

Closing Gaston Dam Gates Put Off Two Weeks

LITTLETON— Closing of the gates on the huge Gaston hydro-electric project near Littleton has been delayed at least two weeks.

The reservoir area behind the Virginia Electric and Power Company project was scheduled to begin filling with water Oct. 1. The lake area has not been completely cleared, however, and the gate-closing target date has been postponed as a result.

Wiley Fortune of Roanoke Rapids, district manager for VEPCO, said the date was moved back two weeks to permit additional time for the clearing work.

The reservoir clearing contractors, Bowles and Jackson, have been hampered by an unusual amount of rain this summer, but it had been expected that the Oct. 1 target date for closing the dam gates would be met until last week.

The concrete portion of the dam is now virtually complete. Except for the sluices in the spillway section which will be filled after closure, practically all concrete has been poured, company officials said.

(The sluices are holes in the spillway which permit the river to flow through the structure while the portion of the dam is under construction.)

The submerged weir surrounding the turbine intake has been completed.

In the power house section of the dam, the four turbine and generator sets are still under construction, but this work will not delay closing the dam gates and filling of the reservoir area.

Lovell Is Poultry Show Winner

Johnny Lovell, Rt. 2, Norlina, was named as having the top dozen layer hens at the 4-H Poultry Show held Friday at the Warren County Fair.

Others receiving blue ribbons were: Carol Hobgood, Richard Bender, Elaine Ball, Kay Ellington, Claiborne Holtzman and Jimmy Rivers. Bradley Vaughan received a red ribbon for his hens.

W. G. Andrews, Poultry Specialist, State College, served as judge and T. B. Creech as auctioneer for the sale.

The Extension Agents wish to thank all buyers for cooperating with the 4-H Poultry Chain project, Ann K. Killian and L. B. Hardage, assistant agent, said Thursday. Proceeds from this year's sale will be used to purchase next year's chicks.

Each blue ribbon winner was awarded a cash prize by the Sears Roebuck Foundation which sponsors the Poultry Chain for 4-H Club members.

Assistant Agent Resigns

The Board of County Commissioners employed one agent and accepted the resignation of another at its meeting here Monday.

Mrs. Bertha Forte was appointed Negro Home Economics Agent by the commissioners to succeed Mrs. Peggy Drew, resigned. She will begin her duties here on November 1.

The appointment was made after Mrs. Forte appeared before the commissioners with Mrs. Josephine S. Weaver, district supervisor of the Northeastern District, who strongly recommended Mrs. Forte for the position.

Mrs. Forte is a native of Alamance County but is now residing in Fayetteville, where her husband, a retired soldier is working at the Fort Bragg Post Exchange. He is expected to move to Warrenton with his wife.

Mrs. Forte has had five and one-half years as a Home Agent in Cumberland County, but has been out of Extension Work for the past twelve years. She is the mother of two children, James Luther, 12, and Janet, 5.

The resignation of Mrs. Ann K. Killian as assistant Home Agent, was read to the Board by Chairman Amos L. Capps. The resignation was effective September 30.

Mrs. Killian, the former Ann Rackley, has served as assistant agent for the past two years. In her letter of resignation, Mrs. Killian said: "I want to express to you my regrets over leaving my work

Thieves Take $4000.00 From Traylor Hdwe Co.

Traylor's Hardware Store in Norlina suffered a loss estimated to be nearly $4,000 when it was robbed in the early hours of Thursday morning.

Entry into the building was through a large transom in the rear of the building adjoining the main store and was discovered by Bob Traylor, son of the owner R. L. Traylor, and Willie King, a long-time employee, when they came to work around 7:30 Thursday morning. The loss was not covered by insurance, Traylor said.

The thief or thieves had uncrewed a fuse in a fuse box partly hidden and the loss was discovered when the lights failed to come on and the loose fuse was discovered. The robbery is believed to have been about 4:30 a. m. An electric clock on the wall had stopped at this time.

A large light located behind Walker's Drug Store and the hardware store was broken, investigating officers found.

Summoned to the scene upon discovery of the robbery were Chief of Police Buck White and Sheriff Jim Hundley. Hundley called SBI Agent Glenn Harton of Henderson into the case.

Traylor, who estimated his loss at $3900.00, following an inventory, said the thieves took rifles, watches, radios and an electric razor, along with $50.00 change left in the cash register. More than 60 watches and six high priced rifles and guns were among the missing property; however, the thieves left the stock of lower-priced rifles and guns, Traylor said. Traylor said his estimate of the loss is only the known loss, as new fall stock had just arrived. Other losses may yet be found, he said.

At Ladies' Night Banquet

Lloyd Named Norlina Ruritan Of The Year

Ben Lloyd, Norlina automobile dealer, was named Ruritan of the Year at the annual Ladies' Night meeting of the Norlina Ruritan Club held in the school cafeteria on Tuesday night. The award was made by William Hicks.

The speaker for the annual Ladies' Night event was Edmund Harding of Washington, who kept the Ruritans and their guests in almost a steady roar of laughter with his wit and anecdotes.

President K. C. Severance presided over the meeting.

with the invocation being given by the Rev. A. T. Ayscue.

Larry Bryson served as toastmaster and introduced the guests, new members and teachers. James White gave the address of welcome and Mrs. Roger Peeler and Mrs. Leigh Traylor responded. Leigh Traylor led in group singing.

The meal, consisting of tomato juice, turkey, dressing, gravy, relishes, stringbeans, candied yams, spiced apples, hot rolls, butter, pie and coffee, was arranged and served by the ladies of the Norlina Woman's Club.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Ruritan of the Year Award, made annually to an outstanding civic, religious and business leader of the community.

Lloyd is chairman of the Board of Deacons of the Norlina Baptist Church, president of the Brotherhood, which also sponsors the Sunday School held each Sunday at Kerr Lake. He has also taught there where as many as 1035 persons have attended the services during the 14 Sundays the Sunday School was in progress during the past summer.

Lloyd also has been president of the Norlina High School Athletic Association for several years, and is President of the Norlina Merchants Association. He is past president of the Norlina PTA, and chairman of the Norlina 1962 Cancer Drive. He is originator and chairman of the school activity bus committee and was a volunteer high school coach during World War II years. He has coached Little League baseball teams during recent years, and is active in promoting the Ruritan sponsored teen-age dances held weekly.

Zion Club Wins Prize For Booth At County Fair

Zion Home Demonstration Club won first prize among six booths exhibited by Warren County Home Demonstration Clubs at the Warren County Fair last week, Miss Emily Ballinger, County Home Economics Agent, announced Monday.

Second place winner was the Enterprise Club.

In announcing the winners, Miss Ballinger said that an important part of the Warren County Fair each year are the educational booths and the ones this year were no exception. She said the six home demonstration booths of this year showed phases of clothing, foods and home management.

The subject of the Zion booth was "How to Stretch Your Food Dollar and Make It Have More Pennies." In the booth the Zion HDC members showed several foods and compared the costs of different grades, quality and methods of preparation.

"Be Original! Make Your Own and Save," was the subject of the Enterprise Club. This booth showed steps in making braided and fabric hats.

The booth, "Dress for the Occasion," put up by the Afton Club, won third place. This booth showed clothing appropriate for housework and travel and a basic dress showing how it could be changed for various occasions with the use of different accessories.

Three booths received honorable mention. They were "Food for Survival," put up by the Oakville Club, showing the foods recommended for a fall-out shelter and illustrating the amount necessary for one person for two weeks survival; "Food Makes the Difference," put up by the Arcola Club, pertaining to food and weight control; and the Shaw Springs Club booth, "Electricity—A Servant Through Small Electrical Appliances."

The 4-H Club booth, "Sew and Save the 4-H Way," won a blue ribbon. The FHA booth, "What Is Home Economics?" put up by the Norlina FHA, won first place and the John Graham FHA booth, "What Parents Give to Children," won second place. The John Graham FFA booth won a second premium also. The Conservation and Development Forestry booth also won a blue
