

Thompson To Build Another Tob. Warehouse

Construction of Warrenton's eighth tobacco warehouse may start here today (Friday)—if not, within a few days.

C. E. (Buck) Thompson of Macon, who built his first warehouse here in 1952, will build a second warehouse next to his original warehouse on Franklin Street and will operate them both this fall.

Warrenton's seventh warehouse, being built by M. P. (Bo) Carroll, Jr., is nearing completion on the Warrenton-Norlina road. Rumors that a ninth warehouse will be built here by another warehouseman have not been confirmed.

Thompson said yesterday that his new warehouse would be built of concrete and steel, would contain 28,500 square feet of floor space, and would be completed in ample time for sales this fall.

The new warehouse will be constructed by A. L. Jarrell and son of Salisbury, large contracting firm, with interest in some 50 warehouses in five Southern States.

Thompson said that he was building a second warehouse in an effort to conserve his selling time and to meet competition.

Present warehouses here are Farmers' Currin's No. 1 and No. 2, Thompson's, Center and Boyd's.

Carroll's warehouse on the Norlina road is the first to be built here in some ten years. Thompson's will be the second.

Two Are Killed In July Fourth Wreck Near Va. State Line

HENDERSON—A Fourth of July holiday trip from New York City was climaxed by tragedy for two couples who formerly lived in the Vance and Warren County area when their automobile was in collision with a log-laden truck early Wednesday morning at the North Carolina-Virginia state line, just inside North Carolina, on U. S. Highway 1.

The crash left two persons dead, two hospitalized in South Hill, Va., and another man with injuries which did not require hospitalization.

The dead are Melvin Alexander Burroughs, who died en route to Community Memorial Hospital in South Hill, and his wife, Olive Victoria Burroughs, who was killed almost instantly, said State Highway Patrolman R. A. Clark of Warren County.

Hospitalized at South Hill for examination and treatment were the alleged driver of the automobile, Eugene Carter Burroughs, 26-year-old brother of Melvin Burroughs, and Margaret Burroughs, the wife of Eugene, said Patrolman Clark.

All are former residents of Vance and Warren Counties but more recently have been living in New York City. All are Negroes. The officer said information was that they had come back to the local area for a holiday visit and when the accident occurred at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday morning were headed for the Palmer Springs, Va., community near the State line, the former home of Olive Burroughs.

Their 1962 model Pontiac automobile was northbound on U. S. Highway No. 1 and in the collision the rear of the car was virtually sliced off by the southbound tractor-trailer truck laden with logs, said the patrolman. The two death victims were said to have been riding in the rear seat auto, with Eugene Carroughs and his wife in front seat.

The total attendance for the first 13 days was 754, Parker said on Wednesday night.

Only Ten Per Cent Of Dogs Wear Tags On Their Collars

Not more than 10 per cent of the dogs in Warren County are wearing collars bearing vaccination tags as required by the laws of North Carolina.

This is the estimate given the Board of County Commissioners on Monday by Robert Stegall, County Dog Warden. The commissioners agreed with the figure.

Stegall was before the board to discuss with the commissioners the problem of stray dogs in the towns of the county, and in answer to a few specific complaints. During the discussion, Stegall stated that few dogs are wearing collars, and indicated that no effort is being made to enforce the dog law in this respect.

Why the law is not enforced was not stated by Stegall or questioned by the commissioners.
