Kerr Lake Scene Of Two-State Celebration Monday Afternoon

By CHARLES BARBER in The Durham Herald
KERR LAKE—North Carolina and Virginia paid tribute here Monday to the 20-millionth visitor to the Kerr Lake Reservoir and the five-billionth kilowatt hour of power delivered by the $87 million facility.
The governors of both states, high ranking officers from the Army Corps of Engineers, and other state and municipal leaders joined together for the special ceremony which was attended by hundreds. The event capped three days of special activity planned for this special occasion.
William S. Hinton, Jr. of Richmond, Va., was honored as the 20-millionth visitor, and received prizes totaling more than $1,500 from donors of both states.
Monday's ceremony was held at North Bend Recreation area on the Virginia side of the Kerr dam near Boydton, and was sponsored jointly by the Roanoke River Basin Association of Virginia and North Carolina and the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina told the gathering Monday the South has discovered it has the potential "to make it the most productive and most prosperous section of the country."
"Since making the discovery," he said, "we have made tremendous advances. There is more stability in our region today than ever before in history. It is true in North Carolina. It is true in Virginia. It is true throughout the South."
Sanford said the Kerr Dam project is an excellent example of how we can convert an enemy of man — flood waters — into a benefactor of man. "The dam shows what can be done through the cooperation of state and federal governments."
Gov. Albert S. Harrison, Jr. of Virginia called the dam a great monument to the progress of Virginia and North Carolina and the ceremonies Monday as a fitting tribute to the monument and the states.

Also appearing on the program were Maj. Gen. A. C. Welling, South Atlantic Division engineer; Col. J. S. Grygiel, district engineer of the Wilmington District office; Joseph Hammack, Virginia state director of industrial planning; Virginia State Sen. C. W. Cleaton; Mrs. Terry Sanford; N. C. Democratic Party Chairman Lunsford Crew; Brig. Gen. James R. Townsend of the N. C. Department of Water Resources; Clyde P. Patton, executive director of the N. C. Wildlife Association; A. H. Parsons, Col. Conrad Sturges and T. W. Ellis, Jr., of the Henderson Chamber of Commerce; and Linwood Holt of the Clarksville, Va., Chamber of Commerce.

Club Gives $500 To Hospital

The Norlina Ruritan Club has made a donation of $500 to the Warren General Hospital, Dave Richards, administrator, announced yesterday.
The gift by the Norlina club was the outgrowth of a meeting of various leaders or representatives of community clubs throughout the county, called a few weeks ago by the Warrenton Woman's Club, when support to the hospital was pledged by the clubs.
Richards said that several other organizations, the Warrenton Lions Club, the Norlina Woman's Club, and the Citizens Bank, have each contributed $100 to the hospital. Hy Diamond, Harold Skillman and Miss Nora L. King of Warrenton have contributed as individuals. The American Legion Auxiliary of Warrenton, the Afton-Elberon Ruritan Club, the Warrenton Woman's Club and the Little Garden Club have also added to the extension fund.
Sufficient funds have now been gathered to obtain the services of an architect and complete the plans and specifications for the 500-foot addition.
Richards said the addition is a major step toward completing accreditation of the hospital. It will add additional space in the current laboratory and x-ray facilities. In addition, space will be provided for a medical records library, staff office and out-patient area.
"I hope that all clubs and organizations in the entire county will help us," Richards said. "Many have already done so. In addition to already contributed funds, many organizations have pledged further or new assistance. Our hospital is a county affair and should have the total support of all citizens."

Third Oral Polio Clinic To Be Held On Sunday

Modified Voting Registration Order Affects Warren County

A modified order concerning voting registration in Halifax County issued by Federal Judge John D. Larkins affects Warren County as well as Halifax County.
Following a hearing Wednesday concerning with modification of a cut-off period for registrants, Judge Larkin asked defense attorney Frank B. Banzet to inform Warren County of the Halifax situation to "prevent a similar situation there."

T. T. Clayton, Negro attorney, Samuel Mitchell and William Kuntzler as attorneys for the Negro plaintiffs said he had come prepared to institute action on behalf of Warren voters if Judge Larkins had not issued his warning.

Warren County election officials have denied that there has been any plan to delay or obstruct the registration of Negro voters.
Judge Larkin ruled Wednesday that with one exception Halifax County election officials have complied with a court order to speed up voter registration procedures.
The exception said the judge, resulted from a misinterpretation of his order that registrars take no longer than five minutes to test a single voter for literacy.
In Warren County registrars were told by election officials to use a 10-minute period.
Judge Larkin issued the order last Friday after Negroes in Halifax County had complained that registrars were engaged in slow-down tactics in the registration of Negroes.
"It was not intended, of course, that the application should be cut off in the middle of a sentence," Judge Larkin said at a hearing Wednesday. "The spirit of the order is what I expected to be carried out."
The hearing was called by the judge to determine whether his order restraining Halifax officials from delaying registrations of voters should be made permanent.
Larkins said he was "convinced that efforts had been made by respondents to comply" with the U. S. Eastern District Court order.
He ordered that his restraining order be dissolved as of Wednesday, and said he would enter a modified order Thursday morning clarifying the five-minute time limit.
PROVISIONS OF ORDER
The restraining order had instructed election officials to:
—Process three applicants for registration at the same time when lines formed.
—Give immediate notice of registration places—other than registrars' homes—where citizens could register conveniently.

The third and final polio clinic will be held Sunday, May 17, when oral vaccine will be given at the Warren County Health Center at Warrenton, the Norlina Woman's Club building at Norlina, and the Afton-Elberon Elementary School Buildings.
The hours of each clinic will be from 12 noon to 5 p. m. More than 10,000 persons attended the other two clinics, and Dr. R. S. Cline said yesterday that he hopes that attendance will reach this mark Sunday. He stressed the fact that all three doses are needed for full immunization against all three types of polio.
The clinics are sponsored by the Warren County Medical Society in cooperation with the State Board of Health, and Dr. Cline, president of the Medical Society, is director of the clinics. He is being assisted by other physicians, pharmacists, nurses and scores of volunteers.
A charge of 25¢ for each dose is made at the clinic, and while all who can do so are expected to pay, no one will be refused the vaccine for lack of funds. Dr. Cline expressed his pleasure at the donations made at the second clinic, held on April 19, when numbers of those receiving the vaccine made extra donations to cover the cost of those failing to pay. He said he hopes that this practice will be continued Sunday. The small fee is to cover the cost of the vaccine and incidental expenses.
Those who will attend the Kennedy Memorial Library Fund celebration at Chapel Hill on Sunday will have an opportunity to make up the missed dose Sunday. Dr. Cline said that Friday, May 22, from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. will be "Make-Up" day. This, he said, will be strictly for those who were sick or out of town on Polio Sunday.

Mrs. Rose Kennedy To Attend Exercises

Mrs. Rose Kennedy, mother of the late President John F. Kennedy, will be present at Kenan Memorial Stadium in Chapel Hill Sunday when the state pays tribute to her son.
Bignall Jones, Kennedy Library Fund chairman for Warren County, said that he has about 20 tickets left for the event and that he would hold these tickets for Warren County citizens desiring to attend the ceremonies until Saturday at noon. They will be sold on a first-come, first serve basis, he said.
The special program, to be held in Kenan Stadium at 3 p. m. will offer an opportunity for every citizen to pay final respects to the memory of the slain chief executive.
Governor Terry Sanford said "this is North Carolina's way of saying to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and her children that we recognize their loss of the head of their family while he was also the head of our country." The Governor urged that citizens from every county attend the event.
Dr. Billy Graham, noted North Carolina evangelist, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and others will highlight the tribute program. The University of North Carolina band will provide special music.
All seats are reserved. Each adult ticket will cost $10, with the money going as an individual contribution to help build the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library. The name of each contributor will be sent to Mrs. Kennedy, along with a complete film of the event itself.

General Chairman Hugh Morton of Wilmington pointed out that each adult admission will provide a free ticket so that any child under 15 may also attend this historic event. The program is sponsored by a state-wide committee of representative citizens on a completely non-partisan basis.
Each county has a ticket chairman and a committee of volunteers at work selling tickets and making plans for attendance at the May 17 program, Morton said. Tickets may also be ordered directly from the Governor's Office, State Capitol, Raleigh, and the county of the sender will be credited for the contribution.
Presentation of North Carolina's total contribution to the Kennedy Library will be made by Governor Sanford at the close of the tribute program in Kenan Stadium. A ranking member of the Board of Trustees of the Kennedy Library will be present to accept the funds in behalf of Mrs. Kennedy and the Board.
President Lyndon B. Johnson, who serves as honorary chairman of the Kennedy Memorial Library Board, has commended North Carolina for its leadership in being the first state to undertake its campaign for voluntary contributions for the Library.

Funeral Rites For Miss Rowe Jones Held On Tuesday

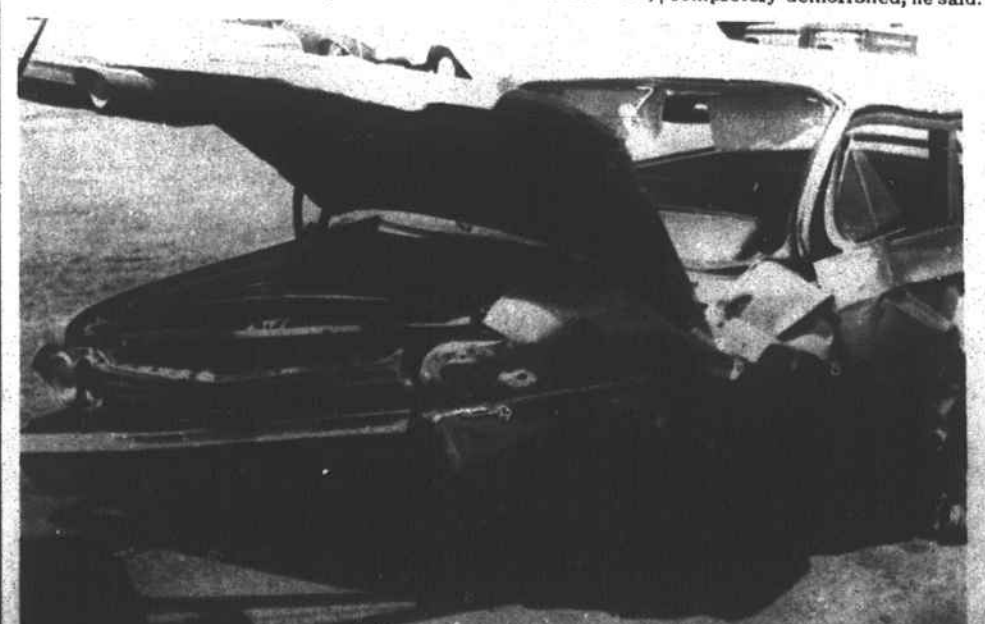

Funeral services for Miss Rowe Jones, 77, who died here early Monday morning, were conducted at Emmanuel Episcopal Church Tuesday at 3 p. m. by the rector, the Rev. J. M. Stone. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery.
Miss Jones, the daughter of the late George Feild and Adele Smith Jones, was born near Elberon on August 18, 1887, in Warren County, but came to Warrenton while quite young, and made her home here for the remainder of her life. She was a life-long member of Emmanuel Episcopal Church.
She is survived by a sister, Mrs. W. H. Dameron, of Warrenton, and a brother, Ernest Jones, of Evansville, Illinois.

Rooker Hurt In Wreck

Herman Rooker, former star athlete at John Graham High School, was seriously hurt when the car he was driving was wrecked around 5 a. m. Saturday morning on the Henderson road near Brown's Church.
Rooker, who fell asleep while driving, allowing his car to run off the road, received a severe scalp wound, had two bones in his ankle chipped and the ankle badly bruised.

Following the accident, Rooker was taken to Maria Parham Hospital in Henderson on an early-rising farmer who had witnessed the accident. He is reported to be recovering satisfactorily, and his father, John E. Rooker of Warrenton, said yesterday that his son is expected to return home either Saturday or Monday. Young Rooker is a student in an industrial school at Goldsboro, where his twin brother, Therman, also attends school.

The senior Rooker said that his son, driving a 1963 Chevrolet car, was returning to Warrenton after taking his date to her home at Henderson, following the John Graham High School Junior - Senior Prom here last Friday night, when he fell asleep. The car struck a ditch and a mail box and was completely demolished, he said.

Time For Wheat Acreage Signup To Run To May 22

Due to the short time originally provided for wheat producers to sign up to participate in the voluntary wheat diversion program, the signup date has been extended through Friday, May 22, T. F. Watson, ASCS office manager, announced yesterday.
Farm operators with wheat allotments are urged to visit the ASCS office and discuss the provisions of this program not later than May 22, Watson said.

Resigns
Amos L. Capps, chairman of the Warren County Board of Commissioners, recently resigned as chairman of the Warren County Board of Health, it was learned this week. Dr. Walter White was appointed as his successor.
