMUNITY LEADER

J. Lawrence Coleman, 69, was buried in the Macon cemetery on Monday afternoon following funeral services conducted from his home at Macon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. R. E. Brickhouse, Baptist minister, and the Rev. O. I. Hinson, Methodist minister.

Mr. Coleman died suddenly at his home at Macon on Sunday morning about 7:30 o'clock. He had been up for about an hour when he suffered the heart attack which terminated in death.

The death of Mr. Coleman removes from this county a well known figure and from Macon a citizen who has been active in the business, social and religious life of that town for two score years.

Mr. Coleman, the son of Capt. and Mrs. Wiley Coleman, was born at Churchhill. He spent his boyhood and young manhood days in that community and then moved to Macon where he engaged in the mercantile business and carried on farming operations. His home had been at Macon for the past 40 years.

He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Sally Rodwell and to this union were born three children—Miss Mamie Coleman, who is now Mrs. Edwin Russell of Macon, C. M. Coleman of Baltimore and J. B. Coleman of Macon. His second marriage was to Miss Mollie Nowell, who preceded him to the grave by eight months. There were no children from his second marriage.

Mr. Coleman served as county treasurer for Warren county for a number of years, and took an active part in church affairs until the time of his death, he was chairman of the Board of Deacons of the Macon Baptist church and superintendent of the Sunday school.

In addition to his three children, he is survived by one brother, J. (Continued on page 8)

Man's Jaw Broken In Auto Wreck

Robert Newsome of Roanoke Rapids had his jaw broken in two places at Warrenton on Saturday afternoon when the Chevrolet he was operating was in collision with a Ford being driven by Claude King of Wise. Mr. King was bruised and scratched, and a man riding with Mr. Newsome, whose name could not be learned here, was also out and shaken, but their injuries were not regarded as being serious.

The accident occurred at a corner near the Warrenton Service Station. According to Sheriff W. J. Pinnell Mr. King was driving toward Warrenton, headed east, and as he got to the corner below Main street. Mr. Newsome entered the highway from a back street. The Newsome car was headed south.

Following the accident the injured men were given treatment by Warrenton physicians.

Although neither vehicle overturned, both cars were "pretty badly damaged," according to the sheriff.

The stallion was sent to Warren county by the government from breeding headquarters at Lexington, Ky., and is to be used by the public in general for breeding purposes. Mr. Pridden is acting as local agent for the government in looking after the animal.

"By having this stallion now available for service will be of great benefit in improving the stock of this section," Mr. Pridden stated.

KERR RETURNS FROM TOBACCO MEETING

Returning to Warrenton Wednesday night from Washington where he went with a delegation of tobacco growers and warehousemen in an effort to secure better prices for tobacco, Congressman John H. Kerr left yesterday morning for South Boston, Va., where he took part in a tobacco festival. He was expected to return to his home here last night.

LEAF PRICES GET NO HELP FROM CAPITAL GATHERING

Washington, Sept. 29.—Farm administration offices, where halle-lujahs from flue cured tobacco growers echoed last year, today heard cries of dissatisfaction from the same source.

A drop of from seven to ten cents a pound for tobacco aroused the ire of the growers but the farm administration says there is little it can do to boost prices.

Last year, AAA officials contend, flue cured tobacco brought about eight cents above parity while this year the weed that goes to make cigarettes is selling at around parity.

Under the Agricultural Adjustment Act, J. B. Hutson, the administration's tobacco chief, told a delegation of North Carolina dissenters, it is the department's obligation to maintain prices at parity.

Objections were heard against the determination of parity, which is based upon a ten-year average price of commodities bought by farmers.

Carolina Delegation The North Carolina delegation which included Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus and Senator Josiah W. Bailey, suggested that parity was too low.

One grower said the cost of operating tractors was figured in its computation, while only mules can be used in the harvesting of tobacco.

The suggestion was made that the bases for figuring parity be regionalized; that is the average price of farm commodities within a certain region be used instead of (Continued on page 8)

No Serious Damage From Auto Wreck

No serious injuries resulted from the automobile wreck which occurred on Ridgeway street, at the corner where the E. E. Gillam residence is located, Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock when a Chevrolet driven by Frank Hawks was in collision with a Ford operated by Ulysses Davis, negro, according to Deputy Roy Shearin, who investigated the accident.

Deputy Shearin stated that both cars were badly damaged and that a woman riding with Davis received a few cuts, but he did not term her injuries as being of a serious nature.

Hawks was on his side of the road headed towards Warrenton and Davis was traveling south when the two vehicles crashed, the deputy said. The accident took place where the street leading by Gillam's home joins Ridgeway street, which leads from Norlina to Warrenton.
