DAVIS TO BUILD SIX NEW HOUSES

Says He Plans To Build One House Eack Week On Lot Back of Court House

ALL HAVE BEEN RENTED

Six new houses are to be erected here by John B. Davis on his lot on Front street which runs back of the court house.

Mr. Davis has already erected the frames of two of the small dwellings and has started on the third. He says he is going to build a new house a week and hopes to have them all ready for occupancy by the first of the year.

The houses are to be laid off in two rows, with a street running between. The houses will be fifteen or twenty feet apart, with driveways between, which will give them the appearance of resting on separately little blocks.

The dwellings will be one story, and each one will have a living room, a bed room, a bath, kitchen and dining room. There will be an open fireplace between the living and bedroom of each house.

The houses are to rent for $15.00 each. Mr. Davis said yesterday that all six of them had been spoken for.

Vote Set For Dec. On Cotton Crop Control

Washington, Oct. 13 .- The nation's 2,225,000 cotton growers will get another chance December 10 to express their opinion of the new crop control program.

They will take part in a referendum on establishing marketing quotas on next year's cotton crop-Last March they voted nine to one to invoke quotas on the 1938 yield. Coming at a time when the administration's efforts to restore agricultural prosperity are under attack in several quarters, the election will be watched by both supporters and foes of the New Deal. The results, said officials of the Agriculture Department, may have an important bearing on congressional efforts to substitute outright price-fixing for the present legislation. Two-thirds of the farmers voting must approve quotas in order to make them effective. Their purpose is to restrict production and sale of farm products when excessive supplies exist. Growers who produce more than their quotas are denied government subsidies and are assessed tax penalties if they market in excess of their quotas.

The cotton referendum may be followed by similar elections on tobacco and wheat marketing quotas. Federal officials said a favorable vote on the cotton quotas undoubtedly would strengthen the administration's hand in the event advocates of price-fixing make headway at the next session of Congress. They conceded that rejection of quotas would give those advocates a "powerful weapon." Senator Truman (D.-Mo.) said he did not agree with members of Congress who have declared the crop control act would have to be re-written to meet the recent pro-

"The need now, however, is for clarification of administration of the present farm act," he added.

Decision on the cotton referendum date was disclosed while Agriculture Department officials were making supplementary plans to solve the problem of surplus cotton, vegetables, fruits, dairy and livestock products and meat.

Secretary Wallace told reporters Wednesday a gigantic program for disposal of such surpluses to relief and low income families at "cutrate" prices was being developed.
