

Hawkins Graduate Wins More Than $2900 In Scholarships

A 1963 Hawkins High School graduate, Miss Nannie Kearney, has received more than $2,900 in scholarship funds—including the Warren Cotton and Fertilizer Co. scholarship of $500.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kearney of Rt. 3, Warrenton, Miss Kearney ranked first among nine Hawkins graduates winning more than $8,500 grants for post high school education.

In addition to the Warren Cotton and Fertilizer Co. scholarship, awarded for the first time this year, Miss Kearney received the A&T College scholarship for $2,400 and the Hawkins High School scholarship of $25. Announcement of the awards was made by Hawkins Principal J. E. Byers.

Other Hawkins winners included Raymond Clayton Perry, the North Carolina College scholarship of $1,000 and the Hawkins scholarship of $25; Willie Beatrice Mayfield, the Johnson C. Smith University Scholarship of $150 and the Warren County Teachers Association scholarship of $75; Shannon Turner, the NCC scholarship of $1,000 and the Multi-County Civic Educational scholarship of $114.

Viola Watson, the Southeastern Business College scholarship of $200; Margaret V. Pulley, the Fayetteville State Teachers College Scholarship of $1,600; Annie Burnett, the Shaw University scholarship of $1,200; Corintha Diane Houser, the Shaw University scholarship of $150 and a work-aid grant of $75; and Bauzet Spruill, the St.

Augustine College scholarship of $150 per semester.

The nine scholarship winners were among a record class of 139 students who received diplomas at the schools commencement exercises May 30.

Dr. Frank B. Weaver, state supervisor of elementary education for the State Department of Public Instruction, delivered the commencement address. He is a former teacher and principal of the Hawkins Elementary School.

Another speaker with past connections with the local high school delivered the annual baccalaureate sermon. The Rev. Kenneth Martin, a Hawkins graduate, is currently band director and professor of music at Lane College in Jackson, Tenn.

Fred Hurst Wins $500

Frederick Mark Hurst, Jr., John Graham High School Senior, received the Warren Cotton and Fertilizer Company's $500 scholarship during commencement exercises at the local school on Thursday night of last week.

Hurst, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hurst, will attend Wesleyan College, Rocky Mount, and work toward a B.S. degree leading to medicine.

Other scholarship winners were: Cassandra Carly Jones, the Future Teachers of America's $300 scholarship; Myra Jeanette Reavis, the Warrenton Woman's Club's $150 scholarship. She will work toward a B.S. degree in Nursing at East Carolina College, Greenville.

The Ward Scholarship recipient was Harriet Joan Cheek. In addition several Ward scholarships were continued for those already in college.

Joyce Weaver and Joan Short were recipients of loans from the Warrenton Educational Foundation.

Betty Delores Dickerson received the Salutatorian Award, and Harriet Joan Cheek received the Valedictorian Award.
