Hotel Roof Needs Repairs, Board Told; Commissioners Study Details Of New Fire Truck

The roof of the town-owned Hotel Warren needs repairing, Fred Hurst, chairman of the hotel committee, told the Board of Town Commissioners at their regular meeting Monday night.

The cost of the material for covering the roof is estimated at $997.00. Hurst said the cost of applying the material was not revealed.

While agreeing that the roof must be repaired, the board deferred any action until after it is determined whether or not the Hotel Corporation, lessor of the hotel, will finance its lease.

The commissioners agreed to pay some $75.00 difference in cost between a 6-inch and 8-inch sewer line at Neal's Service Station on the McConnell-Liberta Road. In planning to extend the line to the service station, the water committee had agreed that a larger line would be needed in order to extend the line up the Macon road to serve a number of homes the owners of which have requested sewer connection.

Most of the time of the three-hour session of the board was taken up with a discussion of a new fire truck for the town. Twenty-five years ago the town bought a modern fire truck and financed its purchase with funds raised through a bond issue. This truck is now considered obsolete and for sometime the board has been discussing the need for and purchase of a new truck.

Monday night Dave Ross, representative of Baker Equipment Engineers of Charlotte, was present before the board to present reasons why the town should buy a truck from his company. He brought with him a truck, which the commissioners inspected.

Following the inspection, Ross described details and advantages of his truck, and the costs of the various models. The discussion lasted for nearly two hours with no commitments by the board.

The commissioners did not discuss methods of paying for a fire truck, expected to cost between $12,000 and $15,000. Ross told the commissioners that his company would give five-year terms on a truck.

Funds Are Raised For Littleton Building

LITTLETON — President Dennis Rose of the Littleton Development Corporation announced yesterday that sufficient funds had been pledged to insure the beginning of construction of a basic industrial building in Littleton.

The president and secretary were authorized by the board of directors at a meeting Monday night to enter into a contract for construction of the building and erection is expected to begin within 10 days. Additional pledges are still being accepted to reduce the amount of money to be borrowed.

The building will be 25,000 sq. feet in area, of brick and steel construction and will be located on a seven-acre tract on U. S. Highway No. 152, adjacent to the fair grounds. The rear wall of the building will be designed so that it can be removed for further expansion of the facility. The mechanical features of the building such as lighting, heating, plumbing, air conditioning, etc., will be installed to suit the needs of any industry deciding to locate in the building after the industry and the community enter into an agreement for the purchase of the lease of the building.

It is proposed that the structure be erected by the Clark Building Company of Greensboro, and the sale of the building to an industry will be handled by Carroll V. Singleton and Associates of Henderson who are active in the industrial real estate field.

Warrenton Man Hooks Fly Into Nose Of Muskrat While Fishing

If it is unusual it is apt to have happened at Warrenton. The daily press has recounted the breaking into a store of a deer and the story of the man biting off another's thumb and spitting it out. But it remained for a Warrenton fisherman to haul in a muskrat at the end of his fishing line.

While fly fishing in the pond at the edge of the No. 8 fairway at the Warrenton Golf Course on Tuesday, F. P. Whitley, administrator of Warren General Hospital, noticed a muskrat swimming with his head out of the water. Whitley promptly cast the fly toward the swimming muskrat some 40 feet away.

To the surprise of Whitley and no doubt to the surprise of the muskrat, the hook lodged in the tip of the muskrat's nose. After a struggle, which Whitley said was equal to that of landing a sizeable bass, the rodent was hauled ashore.

But when the muskrat was landed Whitley had no way at hand of killing the animal, but he was equal to the occasion. Keeping a tight line on the rodent, he led it across the No. 1 fairway to the edge of the woods where he found a stick and killed it.

Whitley said that he had nothing against muskrats, but they are doing considerable damage to the pond dam and efforts are underway to get rid of them before they do further damage. He did not indicate that his method would be pursued by others in this effort.

Not only did Whitley land the muskrat, but he had an eye-witness to the event. He was accompanied by the pond by his father-in-law, J. B. Barron, of Wilson.
