The home agents' office has just received a list of the vegetable varieties recommended for 1962. If you would like this list to use in planning your 1962 garden, ask for it at the home agents' office.

You'll probably be hearing a lot about the many "new" vegetable varieties that are available this year. The varieties recommended have been tried, tested and proven to be good. You might, however, like to make a small trial planting of such new varieties as: Manapal and Campbell 146 tomatoes (resistant to cracking and Fusarium wilt); Nuggett sweet potato (resistant to wilt, high quality yields); Seminole cantaloupe (resistant to downy mildew); and Harvester snap bean (white seeded, high quality and high yields). Seed of these varieties may be scarce in 1962 but they may be worth your effort. Plan to grow one "new" vegetable this year. Some suggestions are shallots, Chinese cabbage, endive, head or leaf lettuce, New Zealand spinach, acorn or butternut squash, asparagus, edible soybeans and card.

PRUNING SHRUBBERY

Prune—don't shear! If all the hedge shears were dumped in the ocean our plantings would soon look a hundred percent better. You can't prune with hedge shears—you can only shear. Shearing is all right for a formal clipped hedge, but it's terrible for other plants.

How To Prune

Plants have character. Each species is different—some are low and spreading, some round, others tall and spreading. Prune to bring out the plants' character—keep the plant natural looking. When you finish pruning, except for size, you shouldn't be able to tell the plant has been pruned. If you have large overgrown foundation plants, cut them off near the ground or pull them out and replace with dwarf, slow growing plants.

If you are going to shear all your plants round, flat or square, you might as well plant cheap privet hedge. All the plants will look alike anyway. Better still, why not mold a plant from aluminum, paint it green and solve all your pruning, fertilizing and watering problems.

When pruning plants like Chinese holly and ligustrum, make your cuts inside the plant. Don't clip the small twigs. This will make the plant too thick. New growth puts out just below a cut, therefore, stagger your cuts throughout the plant. If you need growth near the ground (nandiana for instance) cut some stems near the ground.

Keep the plant open enough for light to enter. If it gets too thick on the outside all

Lovell Funeral Held On Sunday

Funeral services for Clarence Elgin Lovell, 80, were conducted Sunday at the Warrenton Baptist Church on Sunday at 2 p. m. by the pastor, the Rev. John Link, and the Rev. Philip Lykes. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery.

Mr. Lovell died in Warren General Hospital on Thursday afternoon of last week. He was a member of the Warrenton Baptist Church, the State P. O. S. of A., was an engineer for Peck Manufacturing Company, a policeman and jailer, and retired ten years ago.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Loretta Gruber of Silver Springs, Md.; two sons, Rupert Norman Lovell of New York City and Claude Macon Lovell of Warrenton; one sister, Mrs. Fannie Keller of Gastonia; one brother, Fred Lovell of Klamath Falls, Ore.; and two grandchildren.

David Clark Hall Dies On Tuesday

David Clark Hall, 75, died at his residence in Warrenton at 3:45 p. m. Tuesday after a lingering illness.

Mr. Hall was born and reared in Warrenton, the son of the late John and Emma Jenkins Hall. He was educated at Miss Lucy Hawkins School. He was a member of the Warrenton Baptist Church, the Allen Bible Class and was a former member of the J.O.U.A.M. For a number of years Mr. Hall was connected with some of the tobacco warehouses.

Funeral services were conducted at the Warrenton Baptist Church Thursday at 3 p. m. by the pastor the Rev. John Link. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery.

Mr. Hall is survived by a brother, A. Weldon Hall of Warrenton; three sisters, Miss Emma Hall and Mrs. Josie Hall Montgomery, both of Warrenton; and Mrs. W. T. Johnson of Raleigh; and three nieces and one nephew.

Persons attending the funeral of Mr. Douglas Mustian here on Sunday were from Philadelphia, Pa., Asheville, Greenville, S. C., Atlanta, Ga., Tarboro, Scotland Neck, Alexandria, Va., Littleton, Raleigh, Henderson, Newport News, Va., Burlington, Lynchburg, Va., Petersburg, Va., Matocoa, Va., Louisville, Kirtrell, Winston.

Silverfish In Your Attic

When you went to your attic to dig out your boxes of Christmas tree ornaments, you probably evicted a whole colony of small silverfish insects.

These are silverfish. And they live in boxes stored in basements and attics. They eat the paper used for packing, and if there are rayon or starched clothing in the boxes, or books, old rolls of wallpaper, or magazines—they'll eat them too.

To prevent silverfish, U. S. Department of Agriculture entomologists suggest spraying with a 2 per cent chlordane solution. Spray not only the boxes used for storage, but shelves, crevices, or other hiding places as well.

If silverfish are a problem elsewhere in your house, apply chlordane with a paint brush wherever you see them—usually on floors, around baseboards, door and window casings, closets and places where pipes go through walls or floors.

Be sure to read and follow carefully all instructions given in the label on the chlordane container.

FARMERS

acre for other crops and land uses or a minimum cost of $8.50 per farm.

"The premeasured acreage will be accepted by the ASCS reporters as the 'official' measured acreage provided the farmer plants the entire premeasured area and no more, and provided there was no obvious error made in the premeasurement. A later trip will be made to the farm to determine that these requirements have been met; but in most cases additional measurements will not be necessary."

According to Smiley, only a limited amount of this premeasurement work can be done in the short time available, so applications should be made early. All farmers desiring premeasurement should visit their local county ASCS Office as soon as possible, he said.
