

Cotton Furnishings Fabrics Help Cure Spring Fever

SHEETS GALORE—Sheets set the mood in this bedroom created for the "Decoration and Design—1963" exhibit. An authentic fine line pastoral scene is continued from the fine combed percale sheets by J. P. Stevens on the bed to matching cottons as drapes and upholstery fabric.

COTTON COMPLETE—Cotton stars in many roles in this room created by David Eugene Bell, A.I.D., at the new Skyview-On-The-Hudson in Manhattan. Blue and white cotton homespun is used on armchairs and ottoman, while a red on white cotton tapestry is used on the sofa and at the windows. A red cotton area rug completes the room.

18TH CENTURY MANNER—Colored with 1963 freshness and clarity in tobacco and deer turquoise on white, the authentic cotton print used by Brian Catterton in this bedroom created for B. Altman's gives a new look to the 18th Century manner.

PROBLEM SOLVED—An off-center set of windows is tastefully treated by David Barrett by using striped cotton as window shades. A walnut valance features wood tassels that are repeated at the rounded bottoms of the shades. Another walnut piece below the window is used as a ledge from which cotton print cafe curtains in blue, green and white are hung.

Fire, a KG blade, and a heavy bush and bog were used last fall on Amos L. Capp's farm near Inez to destroy hardwood brush. This land will be planted to loblolly pine within the next three months. There are thousands of acres of brush land in Warren County in need of this treatment.

Tree Planting In Warren County To Be Done Primarily In Woods

By NAT B. WHITE
Tree planting in Warren County this spring will be done primarily in the woods rather than in open land. This is in accord with a recent effort by all agricultural agencies, foresters, and many individuals to convert thousands of acres of unproductive brush land to growing loblolly pine. More than a quarter million loblolly pine seedlings have been ordered for Warren County farmers; more will be ordered later.

Woodland work can be done in many ways and with a large variety of tools. Brush land can be converted to pine by a man with an axe and a planting iron, or it can be done by the larger crawler type tractors using a variety of heavy tools. There is a place in the woodlands for heavy equipment, and there is a place for hand labor. In a typical operation heavy equipment will be used first, and the job will be finished with hand labor. Most of the seedlings that are being planted in February, March and April will be on brush land that has been disked with a heavy bush and bog. In some cases the area was burned prior to disk, and a KG blade was used in front of the disk. Loblolly pine seedlings will be planted with a 6x7 foot spacing (100 per acre) and the unmerchantable trees left by the disk will be poisoned within one year. An investment in converting brush land to growing loblolly pine is a good one.

Valentine's Day Is Love Time

Valentine's Day with its hearts inspires most lads to think of love, courtship and dainty morsels of chocolate candy. But to Robert Janus, the heart means an organ that does enough work in 12 hours (obviously a non-union heart) to lift a 65-ton tank car one foot off the ground. Not content with such an unhappy comparison, Janus goes on to report that the heart pumps blood through about 100,000 miles of blood vessels - a distance equal to five round trips between New York and Sydney, Australia. A man's heart is only about the size of his fist, yet it pumps approximately 1,800 gallons of blood through his body each day. In its first stage of development, the human heart is like the heart of a fish - only a simple tube. Then it resembles the heart of a frog, then that of a snake. When it's fully developed, it resembles the heart of a bird. Janus, unfortunately, should know. He's science editor of World Book Encyclopedia. Mrs. Janus doesn't care - she'd better get her heart-shaped box of candy, or else.
