THIS WEEK In Washington

Washington, Dec. 20.—Since a day or two after Thanksgiving newlyelected Senators and members of the House of Representatives have been flocking into Washington to make their arrangements for the session which begins on January 3. They have occupied themselves with arranging for living quarters for themselves and their families, in any, and putting in their applications for particular offices they desire, which are about to be vacated by members who were not re-elect-

To most of these newcomers he atmosphere of Washington is not entirely unfamiliar, but for many i is the first experience of being on the inside looking out instead of our the outside looking in.

Naturally, they have been making inquiries as to what there is in their new jobs, besides the glory of being in Congress and the task of taking a hand in shaping the Nation's laws What they have learned about the money value of their jobs has frankly surprised some of them. Few persons outside of Congress realize what a comfortable position, fiancially, Senators and Representatives

There is the salary, to start with: $10,000 a year for each member of each House.

20 Cents For Mileage

Then there is the mileage. Every Senator and Representative is entitled to draw 20 cents a mile for the distance from his home to Washington, when the sessions begins, and back home again when the For a member from Maryland or Virginia, who can get to Washington in an hour or two, the mileage is not a big item; but a member from California gets around $1,300 each session, while his railroad fare. including a Pullman lower berth, runs to less than $300, making a thousand dollars clear profit. He draws his mileage whether he goes home between sessions or not.

Then comes the item of clerk hire. Each Senator is allowed to hire four clerks and Uncle Sam allows him $10,320 a year for that service. The only restriction is that he may not call on the Government to pay his secretary or any other clerk more than $3,900 a year-$75 a week. Of course, he can pay as much more as he wants to out of his own pocket, and there are instances of wealthy Senators who turn over their own salaries to their secretaries. Most of them are more thrifty, however.

There is no restriction upon whom a Senator or Representative may employ, so many of them put their wives on the payroll as their secretaries and sometimes their sons or daughters as clerks, thus keeping the money in the family.

Vice-President Garner's official secretary for many years has been Mrs. Garner, and it is only fair to say that in the opinion of those who know she does a magnificent job of managing the work of the Vice-President's office, as she did when he was a Representative in the lower House.

Members of the House of Representatives get only a $5,000 annual allowance for clerk hire, with the same limitation of $3,900 as the top salary officially paid to a secretary. Postage Is Free

Then there is free postage. Senators and Representatives have the "franking privilege." They can send letters or any other sort of mail matter without using stamps.

Another source of revenue for the thrifty Senator or Representative is the stationery allowance of $125 a year. A member can use up his allowance in carbon paper, rubber bands, erasers and typewriter ribbons, if he wants to; or he need not use any stationery at all, in which case he can draw the full allowance

Warrenton North Carolina

Then each member has his own No suite of private offices in the handsome marble building adjacent to No the capital. The offices are all large No and expensively furnished in solid No mahogany and leather. Represent- No atives who are not chairmen of com- No mittees have to put up with two No rooms; Senators get three office rooms and a waiting room. There No are private lavatories and bath; No attached to each of those suites, and No a constant supply of clean towels No

A thrifty Representative or Senator really does not need to pay No room-rent if he is unmarried; he No can set up a comfortable daybed in No his inner office and do all his sleep- No ing there. The late Senator Park No Trammell of Florida lived in his of- No fice for several years and made no oones about it.

Senators get other free services No which not all Representatives share. No There is the Senate Garage, for in- No stance, underground at the top of No Capitol Hill. It has uniformed attendants, comfortable lounging quarters for Senatorial chauffeurs, No and space for housing 361 cars. As No there are only 96 Senators, this No leaves 265 stalls which are allotted No to Representatives who are consid- No ered to have special privileges.

Swimming Pool For Senators In the basement of the Senate No office building are the swimming No pool and Turkish baths. They give No free service to Senators.

The Senate and House barbershops provide free service, including manicures, for members. For the No members of each house there is a No private dining room in the Capitol No building, where all labor costs and No expenses outside of the actual cost | No of food are paid by the public.

When a Senator or Representative No dies the Government gves him a No free funeral, usually including the No expenses of a committee to escort No the body to its final resting place No back home. Some such Congres- No sional funerals have cost the tax- No payers as much as $9,000. Nor does No the death of a member leave his No family entirely destitute, for the No widow is given a full year's salary No

There are many minor perquisites No which make the job of a Senator or Representative both pleasant and No profitable, as the newcomers now in Washington are beginning to find
