SHOPPING FOR CREDIT

Take time to plan the best way to use your money when you plan to purchase property, machinery, automobiles, furniture, clothing, television sets, and other things for the home.

What Is Credit? Some families pay cash for things they get, others ask for credit because of low income, illness, accidents, or unemployment for short periods of time.

We know it is cheaper to pay cash for the things we buy than it is to buy on credit. However, when we ask to use credit it gives us the privilege to build up an honest reputation and prove our ability to borrow and repay money.

The word debt to some people has a frightening sound, but many families have achieved a certain standard of living and have found that it is necessary to use credit in order to pay for the things we need.

will want to know if you will need a short-term loan. These loans are used for purchasing furniture, clothing, television sets, automobiles, etc., and they are repaid within one year or a little longer.

Types of Loans The lender will want to know the type of loan you will need. Will it be a long-term loan? These loans may be used for buying property, building or remodeling homes, etc.

Will you need an intermediate-term loan? These loans are usually made for purchasing machinery, plumbing fixtures, making home repairs, and they run for periods from one to five years.

Credit can be extremely useful if it will help the borrower to make financial progress. When we borrow money we are expected to pay the lender something for the use of the money.

Where to Go to Get Loans There are several places you may go to get loans. You may go to banks, insurance companies, credit unions, savings and loan associations, other lending institutions and individuals.

Russia reportedly supplied almost all of Cuba's wheat and most of her wheat flour, beef, pork and condensed milk during 1961.
