Negro Boy Held For Shooting

A teen-age Negro boy-Rufus Ballentine — is being held in Warren County jail charged with different county by the county is a county by the county by the county is a county by the co waylaying and secret assault with intent to kill as the result of firing a rifle at Orr's Service Station at Manson on Monday night, around 8:30.

A companion, John Clark, charged with disorderly conduct, is being held under $300

According to Deputy Sheriff Bonnie Stevenson, the shooting was the outgrowth of a disturbance at the service station on Sunday afternoon when Orr drove a group of young Negro boys from his store, after engaging in a fight with one of the boys. Orr said that the boys were disorderly and were using foul and profane language. On Monday night, according to Stevenson, four boys went to the home of Rufus Ballentine where they obtained a rifle and returned to a site on the railroads about 125 yards from the service station, and where Balentine allegedly fired several shots into the front of the building. John Clark is said to have been with Rufus at the time but is not charged with the shooting.

Also going to the home of Rufus Ballentine to obtain the rifle were Johnny Blackman and Nathaniel Ballentine, who waited down the tracks a distance from where Rufus Ballendition was described as fair, tine allegedly fired the shots.

Warren County May Take Part In Program

Warren County will most likely participate in the Federal Economic Act of 1964. This was indicated by the Board of County Commissioners at their afternoon session Tuesday following the receipt of a request by James L. White, State coordinator, that the county participate in the program, and inviting the commissioners to attend a State Conference in Raleigh on Sept. 14-15.

In his letter inviting the commissioners to attend the Conference in Raleigh, White pointed out that 'the primary aid to counties from the Federal Government will come in the form of grants to countles which bring together all local as incles and leadership into the preparation of a comprehensive community action proposal. Preparation of such a proposal will involve close co-ordination-of all county, municipal, and non-profit agencies involved in meeting the problems of those people in the community living under condi-

Earlier in the afternoon, Welfare Superintendent Julian Farrar discussed the program with the Commissioners and said that he hoped they could attend the Raleigh meeting. He said that while the program was in no sense a welfare program, he felt that it would be of benefit to the Welfare Department.

Later in the day, Negro Agricultural Agent, L. C. Cooper, making his regular monthly appearance before the board briefly touched on the ECO act, and said that he felt that it would be beneficial in his

Untied Weed Prices Are Much Lower

The Warrenton Tobacco Market began its 1964 sales Thursday morning with a good break and good prices and with farmers seemingly pleased with the prices offered.

Weldon Hall, a former veteran buyer, was heard to remark that the opening sales here Thursday were the best that he has ever seen.

The market opened with first sale at Currin's Warehouse at 9 o'clock when Luke Lea, auctioner, began his chant asking for the high dollar. No official averages were available at press time, but a sample of piles showed that tied tobacco sold well, but that untied leaf tended to depress the market average.

A count of 100 piles of tied tobacco showed an average price of 59.94. Fifty-five piles of untied tobacco averaged 39¢. The average for the 155 piles was slightly under 52 cents.

John Graham To Play At Weldon: Norlina At Home

John Graham High School football team opens its season tonight at Weldon against a strong Weldon team that won a one-sided victory over Scotland Neck last Friday night. With a squad of more than 40 and with a strong back, Coach Jimmie Webb expects the Warrenton team to give a good account of itself tonight. He said that while the team had been looking good in practice this week, one could not judge a team's real strength until after they had a game or more under their belts.
