Cotton Growers Urged To Turn In Unwanted Crop

Warren County cotton growers are urged by Walter S. Smiley to protect their cotton history allotment.

The chairman of the Warren County ASC committee said yesterday that the preservation of this allotment is an important question which every farmer should ask himself within the next few weeks.

Farm cotton allotments will be reduced where the farmer fails to plant at least 75 per cent of his allotment or where he fails to release his allotment to the county committee, Smiley said. For farmers who plan to plant their allotment no action is needed.

Smiley said that where the farmer knows that he will not plant 75 per cent of his allotment, he can help himself and the same time help other farmers in the county by releasing this allotment for reassignment. If the cotton allotment is released to the county committee, this preserves not only the individual farmer's planting history, but the planting history of the county and state. This prevents loss of allotment to individual counties and to the State of North Carolina.

Smiley urges farmers who know now that their allotment will not be planted, to visit their local ASC office and preserve their history by releasing their allotment for use by other farmers within the county. Deadline dates for acceptance of this released acreage by the county committee in Warren County is April 15, however, the week of February 29 through March 4 has been set aside for county ASC offices to accept release acreage. Smiley said that if a farmer cannot release during this week, he should visit his ASC office immediately.

Mitchell Named President Of Education Foundation

John G. Mitchell, president of The Citizens Bank, has been elected president of the newly formed Warren Education Foundation, Inc.

Mitchell was chosen to head the organization at a meeting of the incorporators held at Hotel Warren on Thursday night of last week.

The purpose of the meeting was to elect officers and directors and to approve by-laws.

Claude T. Bowers was elected vice president and Sam A. Warlick, Jr., was named secretary-treasurer.

Directors chosen in addition to the three officers, who are ex-officio directors, were H. M. Hardy, Howell H. Steed, J. Howard Daniel, W. A. Miles, Richard R. Davis, Leonard S. Daniel.

Sam Warlick, elected temporary chairman at an organizational meeting held several weeks ago, presided over the meeting.

Prime purpose of the Education Foundation is to lend money to deserving boys and girls of Warren County in order that they may obtain a college education.

An application for a loan for a Warren County boy for one quarter of his college education has already been approved by the directors, and additional funds will be granted if money in the funds become available.

Warlick, who instigated the movement to form the Foundation, said that this boy had already, through considerable sacrifice, completed all but three quarters of his college education. With a little additional help he will be able to graduate, he said.

Warlick explained that while funds could be handled for other purposes by the Foundation, if requested and earmarked for that purpose, the prime purpose of the Foundation is to lend money from a revolving fund to Warren County boys and girls in order that they may complete their college education.

The effectiveness of the organization, will depend upon the amount of donations that the Foundation receives from any persons interested in seeing that Warren County boys and girls are permitted to attend college.

Scholarships are important and they help with the education of a number of our boys and girls, Warlick said, but added that most of them are too small to provide a great deal of help. This means that boys and girls must borrow money for their education. Money borrowed by prospective students will be repaid with interest, and as it is repaid and the fund grows it will be lent to other students.

Any person interested in making a donation to the Foundation are asked to mail checks to Sam A. Warlick, secretary-treasurer, Warren Education Foundation, Box 210, Warrenton, N. C. For further information, persons are asked to contact Warlick or any of the officers or directors.

Town Extends Lease On Hotel Warren One Year

Lease of Hotel Warren to the Warren Hotel Corporation was extended for a year by the board of town commissioners in session here on Monday night.

The extension was made at the request of Claude T. Bowers, president of the corporation.

Six months ago, the hotel was leased to the newly chartered corporation on a one-year basis, with an option to renew for two more years. The operation of the hotel has been successful.

Bowers told the commissioners that he had entered into an agreement with Virginia Electric and Power Company to lease office quarters at the hotel at $175.00 a month over a three-year period. He said that since the Hotel Corporation's option would expire before the end of the proposed lease, that he could not sign a lease with the power company for the full three-year period without an extension, and for that reason was asking an extension of the company's option to lease by an additional year.

The commissioners not only agreed to extend the lease by unanimous vote but expressed their appreciation to Bowers for his work and the work of the corporation at the hotel.

The only other item of business before the commissioners in an unusually short session was the reaching of an agreement with Dr. Tom Holt over an extension of sidewalk at the Warren Tire Service on Cousin Lucy's Lane, and the announcement by Mayor Miles that he appointed Commissioner A. C. Fair as the town's representative on the newly created recreation committee.
