Facing Springtime

By Gloria Lane

Fixed by Marie DeVille, NBC singing star

ARE you planning to meet spring with a new face? Not actually, of course, but there are things that can and should be done to make yours a fresh, dewy complexion.

You know, winter months have not been particularly kind to your face. When you pass your hand over the skin, you can feel tiny bumps under the skin which means that you have been hoarding debris swept into the pores.

Renovating the face for spring means thorough cleansing and creating normal skin activity through proper stimulation.

Quite the simplest method is a soap and brush bath. Even a tender skin—unless there is some abnormal condition—is benefited. For your face bath, make a lather with a mild toilet soap and warm water. Use an egg-shaped complexion brush that is shaped to the face so that it will easily get in the crevices around the nose and mouth where most blackheads lodge.

With a rotary motion, massage the face thoroughly, not forgetting the forehead. Your skin begins to tingle and you feel the blood rushing to the skin surface, assisting the little facial glands to throw off excess oil and secretions. The gentle penetration of the bristles loosens the dirt and oil which have become embedded in the pores and any hard little caps which have formed on the pores will be swept away, allowing them to throw off their waste and breathe again.

The egg-shaped complexion brush has bristles which are rounded at the ends so they do not irritate sensitive skins. The brush is recommended by dermatologists for skins with blemishes and acne as it is such a thorough cleanser.

Normal and oily skins can be brushed nightly with excellent effect. For dry skins, too much pressure should not be exerted and a good lubricating cream should be applied after the twice weekly treatments. Your skin is apt to feel drawn after the first few times, but this sensation disappears once it has become accustomed to the action of the brush.

Try a series of complexion brush treatments, and meet the springtime with a radiant face.

Lady Took Cardui

When Weak, Nervous

"I can't say enough for Cardui if I talked all day," enthusiastically writes Mrs. L. H. Caldwell, of Statesville, N. C. "I have used Cardui at intervals for twenty-five years," she adds. "My trouble in the beginning was weakness and nervousness. I read of Cardui in a newspaper and decided right then to try it. It seemed before I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Building Business

ACROSS MOST BUSINESSES lies the shadow of an individual. It may be that of the founder, a loyal employee, a farsighted executive. It is the shadow of the man who had the courage to build well.

VISION, FORESIGHT, ABILITY . . . all are familiar terms in the descriptions of these men. They are the characteristics looked upon as inherent in an individual, as gifts with which he is endowed.

YET BACK OF each successful business, another influence is often found. Its presence is less apparent, perhaps . . . but its effects are sometimes more pronounced. It is the influence of a good bank. And the characteristics of a good bank must parallel those of the individual. The bank must be possessed of vision, foresight, and courage. And it must have character, integrity, sound judgment.

OF THE SOUND business enterprises of a community, of the individuals responsible for them, of the continued growth of business, a good bank can be proud. Such pride is our most prized possession.

The Services of This Bank Are Not Limited to Larger Enterprises. We Welcome the Problems of the Small Business As well.
