Everyday Cooking Miracles

BY VIRGINIA FRANCIS

Director Hotpoint Electric Cookery Institute

Soon there will be bright rows of fruits and jellies weighing down thousands of cupboard shelves, for the delightful aromas pervading kitchens all over the land announce that preserving season is in full swing. And what homemaker doesn't glow with satisfaction as thrill cooker kettle is practically a made-to-order safe and economical sterilizer. Just put 1 cup of water in the kettle and arrange jars or glasses upside down on the rack. Then turn switch to HIGH heat until steam flows freely from vent, continue on HIGH heat for 20 minutes. For quicker sterilization you can place the thrift cooker kettle on the giant speedy surface unit, proceeding as above.

she surveys the colorful rows that bear witness to her cookery prowess. However, nice as jellies look when they stand in shining rows, it's still nicer to be confident that every glass of "jelly" is as good as it looks—clear, firm and flavorful. And you can be confident when you make your jellies on the modern electric range, for the precision temperatures so important in jelly making can be obtained and maintained at the flick of a switch.

In jelly making there is no place for guesswork and if you follow the simplified method I have outlined, you will find that jelly making is no problem at all when made on the Hotpoint electric range. If you have never made jelly on your electric range, you will be delighted with the "coolness of it all," for the new flattened carold hugs the bottom of the pan so closely that less heat can escape into the kitchen.

But before we proceed with our jelly making, we'll have to provide for sterilization of our jelly glasses, but that, too, has already been thought out for us. Your capacious

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

God in the Making of a Nation. Lesson for September 26th. Deut. 8:11-20.

Golden Text: Deut. 8:11. Ten years ago America was riding on the crest of a wave of optimism. The war was safely over, a minor business depression had passed, prosperity was in full swing, and science, with its marvelous advances, seemed able to save the world. What a change today! We have just been through the most devastating depression of our history, and its wounds still bleed. But worse than economic disaster is the depression in morale. Maxine Davis, after using the case method of personal interviews with many young people in all kinds of situations, summarizes her conclusions in her book, "The Lost Generation," in this heading, "Mope—hope—grope." The June 1936, issue of "Fortune" presents the results of a careful study of the state of mind of college youth, and the picture it presents is far from encouraging. According to its findings the unwillingness of youth to challenge the social order is on the increase. Thus while the knowledge of social studies has advanced, there is a failure to apply them. Moreover religion occupies a very limited place in the cultural interests of the college world. "Take care not to forget the Lord your God," says our Golden Text. But our generation renders little heed to this solemn warning. Its lack of religious vitality is striking. How often folk assume that there isn't very much in religion, that religious attitudes are mere escapes from reality! We live in a time when the majority seem far adrift from religious moorings. The triumph of secularism is complete over large areas of our common life.

In the face of such a peril how much we need the teaching of our lesson! "If you ever forget the Lord," cries Moses, "I warn you today that you shall most certainly perish." Our tragic era, in its fury of rebellion against the Christian gospel, desperately needs to hearken to this warning voice of old.

peas? Answer: The best preventative is to treat the seed with carbon disulphid. The beans or peas are put into a water tight barrel or some other container that can be made air tight. The container is filled with the seed to within a few inches of the top and the carbon disulphid poured directly on the seed. For ordinary infestations one-half cup of carbon disulphid should be used to the barrel of seed, but where the seed are heavily infested a full cup should be used. Cover the container with a double thickness of heavy wrapping paper, tie tightly around the top and leave for at least two days. If the insects are still active, repeat the treatment. The containers should be kept covered at all times.

Question: How often should new blood be introduced in the poultry flock?

Answer: In general, it is wise to secure new blood on the male side every two years, but great care must be exercised in selecting the source of these new males. Pedigreed males should be used if possible, but if these cannot be secured, only males from proven profitable flocks should be purchased. Many flocks have had the laying qualities bred out of them because of excessive, uncontrolled inbreeding or because of poor judgment in selecting new males. Your county agent can be of great assistance in selecting the sources of good birds.

Question: When should lespedeza be cut for seed?

Answer: The Korean variety may be cut for seed about October 1, and the other varieties just after the first hard frost. If the crop has been cut for hay enough second growth will be made to reseed the land, but it is seldom possible to remove a hay crop and a seed crop the same year. After cutting, the Korean variety is left in the barn or stacks for a few weeks and the seed threshed out on a grain separator. Seed from the Common, Tennessee 76, and Kobe are harvested with a seed pan.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, painless under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!
