

THE TORCH

A department conducted for The Warren County Memorial Library By MABEL DAVIS The Librarian

Thanks

A beautifully illustrated copy of N. H. Moore's book, Old Pewter, Brass, Copper, and Sheffield Plate, came to the library this week from Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Tucker, a tribute to the memory of Mrs. Mary Boyd Poindexter. We are indebted, also, to Mrs. Seligman for a copy of Pascal's Mill, a new mystery story by Ben Ames Williams. "Why We See Like Human Beings," gotten out by the Better Vision Institute and designed to teach the proper care of the eyes, is a recent purchase.

We are also indebted to John Scarborough for a copy of The Bluejackets Manual U. S. Navy.

Several other memorial volumes have been ordered and will probably be in today or tomorrow.

Mrs. Taylor Calls Us to the Colors
Do you recall with what enthusiasm Admiral Nelson's men responded to his ringing challenge: "England expects every man to do his duty!" uttered just before the British fleet attacked the combined forces of the French and Spanish fleets in what is known as the Battle of Trafalga? If the English "tars" felt any fears about facing Napoleon's navy, the challenge from their intrepid Admiral must have stiffened their spines, for the English won a great victory over the enemy.

In the same spirit Mrs. Joe Taylor, chairman of the finance committee for the library, is calling us to the colors in her letter which appears another page of The Warren Record. Her assistants, those untiring friends of the library who will call at the homes and places of business of the citizens of every community in the county and town, do so at some cost to themselves, which we are sure you will appreciate.

Mrs. Taylor's assistants in town are Misses Olivia Burwell, Mary Randolph, Rose Kimball, Ann Rodgers, Dorothy Walters and Mesdames W. D. Rodgers, Si Nunn, Alpheus Jones, W. T. Polk, J. E. Adams, Clyde Rodwell, J. E. Rooker Jr., Walter Gardner, Sam Davis, A. C. Balock, David Parker, Pope Powell, and Miss Sue Burroughs.

Out-of-town assistants are Mesdames R. R. Rodwell and Roy Overby, Norlina; Mrs. Arthur Rodwell and Mrs. Oscar Albert, Warren Plains; Mrs. Roy Perkinson and Miss Carrie Dunn, Wise; Miss Mary Neal, Arcola; Mrs. J. S. Nowell and Harry Kenyon, Macon; Mesdames David Limer and Stephen Bowden, Afton; Miss Marina Williams and Mrs. Harry Williams, Inez; Mesdames T. M. Aycock and H. G. Limer, Elberon; Mesdames Sam Allen and Willie Bobbitt, Axtel; Misses Julia and Sydnor Williams, Ridgeway; Mesdames Jesse Gardner and C. M. Haithcock, Churchill; Mesdames M. W. Ransom and T. J. Miles, Littleton; Miss Rena Rodwell, Oakville; Miss Hazel Wall, Elams; Mrs. Albert Bugg, Grove Hill.

Misses Randolph and Kimball have been assigned to represent the library at the John Graham School; Miss Emma Dunn at the Norlina School, and Miss Emily Milam and Mrs. Helen Moore at the Macon School.

PRESCRIPTIONS CALLED FOR AND DELIVERED

"Ain't it fun; Warrenton surprised me," was the comment overheard from one enthusiastic visitor at the fair grounds last nite.

Congratulations to the Lions Club. The club put on a creditable fair this year and laid the groundwork for a fair next year which should prove one of the best in this part of the state.

We had a nice visit this week from an old Warren boy, Mr. Henry Alston, who went to New York and made good in the tobacco business.

The World Series gave us several afternoons of entertainment, but there did not seem to us to be as much enthusiasm about the games as in by-gone years when bets were being laid and pools were being made up each afternoon on innings.

Get your fountain pen, ink, pencils, tablets and note-books from us. We are happy to see you.
