

Civil Term Superior Court Opens Monday

The October Civil Term of Warren County Superior Court will open on Monday morning with Judge Hamilton Hogbood of Louisburg presiding.

Nearly a score of cases are on the docket for trial during the scheduled four days of court, but few of these have any county-wide interest. These cases are:

Monday—Louise Y. Rivers vs. Richard C. Rivers; Selby G. Benton vs. Moses Russell Bryant; R. M. White and Son vs. J. L. Fleming; Ella Mae Christmas vs. Gordon Johnnie Christmas; Gladys Watkins vs. Nathan Watkins; Nellie Gray Pinnell vs. Will Thomas Pinnell; S. E. Wilson et als. vs. Essie Wilson et als.

Tuesday—Martin F. Hayes et ux. vs. State Highway Commission.

Wednesday—Calvin C. Masenburg vs. Clara Fogg; M. I. Shell vs. John B. Stansbury; Roger Limer vs. Joseph N. Cates.

Thursday—W. W. Morris, Jr. vs. McPherson Beverages, Inc.; Charles H. Mitchell vs. Albert

Bullock; Stewart M. Stevenson vs. Gid O Tharrington, Jr., et als.; Mary Perkinson Taylor et vir. vs. Ruby Perkinson Johnson et als.; Melvin Jones vs. Roscoe T. Perkinson.

Two cases are on the Motion Docket. They are: Peoples Bank and Trust Company, Extr. and Trustee under the Will of John Robert Paschall, vs. Sallie M. Paschall et als.; and Owen Gupton Shearin vs. James Tucker Harris et ux.

One case is on the Judgment Docket, that of Manley S. Martin vs. Garland Johnson.

Revival To Be Held

Revival services will be held at Young's Memorial Presbyterian Church at Drewry beginning Monday night, October 23, and continuing each evening through Friday night at 8:00 o'clock. The Rev. Levi Humphries will conduct the services.

To Entertain UDC

Miss Louise Allen will entertain the UDC at her home this afternoon (Friday) at 3 o'clock.

Would Bar Drivers Under 18 Years Old

A recommendation that driver's licenses not be issued to persons less than 18 years of age was made here Friday night by a representative of several leading insurance companies.

A plan calling for the issuing of temporary permits and the successful completion of a driver's education course was offered by Clyde Stancel, Smithfield attorney, at the regular meeting of the Warrenton Lions Club held here.

Stancel, representing the North Carolina Insurance Information Service, told members of the local civic clubs that recent statistics indicate that the accident rate is considerably lower among teenage drivers who have taken driver education courses.

"With one death occurring on the state's highway every eight hours, it is time something was done to cut down on the accident rate," Stancel said.

One of the ways in which the figure of 28,000 killed or injured on the state's highways last year could possibly be reduced would be increasing the minimum age for driver's license issuance, he said.

Stancel told members of the Lions Club that insurance companies across the nation paid $47 million during a single year's period in automobile accident claims and that steps needed to be taken to reduce the number.

He called attention to the state's point system and stressed the fact that more than 63,000 warning letters were sent to Tarheel drivers last year. He commended the work of law enforcement agencies but added that "law enforcement is no more effective than the people affected."

Warrenton Attorney Charles M. White introduced Stancel, who is a representative for a large insurance agency in addition to a representative for several insurance firms.

H-D Clubs To Hold Hallo'e'en Carnival

Members of the Wise-Paschall Home Demonstration Clubs will sponsor a Hallo'e'en Carnival on Tuesday night, October 24, at the Wise School Building beginning at seven o'clock. Prizes will be awarded for costumes. Bingo and dancing will be enjoyed from 9:00 to 11:00.

Admission will be 25c. Door prizes will be a radio and a chance on a 10 lb turkey.

Cotton Ginnings

Two hundred and seven bales of cotton were ginned in Warren County prior to October 1, 1961, compared with 82 bales to the same period in 1960, according to the Bureau of the Census of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Hicks Winner Of Ruritan Of The Year Award

William Hicks was presented the Ruritan of the Year Award at a meeting of the Norlina Ruritan Club on Tuesday night. The award was presented by Boyd Mayfield.

The award was made in conjunction with the club's annual Ladies' Night banquet which was held at the Woman's Clubhouse when a turkey dinner was served to the 96 members and guests present. The meal was served by the members of the Woman's Club.

The Rev. Ernest Emurian of Portsmouth, Va., was the guest speaker. Presented by Clint Hege, Mr. Emurian discussed the Christian Life of Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson.

The meeting was also featured by two solos by the Rev. B. K. Fallow, with Mrs. Fallow at the piano.

Leon Pridden, president, presided over the meeting.

Afton-Elberon To Observe Hallowe'en

A cake walk and a turkey shoot will be among the entertainment on hand October 30 when the Afton-Elberon PTA stages its annual Hallowe'en carnival at the Afton school.

School children will stage a program shortly after the 7:30 p. m. affair gets underway, and soft drinks and assorted foods will be available throughout the night.

A spokesman for the Afton-Elberon PTA said yesterday that a small admission would be charged.

Honor Roll Students

Honor roll students at Nathaniel Macon School at the end of the first six weeks grading period were announced this week by Principal Fate King as follows: 7th grade—Beverly Johnson, Jimmy Beck with and Sandra Wood; 8th grade—Ronald Wells.

Rotary Speaker

Dr. W. Burns Jones, Warren Health Director, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday.

Norlina 4-H Member Is State Tractor Winner

A Norlina High School Senior has been judged winner in the State 4-H tractor contest.

The State Extension Service announced this week that Paul Lancaster, Jr., 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lancaster of Route 1, Manson, was state winner in this phase of 4-H work. He was one of 38 North Carolina 4-H'ers who have received the organization's highest honor by being named state winners in 4-H Club projects.

Judging was made on 4-H records.

In eight years Paul presented 79 tractor demonstrations and participated in county, district and state tractor drivers contests. Paul says his Dad furnished all the necessary equipment while he did the work, using the skills and knowledge learned in his project. He says it is always his job to get the tractor ready for work. Paul, according to the Extension Department, has accomplished his goals under the leadership of his Dad who is a tractor leader.

In announcing the winners, L. R. Harrill, state 4-H Club leader, reports that many of the winners will receive a trip to National 4-H Club Congress in November.

Several years ago, many of the honored 4-H'ers set a goal—being state winner. Many accepted defeat while others were named county winners, weathered district competition and finally competed on the state level for top honors. They have competed with over 104,000 4-H'ers for the high recognition.

PAUL LANCASTER, JR.

Now their records have been entered for national competition. Traditionally North Carolina has produced its share of national winners and Harrill expects this to be true this year.

After attending National Congress, Harrill said, many of the state and national winners return to their respective counties and begin grooming young boys and girls to assume their role in 4-H leadership. Within a few years, many of these boys and girls are recognized for their accomplishments.

WARREN 4-H EXHIBIT at State Fair

Warren 4-H Clubs Have Fair Exhibit

A tobacco hookworm, a Mexican bean beetle, a boll weevil and an alfalfa weevil are this week representing Warren County at a week-long affair being staged in Raleigh.

The four insects—in the form of large-size models—are Warren's representatives in the annual North Carolina State Fair.

Part of a large entomology exhibit designed by the county's 4-H clubs, the destructive quartet that yearly plagues

Tarheel farmers are shown on a large 4-H clover in the center of a booth in one of the exhibition halls of the Raleigh fairgrounds.

Slides depicting proper methods of control can be seen by the viewer atop the clover.

Entitled "Bank on Proper Control," the exhibit points out how farmers might bank more money by using proper insect control for each of the four harmful insects.

County Teachers Attend Workshop

Dr. Keith Holmes of the Department of Education of East Carolina College, Greenville, conducted a Reading Workshop in the John Graham High School Auditorium Wednesday night for all white teachers in grades 1-12.

Dr. Holmes is also the Director of the Reading Clinic at East Carolina College. He is a national authority on the teaching of reading and the use of phonics of reading.

Calvin White, school supervisor, under whose direction the reading workshop was held, said that these reading meetings are a part of the In-Service Education Program for Warren County, and that the school administration is happy to have Dr. Holmes as the reading specialist for these programs.

White also reported a "Show and Tell" Night program held at the local school auditorium on October 11, as a part of the In-Service program being carried out in the Warren County schools.

This program consisted of some of the white teachers of the county demonstrating and explaining some promising teaching techniques they were using in their classes. The following teachers appeared on the program:

1. Mrs. Katherine Mustian of Afton-Elberon School—"Science Experiences in the Primary Grades."
2. Mrs. Mamie King of John Graham School—"Using Guidebook Resources."
3. Mrs. Annie Read of the Norlina School—"Creative Experiences in the Primary Grades."
4. Mrs. Helen Alston of the Littleton School—"Enriching the Social Studies."

5. Mrs. Alma Mayfield of the Norlina School—"Art Activities in Grades 7 and 8."

Cline Hege, president of the Warren County NCEA chapter, held a short business meeting. J. R. Peeler, superintendent of Warren County Schools, made remarks and announcements to the group, and White discussed the planning and arrangements for the In-Service programs.

Commenting on the "Show and Tell Program," White said, "The program was a tremendous success, and inspiration, and a workshop for those attending."

He said "Much appreciation is given to all of those who made the program possible."

Perkinson Accepts Job In Raleigh

John Perkinson, a case worker with the Warren County Welfare Department, has resigned from the department effective November 1.

Perkinson, employed here for three years, has accepted a job as Social Security Disability Specialist with the State Board of Public Welfare.

A native of Norlina, Perkinson will move to Raleigh next month. He will also be sent to Baltimore, Md., for special training as further preparation for the state job.

Welfare Director Julian Farrar said yesterday that the new position represented a considerable promotion for Perkinson and that his resignation was accepted with regret.

Perkinson will join Fred Corbett, a former Warren County case worker, in the Disability Determination section, Farrar said.

Warren Has Three 4-H Clubs As State Winners

Three Warren County 4-H Clubs were announced as 1961 State winners this week by the Extension Department, Miss Ann Rackley, assistant home agent, said yesterday.

The three clubs were the Norlina Sr. 4-H Club, the Macon Jr. Club and the Ridgeway Community Club.

Miss Rackley said that a special certificate will be awarded the Norlina Sr. Club for its project on Safety for 1961. Special work done on the project by the club during National 4-H Club Week as well as a Safety Float prepared for the annual Christmas Parade. Frank Perkinson, was club president for 1961.

Macon Jr. Club will be awarded a certificate for their work in Health. Club members prepared a special display during National 4-H Club Week. Health bulletins were also distributed by club members.

Ridgeway Community Club will receive a certificate for their special Automotive Project Program. This group met at various automobile agencies and had several local people as speakers for their series of nine meetings on "Automobile Care and Safety". Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hecht and Mr. Leonard J. Killian are the adult leaders for this automotive project group.

Commissioners Hear Planning Board Plans

Preliminary plans for county-wide subdivision regulations were presented by the County Planning Board to the County Commissioners in a meeting here on Thursday night of last week.

At this meeting the Planning Board recommended that the regulations, which were prepared by the County Planning Board in conjunction with the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development's Division of Community Planning, be considered by the commissioners and that a public hearing be held on the proposal.

Marvin Newsom, chairman of the Planning Board, pointed out that the subdivision regulations provided controls for platting vacant land into residential lots and blocks, and should not be confused with zoning. The type of use, or manner in which the land is used is regulated by zoning. Subdivision regulations, however, which the Planning Board are recommending, provide minimum requirements for the development of land for residential uses. In general, Newsom said, these requirements are things which any good subdivision must have to provide valuable lots for new development.

It was brought out at the meeting, that the process of converting raw land into home sites is one of the most important factors in the growth of any community or county. Few activities, Newsom said, have a more lasting effect upon appearance and environment. Once the land has been subdivided and the streets and homes constructed, the basic character of this permanent addition has become firmly established. Poorly planned developments can only result in decreased tax revenues through deterioration of property values and cause shifting of population to other better planned areas.

Jerry Turner, a planner with the Division of Community Planning, indicated that the proposed subdivision regulations are necessary to:

1. Insure that future subdivisions will fit into the general plan for the physical development of the county;
2. Provide for uniform standards in the development of subdivisions (street widths, street layouts, utilities, drainage, lot sizes, etc.);
3. To provide a basis for accurate and official property boundary records;
4. Promote the public health, safety, and general welfare of all citizens.

New Telephone Directory To Cover Three-County Area

Directory representatives of Carolina Telephone are now beginning work in Henderson, Norlina, Oxford and Warrenton towards publication of a new wide-coverage directory in January.

This announcement was made here yesterday by D. F. Holliday, area Manager for Carolina Telephone, who stated that inquiries among subscribers have indicated that the area wide information will be convenient. The exchanges involved include almost all of Granville, Vance, and Warren counties.

The January volume will be much like past issues. It will include alphabetical sections listing subscribers of each exchange plus the classified Yellow Page section which tells what products and services business firms of the area offer.

Manager Holliday said that the advantage of the new book will be that every subscriber will have more of the telephone information he needs always available under one cover.

Irene Weldon Sings At Boston Concert

Irene Weldon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Weldon of Norlina, performed in Boston's Jordan Hall Wednesday evening, October 11, in a program given by students of voices at The New England Conservatory of Music.

The concert was broadcast over the Educational Radio Network in Boston, Arherst, Mass., and Albany, New York.

The petite blond coloratura sang two arias from Handel's Julius Caesar, "Piangero," and "V'Adoro, Pupille," and "Rendi'l sereno al Ciglio," from Sosarme by Handel.

Miss Weldon is a junior at The New England Conservatory.

Services At Ridgeway
Services will be held at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Ridgeway, by the rector, the Rev. James Stone, on Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

Sponsor Dance
Members of the Wise-Paschall Home Demonstration Clubs will sponsor a dance at the Wise School Building on Saturday night.

Defendant, Deputy Trade Punches As Trooper Is Struck

A mistrial was ordered here during the Friday session of Warren County Recorder's Court after a defendant and a Warren deputy sheriff traded punches while a case was being tried.

Presiding Judge Julius Banzet ordered a new trial after Donald Lee West, defendant in a drunk driving trial, and Deputy Sheriff B. G. Stevenson exchanged blows following West's testimony on the witness stand.

According to witnesses, West charged that Stevenson was drunk the night he and Trooper W. E. Brown of the N. C. Highway Patrol arrested West. After making his charge, West left the witness chair and went outside the court room where he was confronted by Stevenson.

"I asked him why he said I was drunk when I was not," Stevenson reported he asked West, a 36-year-old logger of near Warrenton.

West reportedly replied that he thought Stevenson was drunk at the time. Stevenson accused the man of lying on the witness stand and West struck him with his fist.

Stevenson reported that he placed West under arrest and the man attempted to strike him again. Stevenson said he then struck West with his fist. Troopers Brown and R. A. Clark stepped in to stop the fight and West landed a blow on Brown's mouth.

Deputy Stevenson then pulled out his blackjack and knocked West to the floor.

After learning of the incident, Judge Banzet ordered a juror withdrawn, a mistrial ordered, and the case continued.

Other cases heard in Recorder's Court last Friday included: Willis Hawkins, non-support of his illegitimate child, the court found as a fact that the defendant is the father of the illegitimate child, and ruled that the defendant pay $3.50 a week for the support of his child, and the court costs.

Russell Perry Driver, drunk driving, $100 and costs. Cicero Williams, illegal possession of non-tax-paid whiskey. (See PUNCHES, page 10)

High School Girl Not Badly Hurt In Wreck

A John Graham High School Senior escaped serious injury late Tuesday afternoon when the 1960 Ford she was driving struck and broke a telephone pole on the Warren Plains road.

Kay Fair, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Fair of Warrenton, received painful cuts, abrasions and bruises, but X-rays at Warren General Hospital showed no broken bones or internal injuries. She returned to school on Thursday morning. She was hobbling on a stiff leg and still sore, but otherwise alright, her father said yesterday.

The young girl was on the way to the home of Mrs. Glenn Weldon for a music lesson when she lost control of the car on a curve in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Burton. The car crashed into a telephone pole, breaking it in two.

Damage to the car is estimated at between $500 and $800.

Miss Fair, dazed and shocked by the impact, was taken to the hospital by a passing motorist. After undergoing X-rays and other examinations at the hospital, she was permitted to return to her home Tuesday night.

Local PTA Holds Tea, Social Hour

Teachers of the John Graham High School, Mariam Boyd Elementary School and Nathaniel Macon School had an opportunity to become acquainted with the parents of their students here Tuesday night at the John Graham PTA held a "get acquainted" meeting.

A tea and social hour was held during the meeting and afterwards teachers were available for consultation with parents. In addition all three of the schools were open for inspection by interested parents.

An appeal was made by Mrs. J. Boyd Davis for additional members to join the three-school association. President Leonard Daniel presided over the meeting.

Mrs. Coleman Injured In Wreck

Mrs. H. E. Coleman of Wise is a patient in Maria Parham Hospital, Henderson, recovering from injuries sustained in a car wreck last Thursday.

She received a broken elbow, broken wrist, broken knee and serious chest injuries and crushed ribs.

Mr. Coleman and Mrs. J. W. Perry have visited her several times during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Knight were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thompson on Sunday and Monday.