Norlina Man Would Make Washing Easier; Patents Bath Mitt

Raldolph Rooker of Norlina, whose recently patented land anchor is being developed at North Carolina State University, has received another patent.

The latest patent is for a Bath Mitt, which was patented Oct. 11, 1966. Rooker said that he obtained the idea for the mitt while working in Alaska.

The patent covers a bath mitt in which a wash cloth is formed as a glove. This, Rooker said, avoids the sloshing of water on the floor, and is faster and more effective. It has a grip that makes it suitable for washing babies, for a wash cloth for bathing, or for any other purpose where a wash cloth is used.

Rooker said that he plans to have the mitt manufactured on a royalty basis and said that he is already in contact with a textile manufacturer.

Rooker said yesterday that he has five additional patents pending.

Mrs. Walker To Speak At Farm Bureau Meeting

Revival To Be Held At W. Plains Church

The Warren Plains Methodist Church will hold revival services from Sunday, Oct. 23, through Thursday, Oct. 27, with services each night at 7:30 o'clock, the Rev. Al Thompson, pastor, announced yesterday.

The guest minister will be the Rev. Demont Reid, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Henderson for the past two years. He went to Henderson from the First Methodist Church in Louisburg. He has also served pastorates in Burlington and Elizabeth City.

In making the announcement, Mr. Thompson said, "We are looking forward to having the Rev. Mr. Reid participate in our services. We want everyone to join us and to pray for these services. Our Methodist Board of Evangelism is calling for all our members to join in a 'Venture of Faith' this year. This is our response to this call. Faith itself challenges the individual to venture into new areas of Christian concern, both private and public. We hope all who come will respond to that challenge and will seek to respond accordingly."

Mrs. Irby Walker of Raleigh, State Farm Bureau Treasurer, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Warren County Farm Bureau to be held in the Agricultural Building here on Monday night, Oct. 24, at 7:30 o'clock, John K. Killian, president, announced yesterday.

Door prizes and refreshments will be features of the meeting, and Killian said that all bureau members, their wives and other interested persons are invited to attend the meeting.

Reports on the annual Farm Bureau membership drive will be made at this meeting. E. C. Robertson is county membership chairman. Dennis Harris is serving as women's chairman for the drive.
