

Recorder's Court Has Heavy Docket

Warren County Recorder's Court officials got a holiday two weeks ago when a term of Superior Court was underway here. But last Friday proved to be anything but a day of rest for Recorder's Court officials.

A total of 31 cases—including 20 cases stemming from charges of motor vehicle law violations—were heard by Judge Julius Banzet during last Friday's session, the longest in recent months.

Fines totalling $885 were imposed during the session, which saw five motorists tried on charges of drunk driving.

Two defendants gave notice of appeal to Superior Court during the session and each was ordered to post appearance bond. Thomas Campbell, given a 12-month road sentence on an assault charge, posted bond of $250, while John June Lewis, fined $100 and costs in a drunk driving case, posted a $150 appearance bond.

In other cases disposed of Friday the following action was taken:

Robert West, concealed weapon, prayer for judgment continued for two years upon condition defendant remains of good behavior and pay a fine of $25 and costs.

Willie Lloyd Alston, assault, prayer for judgment continued for two years upon condition defendant not violate any of the criminal laws of the state for two years, keep the peace towards Linwood Woodard and pay costs.

Future Teachers Attend Convention

Future Teachers of John Graham High School attended the Ninth Annual State Future Teachers convention last Saturday on the campus of Duke University in Durham.

The theme of the meeting was "Creatively and Culture: Emphasis on Excellence." The highlight of the program was an address by Dr. Wilda Faust who presented the great need for teachers of excellence and pointed out the qualities that are needed to achieve this goal.

Following the morning session, the John Graham group was given an informative tour of the biological science laboratories at Duke University.

Those attending were Gail Fleming, Bonnie Gupton, Gail Tucker, Ann King, Beverly Miles, Knox Polk, Libba Massey, Ellen Shearin, Kitty Burwell, Robert Pittard, Ronnie Hight, Lee Diamond, Joe King, John Ayscue, Sandra Ayscue, Randy Warlick, Jack Pinnell, Brenda Copley, Sylvia McDowell, Richard Hunter, Sue Satterwaith, Nettie Pitchford, and Carolyn Blackwell. Misses Janice Allen and Carolyn Teachey, James T. Wilson, Tommy Peoples and Mrs. Margaret Williams, FTA adviser, accompanied the group to Durham.—Ann L. King, Reporter.

SCHOOLS

ed; in which scope and sequence of instructional content are clearly delineated; and in which available instructional equipment, materials and supporting services are listed.

North Warren does not have a written course of study for any subject in its curriculum.

—The school keeps up-to-date in the acquisition and use of State-adopted textbooks, teachers' guides, and supplementary materials in all areas of instruction.

Johnson Rites Are Held At Graveside

Graveside services for Miss Willie Hall Johnson of Raleigh were held Wednesday at noon at Fairview Cemetery, following funeral services in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Raleigh, of which she was a member. The service was performed by the Rev. James McDowell Dick.

Miss Johnson, a native of Warrenton, died at her home in Raleigh on Monday afternoon. She had been employed by the First Citizens Bank & Trust Co. in Raleigh from 1934 until her retirement in 1954.

Survivors include her mother, Mrs. Bettie Hall Johnson of the home; three sisters, Mrs. William H. Hughes, Jr., and Mrs. A. W. Knox, both of Raleigh, and Mrs. Walter R. White of Warrenton.

—North Warren is deficient in up-to-date supplementary materials.

—The school library is a resource center used as an extension of the classroom.

The North Warren library facilities are inadequate in available space, library service, books and work area.

—All teachers hold Class A or Graduate Certificates in their area of teaching responsibility.

The staff at North Warren includes one teacher with a B Certificate.

—The school has a basic collection of appropriate and usable supplementary books and the collection contains titles in all subject areas to accommodate the total instructional program.

North Warren High School has a total of 674 supplementary books for all subjects. An additional 2100 are needed to average six per pupil.

—The collection is varied to permit selectivity in reading and interest levels in accordance with the differing abilities and needs.

The North Warren collection is not sufficiently varied.

The central library has a balanced collection averaging, as a minimum, eight volumes per pupil and including a basic collection of 3000 titles properly catalogued and shelved.

The North Warren High School library contains 2328 books—an average of five books per pupil. To meet the recommendation of eight books per pupil, an additional 1480 books are needed.

—The central library has a basic collection of recordings, films, filmstrips and slides all properly catalogued and conveniently stored.

The North Warren central library does not provide space for the audiovisual collection, collection of basic, up-to-date professional books and pamphlets that provide resource material for curriculum development, professional growth, and guidance in the selection and use of instructional media.

The North Warren collection is inadequate in number of volumes, copyright dates and scope.

—The central library is attractively furnished with adequate and appropriate library furniture, and the library reading room has floor space to accommodate 10% of the enrollment, allowing 25 square feet per reader, or 35 students—whichever is larger.

The library reading room at North Warren is 16 ft. x 23 ft.—368 square feet. The minimum recommendation calls for 1200 square feet of floor space for a high school enrollment of 476.

—The central library has a work production area available for previewing, preparing instructional materials and for performing the essential library operational activities.

There is no space in the North Warren library for performing any of the above listed activities.

—The library has accommodations for reading, listening, and viewing.

—The North Warren library has accommodations for reading only.

—The science laboratory is equipped to implement a science program based on experimentation.

North Warren does not have an adequately equipped science room. All experimentation involving water must be confined to the teacher's demonstration desk. There is a need for more storage area for science equipment and chemicals.

—Facilities and supplies essential to caring for sick and or injured children are provided and such care is rendered in accordance with specific written procedures.

North Warren does not have an infirmary. The facilities in the home economics room are used during emergencies.

—The school buildings meet the minimum requirements of applicable building codes.

The North Warren gymnasium, classrooms in the basement of the gymnasium and the classrooms in the old hand building do not meet the minimum building code requirements.

—The school buildings have thermal, sonic and visual conditions which do not interfere with the educational activities of the school.

The North Warren gymnasium, classrooms in the basement of the gymnasium and the classrooms in the old hand building are heated with coal stoves which produce uneven heat and noise.

—The school buildings have provisions for controlling both artificial and natural lighting.

The artificial lighting is substandard in all the North Warren high school buildings except the agriculture shop. The deficiency is due to the type and number of light fixtures.

—The school buildings have accommodations for guidance and services, including private office, reception room and nearby, a conference room suitable for small group conferences and testing.

The North Warren guidance accommodations consist of a small private office.

Next week Littleton High School will be examined in the last of a series of high school accreditation.

Wee Wisdom

It was Halloween and a neighbor answered her doorbell and confronted a wee girl beautifully costumed but without a mask.

As the child opened her bag to stow away her treat, the neighbor noticed that her mask lay at the bottom of the bag.
