CUCUMBER MECHANIZATION

From reports here and there, cucumber production per acre was an all time high compared to prior years. It just goes to show what a little water will do at the right time, and too, the cukes will not grow without adequate plant food. The best record of total dollars income per acre was on a field heavily manured, 700 lbs. 5-10-10 at planting and top dressed with 200 lbs. 20-0-20.

Cucumbers are still important in Warren County to the man that needs and can handle additional crops. This is a valuable crop to the man with very small allotments of other crops. In all these combinations, do not take on more crops than can be well managed. As mechanization appears on the scene farmers with small or no allotments will in all probability plant large acreages to cucumbers, cantaloupes, peppers, etc., and hire labor to operate the machines.

In the other picture, a tractor pulls a trailer to which is attached a conveyor belt system. This system requires 6 pickers, one basket tender and one driver, or a total of 8 persons.

in general are good and the only fair to poor crops observed were those receiving inadequate top dressing. Top dressing was a must this year and I haven't so far observed any real nice crops that did not receive extra and adequate fertilization.

It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862... the same year that

IN NORTH CAROLINA arrangements were made to transfer the Confederacy's naval ordnance center from Norfolk to Charlotte because of inland safety and good railroad to Wilmington. North Carolinians saluted this new commerce with glasses of beer.

For even then, beer was North Carolina's traditional beverage of moderation. Beer still provides enjoyment for North Carolinians, and a good living for many of them—not only the employees of the Brewing Industry itself, but also for North Carolina farmers and other suppliers of the materials brewers use.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.
