Town Observes Thanksgiving In Quiet Manner

In the absence of planned form of celebration or public entertain ment indications are that Warren- SPEED ton will be the scene of an unusually quite Thanksgiving day.

There will be services in two of the churches here-the Methodist and Episcopal-but with the exception of this attraction for those who desire to gather and worship nothing has been arranged to bring the people of the town, and of the county, together.

With the bank, stores, tobacco market and school closed, the streets of Warrenton are expected to have a deserted appearance as many of those who live here join the trek to the woods for a day's outing or travel to other towns to witness football games or visit relatives and friends. Hunter Drug Co. expects to remain open most of the morning to receive telegrams and take care of prescriptions but will close in the afternoon. Boyce Drug Co. will be closed all day, as will the bank and other stores of the town. School recesses Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock until Monday in order to permit the teachers living in distant parts time to visit their homes and to give the pupils an eagerly awaited for vacation. The tobacco market also shut down on Wednesday afternoon until Mon-

A community service will be held in the Methodist church at Warrenton Thanksgiving morning at 9 o'clock, and Holy Communion will be celebrated at Emmanuel Episcopal church at 11 a. m., but there I noticed most of the cars have

Today and Tomorrow By Frank Parker Stockbridge CARS

· · · safety, safety I went to the New York Auto mobile show last week. Even though I am not in the market for a new car, I like to see the changes and the progress made from year to year

My major impression is that there is no such thing any more as a poor motor car. All of them are good cars, better cars than anyone dreamed of when I began to drive. That the automobile has reached perfection, however, is far from true. Good as the 1937 cars are, the 1938 ones will be better, and so on. One thing all the makers are stressing is better brakes, requiring less foot pressure. That is a move in the direction of safety. I don't think there was a car in the show that wasn't equipped with nonshatterable safety glass and all-steel bodies. More safety.

The campaign against highway fatalities is bearing fruit.

. . . control One thing I missed at this year's show was the selling talk about the high speeds the cars could make. Manufacturers are soft-pedalling the speed idea. One car I saw has a warning signal on the speedometer. When the indicator points to forty miles an hour the driver is reminded that he is approaching a dangerous speed. It was not many years ago when thirty was excessive speed. Now speeds of 60 to 80 miles are not uncommon on the main paved highways. Speed in itself is not dangerous if your tires are sound, but blowout at 60 miles can do an awful lot of damage. It is the combination of speed and recklessness which is dangerous.

I don't believe much in the idea, often proposed, to put governors on cars to keep them from going faster than 50. The most careful driver sometimes finds himself in a tight place, where only a sudden acceleration to high speed can save him from an accident. for riders COMFORT . . Motoring will be more comfortable than ever in any of the 1937 cars. Better spring suspension, easier cushions, more leg-room both for front-seat and back-seat riders, wider seats so that three can ride comfortably both fore and aft, adjustable front seats to suit the length of any driver's legs, are among the improvements I saw in almost all cars at the show.

All makers are stressing greater ease of steering. Since more women than ever are driving, the steering gear which can be operated with the little finger becomes important. when has been rumored will be no services in the other two Warrenton and Louisburg churches of Warrenton on Thanks-ide the driver's left knee instead

Earl McDonald, white man who with James Pierce smashed the front window of Pipkin's Jewelry Store last week because he desired to spend the winter months in Warren county's prision camp, was accommodated on Monday morning by Judge W. W. Taylor who sentenced him to two years on the roads when he appeared in Recorder's court to face a charge of damaging real property. Pierce, who took part in the crime because he wanted to get into prison to receive medical attention for a venereal disease, was tried last week before a magistrate on a charge of exposing the public to a contagious disease and was sentenced to prison for 30 days. At the expiration of this sentence, he will be brought back here to face trial in Recorder's court for breaking the window.

McDonald had just been released rom the prison camp here where he had served 30 days for hoboing when he joined Pierce in the crime. He comes from Springfield, Massand is reported to have stated that he preferred serving a sentence in the county camp during the winter months to getting out on his own and trying to make a living. Pierce who formerly lived at Nashville has been making his home for some time near the Box Mill. Neither of the men attempted to steal anything from the jewelry store after smashing the window. Louie Dacke Jr. was found guilty of operating a school bus faster than the laws of the state permit and was fined $1.00 and taxed with court costs. The young man, who was given the reputation of an unusually careful driver, was arrested by a patrolman who stated that according to his speedometer, the school bus was traveling 42 miles per hour. Daeke, as well as a passenger of the bus, said that he did not know how fast he was traveling but that the bus speedometer only showed about 25 miles per hour at the time the patrolman came up behind them.

Three white men and five negroes were brought into court from Hawtree township to face trial on a charge of gambling after they had been arrested at a store in Wise by officers who saw a small amount of change on the counter and a deck of cards in their midst when they entered the store. The defendants claimed that the 40 cents on the counter was change left there from the purchase of cigars, that no one was playing poker, or had taken seats to start a game of chance Those in the store at the time cf the arrival of the officers accused of gambling were Lannie King, Jack Bridgers and Cliff Collins white, and Arthur Green, David Hendrick, Norman Long, Jeff Howard and Joe Jones, negroes. Judge Taylor reserved judgment until November 30.

Greyhound Lines Inaugurate Bus Service Inrougn Warrenton On Tuesday

OVER LOUISBURG ROAD

A new bus service from Weldon to Raleigh, through Warrenton and by way of Louisburg, with intermediate stops, was inaugurated on Tuesday by the Greynound bus line.

The bus leaves Weldon at 7 o'clock in the morning, making stops at Littleton, Vaugnan, Macon, Warrenton, Louisburg and other towns along the route. The bus leaves Warrenton at 8:20 in the morning and arrives in Raleigh at 10:30 o'clock. The bus leaves Raleigh in the afternoon at 4 o'clock and reaches Warrenton at 6:10 o'clock. This is the first bus service that Warrenton has had in years and affords an opportunity for people to travel here and spend the day as well as for those living here to get in and out of Raleigh and make other bus connections.

AAA May Use Funds To Limit Crop Production

Washington, Nov. 25 .- The AAA indicated today it may use its $500,-000,000 soil conservation program next year to hold down production of most major crops.

Officials have been going over the suggestions of many farmers in an effort to map rules for payment of benefits under the 1937 program.

"Most farmers want us to hold down acreage of corn, cotton, tobacco and feed grains below what it would be if there was no program," said H. R. Tolley, AAA administrator.

With winter wheat already planted on what private reports say is a record acreage, and spring wheat farmers demanding an equal chance, Tolley said these farmers will face price-depressing surpluses next fall "if we have normal weather."

The AAA chief said past programs and recent droughts had largely eliminated surplus problems in most crops but that high prices for many farm products this year had caused a natural desire among some farmers to expand acreages.

The soil conservation program was set up last spring after the Supreme Court had voided the original AAA commodity adjustment plan.

Tolley said farmers and AAA leaders had more time to work out the next program and that one feature probably would be a "maximum conservation allowance' for each farm.

Under this, he said, a "farmer will know in advance of the planting season the maximum grant he der the influence of whiskey, was found guilty and was sentenced to and what practices to follow, and in most parts of the country there will be more latitude in crops and practices required for earning the grants."
