

Crews Says Gag To Be Repealed, Amended

Chapel Hill—The Speaker Ban Law will be repealed or amended next year, although it will be no easy task, a top-ranking State Democratic official predicted here Thursday night.

Democratic Party Chairman W. Lunsford Crew told a meeting of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Junior Chamber of Commerce, "I am convinced that in 1965 legislators and educators thinking and reasoning together will amend or repeal this law."

The Speaker Ban, enacted in the closing days of last year's General Assembly, prohibits known Communists or persons who have taken the Fifth Amendment in loyalty investigations from speaking on State-supported campuses.

Mr. Crew said, "Repeal of this law will not be as simple as some might think. It is a difficult matter to explain academic freedom and freedom of the mind to many people throughout North Carolina."

The Roanoke Rapids State Senator, who prefaced his prepared remarks by saying that he was speaking on his own and not in his capacity as State Democratic chief, also praised Town officials for their handling of recent racial demonstrations.

Mr. Crew said, "I know those people who introduced this bill (the Gag Law) in the General Assembly; they are men of good faith and they believe in higher education, but they and other members of the General Assembly were living in a world of fear."

"I hasten to say that it is my firm belief that, if this bill had been given the proper consideration with the usual committee meetings, it would never have passed the General Assembly. I was the first member of the Senate to oppose this bill, and I must admit I arose with some reluctance. I realized that the public in general would feel that any person who opposed the bill would be labeled as friendly to communism. I do not fear communism nearly so much as I fear the ultimate consequences of tyranny of man's mind, and shackles that might be placed upon the voices and minds of Americans."

"As long as men are free to have new ideas, to discuss these ideas, to experiment, to ask questions, to seek answers, this country will continue to grow and be in keeping with the changing times."

"If I were the chancellor or president of a college campus, or if I were a student leader, I would be most reluctant to invite a known Communist to the campus, but I believe, that our chancellors and presidents are far better equipped and experienced in coping with the changing problems of students than legislators and laymen."

"I am fearful that if we eliminate Communists that we might next eliminate Baptists, Methodists, or Catholics, or even Democrats (if the Republicans ever get control of the Legislature)."

"A University or a state that does not allow free thought will not continue to produce such men as Dr. Frank Graham, Paul Green, Fred Koch, Dr. Phillips Russell, Dr. Horace Williams, Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges, Governor Terry Sanford, Dr. Aycock, and Dr. Friday. These men may not always be popular in their time, but they will be great men for all time."

"The law is not as bad for what it is, as for what it may bring in years to come."

Mr. Crew commended Town and University officials, students and faculty members for the patience and tolerance they have shown in handling recent demonstrations in Chapel Hill.

"The solution to the Town's problems," he said, "will be found not in the streets, and not in violation of the law, but within the hearts and minds of men working together around a conference table."

"Many people are confused because they are still unwilling to admit that we have a problem. I believe that the problems that plague us today will surely, in the not too distant future, pass away. They will only be solved at the conference tables."
