Silverfish May Cause Damage To Summer Clothing

Have you seen any silvery, arcund in your closet? If so, fish-looking insects slithering you may have silverfish which often damage your summer clothes during the winter months.

Cotton and rayon garments are in no danger from clothes moths and carpet beetles, but they are often damaged by silverfish. Entomologists say silverfish feed on starch or on cellulose materials like rayon, cotton and paper.

Miss Martha Ann Hurt, clothing specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, says this is the main reason for not starching cottons before packing them away. The simplest way to control these insects, however, is to spray the closet, chest, or clothes bag with a 5 per cent DDT surface or residual spray. This helps protect against clothes moths as well.

It pays to put clothes away clean because the longer spots and stains remain on fabric, the more likely they are to become set and difficult to remove. Also, it is wise to remove any pins or metal ornaments that might leave marks on fabrics in storage.

If storage space is limited so that you must pack clothes closely, then ironing them first will leave fewer creases in the material. Otherwise you may want to save time by putting washable summer clothes away "rough dried." The more expensive garments, like men's summer suits or coats or women's "best" dresses, will keep in best shape if carefully placed on padded hangers in clothes bags.

When you pack clothes away, be sure they are thoroughly dry as well as clean to avoid mildew trouble. Save time by labeling all containers as to contents.

Farmers Have Opportunity To See KG Blade In Operation

By NAT B. WHITE, Soil Conservationist

For some time Warren County farmers have been asking about the KG blade; whether it is better than a bulldozer blade, and the relative cost of the two. They can observe this machine at work in Warren County and decide for themselves. This type of work will be going on for about two weeks around Inez, and farmers can find out where the equipment is working at Eugene Davis' store in Inez.

The KG blade has a knife edge that cuts trees off at ground level; the tractor can pile the brush in windrows, and the wood can be burned since it is relatively free of dirt. In woodland work the trees are not piled in windrows since pines are to be established on the land.

Some farmers are interested in getting woodland prepared for pasture with the KG blade. This can be done by cutting trees off at ground level, disking with a heavy bush and bog, and preparing the land with disk and tillage tools. The bushes that sprout from the stumps can be controlled with a bush bog. When these bushes are cut back in summer the stumps soon die. A stump cut below the root collar does very little sprouting. Around Inez the KG blade will be working on brush land to be planted to pine. We think this tool has possibilities in woodland weeding work as well as converting woodland to pasture land. Farmers interested in doing either of these jobs are encouraged to take a look at the KG blade during the next two weeks.
