Land Care Stressed During Soil Conservation Week

By NAY WHITE
Soil Conservation Service
This week is Soil Stewardship Week. During the week ministers, officers of Soil Conservation Districts, and conservation minded citizens will observe Soil Stewardship Week. "The Earth is the Lords and the fullness thereof; and they that dwell within." We that own and work the land have an obligation to be good stewards of the land.
A farmer should work his land so as to leave it better than it was when he got it. A young man that inherits an eroded and gullied farm has a poor heritage. A young man that inherits a farm that has been worked the conservation way has a brighter future to look forward to.
There are many problems to solve in farming the conservation way. Many new problems have been created by mechanization. Even so, we find that the most prosperous farmers farm the conservation way.
The resources of nature have richly fed, clothed, and housed us. Without these resources our country would weaken, our way of life disappear. It is our duty to protect and conserve our precious natural resources: our soil, water, forest and wildlife.

Local Students To Graduate From Pharmacy School

Two Warrenton students will graduate from the School of Pharmacy of the University of North Carolina on June 6.
Robert Hunter Shearin and Thomas Peete Davis will be awarded the degree of Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy at commencement exercises at the University.
Shearin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy V. Shearin and Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Davis of Warrenton. Both are graduates of the John Graham High School.
While at the UNC School of Pharmacy Shearin took part in the following extra-curricular activities: N. C. Pharmaceutical Association, Student Branches Wesley Foundation.
Davis, who lists no extra-curricular activities, has accepted a position with Pegrans' Pharmacy in Apex.

Macon Jr. Club Holds Meeting

The Macon Junior 4-H Club held its regular meeting in the school auditorium on Tuesday May 17, with Roddy Drake, president, in charge.
Others taking part throughout the program were Brenda Copley, Ann Overby, Edward Shearin, Walter Smiley, Helen Falkner, Billy Shearin, Pat Robinson, Joan Riggan, Carolyn Shearin, Segrid Ellis, Margaret Robinson, Nettie Pitchford, Courtney Wilson and Ann L. Overby.
Mr. Hardage gave a short talk on water safety and Miss Ballinger talked to the girls on canning. The meeting was then adjourned. — Carolyn Hunt, Reporter.

Former Littleton Boy National Page

LITTLETON—A former Littleton boy is serving as page to Representative Robert Abernathy of Mississippi in Washington, D. C., this month.

John Echols, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph T. Echols, now of Nettleton, Miss., left to serve in this capacity on May 1. Rep. Abernathy is from Okolona, Miss.

Mr. Echols served as pastor of the Littleton Presbyterian Church for three years and is now pastor of the Nettleton Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Echols was a member of the Littleton elementary school staff.

Young Echols had an excellent scholastic record while in Littleton High School and the week he left Nettleton for Washington, he was presented a pin for the highest score in the Nettleton School on the National Math Contest. The award, which was presented to him at high school assembly, was to have been awarded at the close of school.

About three-fourth of all workers on the nation's farms are family workers.

MALCOLM SEAWELL:
"Our Farmers Are Already Burdened Too Much"

Malcolm Seawell Says: "I am bitterly opposed to a tax on tobacco products because our farmers are already burdened too much in their efforts to make a living."

Terry Sanford Says: "The matter of a tobacco tax is one of the sources of new revenue which would have to be considered."
