School Board Plans Administrative Bldg.

The Warren County Board of Education plans to build an administrative building here with work expected to be started this summer. Thirty-five thousand dollars has been appropriated for this purpose, J. Rodger Peeler, superintendent of schools, said yesterday.

John Thompson, Rocky Mount architect, was employed by the board of education in session here Monday night, following a discussion of the project. Peeler said that a site would have to be found for the building. He said the board of education was under the impression that the building could be located on the lot back of the court house, upon which the county has an option. He said the board learned otherwise when they met with the commissioners Monday night to discuss the school budget.

In Tentative Budget

Warren County Tax Rate Upped Five Cents

Warren County's tax rate will be 5c higher for the fiscal year 1963-64 than it was for the 1962-63 year under a tentative budget presented by the board of county commissioners on Monday night. If the tentative budget is approved by the board after lying open for public inspection for 20 days, the 1963-64 rate will be $1.75, compared with $1.70 for 1962-63. The tentative budget calls for a total outlay of $734,863.37, of which $224,678.10 is for schools. However, a good part of this money is raised from sources other than taxes, including intangibles taxes, fees, and State and Federal funds allotted to the county, principally for welfare purposes. Actually less than half of the county's budget is raised by ad valorem taxes. Taxpayers are asked to fork over a total of $323,848.37, of which $188,228.10 is asked for school purposes. This includes $101,970.00 for current expenses; $64,222.00 for capital outlay; and $26,236.10 for debt service. The state intangible tax accounts for $16,725.00. Funds appropriated by the State and Federal governments amount to $67,769.00. A sizeable amount of the revenue to be raised comes from surplus carried over in several departments. A big bite—more than $50,000—is taken from the consumers of alcoholic beverages. ABC stores are to contribute $32,000, while the commissioners estimate that the county will receive $19,000 from the state from the sale of wine and beer in the county. The operation of the schools call for the greatest outlay of funds, but it costs quite a bit to operate the county, pay the salaries of various employees, collect the taxes, run the courts, donate to a number of agencies, and in general keep the county running. The cost of this service is $163,890.46, next to that of schools. In addition, the commissioners must find money for the County Accountant; for the farm and home demonstration agents; for Public Health; for the Poor Fund; for Aid to the Blind, O. A. A. Grants, A. D. C. Grants and A. P. T. D. Grants; for Welfare Department Administrative Expense; for Hospital Maintenance; and to make a $3,150.00 payment on the bill for revaluation.

Local Telephone Co. Is Being Expanded

Improvement and expansion of the Warrenton telephone exchange is now underway. H. T. Pitts, local manager for Carolina Telephone, said yesterday that a $70,000 program is in progress to replace and expand the company's central equipment here. Included in the project will be installation of equipment to provide facilities to serve 250 new main telephones for subscribers in this area. This equipment will make possible service to new subscribers and will permit better grades of service to present subscribers, he said. Pitts said that the growth of Warrenton in recent years has brought about an increased demand for telephone service. This demand has taxed the capacity of present equipment. Telephones in this area have increased from 960 to more than 1,780 in the past ten years, Pitts said. "The construction program here is in keeping with Carolina Telephone's continuing program to fulfill the telephone needs of the communities it serves," he pointed out. Pitts said, "The new improvement and expansion program at Warrenton was engineered to allow for telephone growth in the future." Al Blalock Awarded $10.00 UDC Prize
