That Justice May Ever Have A Champion; That Evil Shall Not Flourish Unchallenged.

Entered at the Postoffice at Warrenton, North Carolina, under Act of Congress of 1879.

And Jesus answered him, saying, It is written, That man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God.— Luke 4:4.

I have very poor and unhappy brains for drinking: I could well wish courtesy would invent some other custom of entertainment.—Shakespeare.

THE ANNE LEE APARTMENTS

Warrenton is to be congratulated on having a modern apartment building, ideally located.

Messrs. J. P. Scoggin and Julius Banzet, esteemed citizens of Warrenton, have erected an Apartment building in the residential section of Main street, and have spared neither expense nor architectural skill in equipping it with the latest devices for the comfort of their guests, including refrigeration and electric stove. Each apartment has living room, bed room with Murphy bed, kitchen, dinette and bath. The basement has storage room for each apartment, and space for automobiles.

The owners are to congratulated upon the happy selection of a name for the apartments—Anne Lee. The name is beloved in Warrenton (and everywhere). General Lee was an overnight guest in this town, when he visited his daughter's tomb.
The dust of Anne Carter Lee mingles with the soil of Warrenton county, and a few months ago Dr. George Bolling Lee, grandson of General Lee, and Mrs. Lee honored this town with their presence, and also were over-night guests in Warrenton. So in selecting a name for this building, the owners are doing themselves and the town an honor in choosing "Anne Lee."—H. F.
J. Sr.

SHOULD CHECK ON RABIES VACCINATIONS

Two years ago, after there had been a serious outbreak of mad dogs in Raleigh and many other parts of the state, the legislature passed a law requiring that all dogs over six months old be vaccinated against rabies. Some counties, Warren for instance, enforce the Act while other counties, we are informed, ignore it.

Certainly as long as the law is on the books it should be enforced. The only question is whether or not it should be left on the statute, which should be determined by a survey to see if there has been in noticeable decrease or increase in the number of cases of hydrophobia in the counties which did and which did not enforce the law.

In-as-much as there have been claims from not only individual dog owners but also from sources regarded as authoritative that the treatment is ineffective in preventing rabies, the result of such a survey would prove interesting as well as a guide for the law-makers.

In Warren county, for instance, there has apparently been a decrease in the number of mad dogs since the law was passed. Whether the decrease in rabies has been due to the treatment or weather conditions or something else that dogs are subjected to, is not known. But a comparison between this county and some county which did not enforce the Act would throw some light on the situation.

Too many laws are put on the statute books because they are advocated by certain groups who fail to go to the trouble to see that they are effective in the purpose for which they are passed.

Mrs. R. Z. Egerton has returned after spending some time in Raleigh.
Mrs. William Bowen is spending some time with Mrs. William Limer

WHAT IS
TAKING
PLACE
BY

PHIL R. ROOPER
UNITED STATES SENATOR

The President's program with reference to the Supreme Court of the United States continues to overshadow all other national issues. His appeal to the country in the form of one of his radio "fireside chats" is being widely discussed. Hearings on his proposal are drawing large crowds to the rooms of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary. Proponents and opponents of the measure are drawing their lines for battle. In other words, another important chapter in American history is being written, whatever that chapter may finally record.

In this connection it is interesting to read the oath of members of the Supreme Court. It follows:

"I do solemnly swear that I will administer justice without respect to persons, and do equal right to the poor and the rich; and that I will faithfully discharge all the duties incumbent on me as Judge, according to the best of my abilities and understanding, agreeably to the Constitution and laws of the United States."

Whatever may be the viewpoint of any individual with regard to the present Supreme Court issue, considerable stress must be laid on the last sentence of the above oath reading "agreeably to the Constitution and laws of the United States." From this it would seem that the laws of the United States—and the laws are the acts passed by the Congress and signed by the President—have equal standing with the Constitution. The President contends that they have not been given such standing by the eminent Supreme Court Justices, and here is the basis of the current and widely-discussed issue.

Let me quote what others have said.

The illustrious Abraham Lincoln, declared in his first inaugural:

"The candid citizen must confess that if the policy of the government, upon vital questions affecting the whole people, is to be irrevocably fixed by decisions of the Supreme Court, the instant they are made in ordinary litigations between parties in personal actions the people will have ceased to be their own rulers, having to that extent practically resigned their government into the hands of that eminent tribunal."

The great Justice Holmes, who ever held aloft the light of justice for all said:

"It must be remembered that legislators are the ultimate guardians of the liberties and welfare of the people in quite as great a degree as the courts."

Again Justice Holmes said:
"The first requirement of a sound body of law is that it should correspond with the actual feelings and demands of the community.

"The courts were intended to endure for all ages to come and consequently to be adapted to the various crises in human affairs." These quotations from great students of our government deserve study and thought as our people stand at the crossroads of national affairs. These statements weren't made in the heat of debate. They were made by men who enjoyed national confidence, and by men whose deeds merit that their words be remembered. I cite them now because they are timely.

Is the President correct in his contention that the Supreme Court has not given due respects to the legislative will of the people? Are the opponents of his program correct in their contention that the Supreme Court has always been right? Answers to these questions will be found when the people on farm and in factory understand clearly the issues involved and thunder out their views. They and they alone, must answer. Their rights must come first. And the effort to put these rights first precipitated the present momentous issue.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
by Charles E. Dunn

John's Picture of the Trial and Crucifixion.

Lesson for March 21st. John 19: 4-9.

Golden Text: I John 3:16.

Our lesson is to be taught on Palm Sunday. We recall that Jesus entered Jerusalem to be crucified.
Now it is obvious that to many people the crucifixion is utterly unreal.
For one thing, multitudes try to banish all experience or thought of pain completely from their lives.
They live so far removed from the naked realities of life that the picture of an agonized Saviour spiked, in helpless torture, seems utterly alien to their experience.

Then, too, there are many who cherish an easy optimism. The sense of sin has pretty well faded from their hearts. God to them is an indulgent grandfather who is not censorious when His children have their fling. To all such the Cross seems quite unnecessary.

But the attempt to push the crucifixion and its significance into a distant background is not very successful. Grievous trouble has a way of entering unhealed into the well-protected havens of men. I recall very vividly the Titanic disaster. A magnificent floating palace on her maiden voyage, the largest ship in the world at that time, she was the pride of the sea.

But it did not take her long to sink, on that April Sunday night 25 years ago, after the ice-berg had done its damage! And over 1500 persons perished with her.

The truth is that we cannot shut trouble out, try as hard as we may.
"Man is born unto trouble, as the sparks fly upward." This sober fact makes the Cross eternally significant.

Litz, the great musician, once spoke of the "madness and the exultation of the Cross." We feel this on Palm Sunday. We are impressed anew with the collectively insurmountable nature of the struggle of man. At the same time we feel an unmistakable note of triumph. Here is a matchless Master so brave, so resolute, that he does not shrink from the awful ordeal of the crucifixion.

T. J. Griffin of Monroe, route 2, Union County says that thinning pines in his farm woodland was a fascinating job and he looks upon the remaining trees as a future crop.
