Warren Farm Bureau Drive For Members Headed By Robertson

Bureau's annual membership enrollment drive is now underway with a goal of 500 farm families on the rolls this year, J. K. Kilian, county president, said yesterday.

"Farmers continue to decline in number every year," Kilian said, "still Farm Bureau membership is increas-It shows that farmers realize they have to work together as a team in order to get things done these days."

E. C. Robertson has been named county enrollment chairman. Dennis Harris will serve with him as will the other county directors. Members of the enrollment drive will meet preceeding the regular monthly meeting of the pianist, and Mrs. Baumgartner of Basel, Switzerland, are spending this week at Warrenton as guests of Mrs. James Polk.

Mrs. Polk's son, Tasker, has studied in the Master Class of the Conservatorium of Music in Switzerland under Mr. Baumgarten for the past three years.

Mr. Baumgarten is giving a number of concerts in this country. He inaugurated the 1966-67 concert series at the North Carolina Museum of Art in Raleigh the past Sunday when he was heard in his second piano recital of his first American Tour. His initial appearance in the United States took place the previous Sunday in New York

Mr. Baumgartner was born in Switzerland but pursued his musical education in Munich and Cologne in Germany. In 1937 he was appointed head of the piano department at the famed Basel Conservatorium of Music in Switzerland.

In addition to playing numerous piano recitals throughout Europe, Mr. Baumgartner has concertized extensively with the distinguished cellist, Emanuel Feuremann. From 1941 the pianist accompanied Pablo Cassals in a series of concerts.

Graham Hosts Louisburg; Norlina At Franklinton

John Graham, which lost a | hard-fought game, 19-13, at Enfield last Friday night, will play Louisburg here tonight.

Norlina, routed on its home field by powerful Weldon, 33-

9, will travel to Franklinton. Enfield won its third triumph as it turned back a scrapping Warrenton team but it was aided in its efforts by a couple of costly fumbles on the part of the visitors. Neither team scored in the first quarter, but both teams scored in the second and John Graham took the lead 7 to 6 as Lyles ran the extra point. Enfield came back to score and made the extra point. John Graham again scored but failed to make the extra point and the score was knotted 13all. Enfield scored the winning touchdown in the third quarter when Harris went 24 yards on a reverse.

Halfback House of the Warrenton team carried 15 times for a total of 48 yards to be the offensive leader for the Yellow Jackets. In defense Shearin led the charge.

In the Norlina game Weldon's Terry Frazier got away for touchdown runs of 72 and 62 yards as the visitors took their fourth straight victory. The visitors scored at least one touchdown in each period. Norlina could get no closer than the visitors 20-yard line which they reached twice.

Chickens Sell Well At 4-H Show, Sale

It seemed that dollars were flying to catch the chickens as bidding progressed at the 4-H Poultry Show and Sale at the Warren County Fairgrounds last Friday, L. B. Hardage, Extension Agricultural Agent in charge, said yesterday.

The average sale price per pullet was $3.06 with the top price being $3.75 he said. The blue ribbon winners this year were Philip Fleming, Richard Coleman, Annie Craft, Alvin Hawkins, Jerry Holtzman, Mary Lee Meek. Gale Mushaw, David Paschall, Gene Richardson, Yarborough Spruill and Donnell Williams. Each of these members received $8.00 in prize money.

Red ribbon winners were Sharon Moseley and Noel Robertson. They each received $6.00 in prize money.

This annual 4-H Poultry Show and Sale is sponsored by Sears Roebuck Foundation in cooperation with the Agricultural Extension Service. Roebuck Foundation Sears started the poultry chain by buying the first chicks and giving them to 4-H club members. Sears also furnishes the prize money each year. The 4-H club members are given 100 baby chicks in March and through the year carry the poultry project. In September, twelve pullets are brought to the show and sale, where they are judged and then the twelve sold at auction. The money received from the pullets is then put into the 4-H Club Fund to buy chicks for another year. Judges for this year's show were Harry C. Simmons, Vance County Agricultural Extension Chairman, and Marshall Bowden. County Agricultural Extension agent. T. B. Creech was auctioneer for the sale.

Farmers To Vote On Nickels For Know-How

A North Carolina farm program that has caught the imagination of agricultural leaders nation wide is having a birthday Nov. 22. The unique Nickels for

Know - How program that allows farmers to give direct support to agricultural research and education at North Carolina State University was launched 15 years

On Nov. 22, farm families will vote for the sixth time since 1951 to decide if they will continue to support Nickels for Know-Howthrough an assessment of five cents for each ton of feed and fertilizer purchased.

Although the average farmer has contributed only about 30 cents a year through the program, total Nickels funds collected during the 15-year period totals over $2 million. This money has been used to supplement appropriated funds and to add a degree of flexibility to the North Carolina State University agricultural research, education and extension programs that otherwise would not have been possible.

The farmer - the man who pays the bill" - has h fited from these supplementary funds through new knowledge and research informa-

In addition to the ponies given away on last Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, a number of minor prizes were given to school children holding lucky numbers.

While having no connection with the fair, chances on a motorbike were sold at the fair by members of the Warrenton Rural Volunteer Fire Department. The bike was won by G. W. Poindexter, president of the Citizens Insurance and Bonding Company. A feature of the fair was 4-H Poultry Show and Sale held on Friday afternoon, which is reported in a separate story by L. B. Hardage, County Agricultural Extension Agent.

Booths

"Better Lighting" was the theme for the first place Home Demonstration Club booth at the Warren County Fair this year. In the booth, the Zion Club showed proper lighting for sewing, studying and read-

The title of the second place booth was "Use Your Talents-Save your Money." In this booth, the Paschall Home Demonstration Club showed a large variety of handmade Christmas gifts for all members of the family. The third place booth put up by the Macon Club stressed safety in the home - the title being 'Winterize your Against Hazards." Other Home Demonstration Clubs having educational booths and receiving honorable mention were Elberon, Enterprise, Coley Springs and Olive Grove. The Elberon was on selection of knives. Their most catchy title "Knives - The Spokes of a Modern Kitchen" attracted much attention among the fair goers. Enterprise selected "Color Schemes" as the theme of their colorful booth. Coley Springs stressed home and self improvement in their booth entitled "Lifting as we Climb for Better Education and Living." The economy of home sewing was very effec-
