master at Warrenton; Harold Campbell of the Atlanta Regional Office; G. W. Davis, Jr., carrier; Robert Ormsby, carrier; Ed Harvey, Littleton Postmaster, and Mayor W. A. Miles of Warrenton.

City Delivery Of Mail Started Here Tuesday

Davis And Ormsby Are Carriers

City delivery of mail began in Warrenton shortly after 10 o'clock Tuesday morning following ceremonies at the local postoffice attended by postal officials, a number of postmasters of the county, and other guests.

Following the ceremonies G. W. Davis, Jr., and Robert Ormsby left the postoffice with their pouches to inaugurate the service. Davis is responsible for delivery of mail to the business houses and residences of the town on a house-to-house basis. Ormsby delivered the mail to boxes at the curb of outlying districts.

Mrs. Tim Thompson, acting postmaster, said yesterday that those desiring this new type of service must apply to the postoffice for a change in their addresses. She said that forms are available at the postoffice for this purpose.

Roger Ormsby, front, and G. W. Davis, Jr., are shown leaving Warrenton Postoffice Tuesday morning as city delivery of mail is inaugurated.

Market To End Season On Tuesday

Warrenton Tobacco Market will close on next Tuesday, Nov. 22, Edgar Wood, Sales Supervisor, announced yesterday.

Wood said since several of the buyers would have to report to the Kentucky Market, the tobacco board of trade decided that it would be in the best interest of the farmers to close the market on that date.

The market has had a good season, Wood said, and is expected to have solve within the neighborhood of ten million pounds when the market closes next Tuesday.

Jaycees To Again Collect Toys For Warren Children

A Christmas toy repair program, "Toys For Tots," for children of Warren County will again be sponsored this year by members of the Warren County Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Boxes will be placed in all Esso stations and in the schools of the county for collection of toys to be repaired by Jaycees and distributed to children, Roy Edmonds, Toys for Tots chairman, announced yesterday.

Edmonds said that the program will begin Monday, Nov. 21. In addition to the collection boxes, toys will be received by any Jaycee members.

More than 800 children were given toys last Christmas, Edmonds said.

Schools To Have Two-Day Holiday

Warren County schools will be closed on both Thursday and Friday, Nov. 24 and 25, due to the Thanksgiving holiday, it was learned yesterday from the office of the Superintendent of Schools.

Business at Warrenton and over the county is expected to practically come to a standstill, with only service stations and a few other businesses remaining open.

Pinnell Funeral Held On Tuesday

Funeral services for Robert Lee Pinnell, 56, who died Sunday, were conducted at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Providence Methodist Church by the Rev. Walter Six. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Pinnell, a well known farmer of the Afton-Elberon community, was a former deputy sheriff of Warren County. He was a member of Providence Methodist Church of Afton.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Estelle S. Pinnell; two daughters, Mrs. Lucille Morris of Richmond, Va., and Mrs. Hazel Perry of Henderson; three brothers, Charlie Pinnell of Richmond, Va., Frank Pinnell of Henderson and E. Hunter Pinnell of Warrenton; one sister, Mrs. Blanche Burroughs of Warrenton; and three grandchildren.

Miss Jo Ellen McLean spent the weekend at her home in Piquay-Varna.

Differences Over Teacher Discussed

Differences between a Norlina elementary teacher and several of the school patrons who have children in her room were aired at a meeting of the Warren County Board of Education here Tuesday night.

A delegation appeared before the board and questioned teaching methods and alleged eccentricities of Mrs. Vernon Breedlove, fourth grade teacher and a member of the Norlina school faculty for the past 11 years. Principal spokesman for the group were Bill Craft and the Rev. Mack Dulin, Methodist minister, on the Zion-Jerusalem Charge, who has recently moved to Norlina.

Craft, who said that he was not trying to harm Mrs. Breedlove, told the board members that he simply wanted to clear up some things that were disturbing him as they were reflected in the behavior of his child. His child, he said, was emotionally disturbed, and hated to attend school, and he wondered if her teacher was not responsible for some of this problem. He cited examples as related to him and her mother by the child and told of experiences of other parents tending to show that Mrs. Breedlove's methods were unorthodox and might well upset the child.

The Rev. Mr. Dulin said that his child who had never had any trouble in the several schools he had attended was badly disturbed this year. He said that his is a close knit family and the relations between him and his child are close and that he has his child's confidence. He said that he was disturbed by what his child has told him and by what he has learned from others.

Mrs. Breedlove, who was accompanied to the board meeting by her lawyer, Ben Hicks of Henderson, when questioned by Craft admitted some of the allegations and denied others, and explained the reasons for her action in some of the cases. She said that she was wrong in some cases for which she was sorry. She said that she would have been glad to talk over the child's problems with the parents if they had asked her.

It was brought out that neither Mr. and Mrs. Craft nor Mr. and Mrs. Dulin had ever discussed the matter with Mrs. Breedlove, although Craft had talked with Principal Rex Gordon and with Supt. of Schools J. Roger (See TEACHER, page 2)

Early Next Week

The Warren Record will be printed next Tuesday instead of Thursday, due to the Thanksgiving holiday of Nov. 24.

The paper will be printed two days earlier than usual in order that merchants may have the benefit of Thanksgiving advertising.

All advertisers and news contributors are asked to bear the earlier date in mind and send in their copy as early as possible. Most of the copy should be in by Monday, earlier where possible. The cooperation of the public will be appreciated.

Lions Asked To Assist With Mail

Warrenton Lions were urged Friday night to assist local residents in putting up house numbers and mail boxes now that door-to-door mail delivery in Warrenton is a reality.

Mayor W. A. Miles, a Lion and chairman of the club's committee in charge of house numbering and mail box erection, expressed satisfaction with the progress of the Lions' project, but said some citizens need assistance in readying their homes for mail delivery. He said mail boxes are available from any members of the Warrenton Lions Club or from W. A. Miles Hardware Co.

Lions Club members, meeting in regular session at the Warren Plaza Inn, heard a short address on Veteran's Day by District Gov. Monroe Gardner.

Two newly elected Lions—Freddie Bartholomew and Tom Watson—were officially welcomed into the club during a brief installation ceremony conducted by Billy Lanier. The two were assigned to the membership committee by President Pete Burrows, who presided.

Group singing was led by Monroe Gardner and Duke Jones gave the invocation. A reminder of the Lions Mid-Winter Convention to be held in Kinston in January was given by Duke Miles.

Dr. Charles Bunch was a guest of E. T. Odom and Bob Baskerville was a guest of Duke Miles.

Miss Nora King visited relatives in Norfolk, Va., for several days this week.

Traylor Purchases 14 Angus Heifers

R. L. Traylor, prominent business man, banker and farmer of Norlina, purchased 14 Angus heifers at the recent Tobaccoland Angus Sale in Kinston. These heifers, each one of excellent Angus type and backed by powerful pedigrees, will form the foundation of a top Angus herd on his farm near Norlina.

Included in this purchase are five granddaughters of the International Grand Champion, Dor Mac's Bardoliermere 60, also a granddaughter each of such famous imported bulls as Pearlstone of Gaidrew, Ermitre of Haymount and Elevate of Eastfield, all champions at Perth, Scotland and sires of champions.

"We welcome the establishment of this select herd and are convinced that it will be of great benefit to our beef cattle industry in this area," Hans C. Rohdenburg, executive secretary of the North Carolina Angus Association, Inc., said yesterday in announcing Traylor's purchase.

Walker Is Speaker At PTA Meeting

Francis Walker of Durham was the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the John Graham-Boyd-Macon PTA at the John Graham High School Auditorium on Tuesday night. His subject was "The Importance of Belonging to the National Congress of the PTA."

Two projects were discussed by the members. One was concerned with the organization of a Little League Football Team as suggested by Coach Jimmie Webb. The other concerned a course in modern math.

Bud Gaston was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate the feasibility of supporting the Little League Football team. It was announced that the course in modern math would be offered if enough parents are interested.

Mrs. A. A. Wood, president, presided over the meeting, which was opened with the singing of a hymn, with Mrs. Leonard Daniel at the piano. The devotional was given by the Rev. Walter Six.

Kills Large Deer

LaVerne Griffin of Rt. 2, Louisburg, is shown with 200-lb. buck deer he killed between Warrenton and Centerville on Saturday morning. The 10-prong buck was shot from a stand. Griffin was hunting with Steve Shearin also of Rt. 2, Louisburg.

Warren County May Have Another Lake

Warren County, which is bordered on the north by Kerr and Gaston Lake, may have another lake on its southeastern border. If a dam proposed by the Army Engineers is built on the Tar River at Spring Hope in Nash County it would back up water on Fishing Creek into Warren County.

A prediction that "only one or two" proposed dam projects on the Tar River will be recommended for immediate construction has been made by Col. Beverly C. Snow, head of the Wilmington District of the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Speaking before members of the Tar River Basin Association earlier this month, Col. Snow said that while all four dam projects can be economically justified, it's "very probable" that all will not be recommended for immediate construction.

A proposal by the Corps of Engineers - currently in charge of a study being made of the Tar River Basin—would locate one dam at Gray Rock in Granville County eight miles south of Oxford, at an estimated cost of $7.8 million dollars.

Col. Snow said other dam sites are expected to be recommended on the Tar River at Spring Hope, on Swift Creek at Salem and on Fishing Creek at White Oak. The river basin study, started in 1964, is expected to be completed in 1967, Col. Snow said.

Total cost of the four dams is estimated at $38,200,000. The Spring Hope dam project has a price tag of $14 million and would be located about two and a half miles southwest of Spring Hope at the U. S. Highway 64 bridge.

The proposed dam on Fishing Creek would be located about three miles north of Red Oak and would cost an estimated $6,000,000.

Cost of the White Oak dam, to be located 10 miles west of Enfield is expected to be $9,800,000.

Following a report on the study and a description of each dam site, Col. Snow outlined some of the benefits that can be expected from the River basin development program.

The four reservoir projects would be capable of reducing flood damage by 70 per cent for the basin as a whole and would eliminate more than 90 per cent of Nash County's flood damage, he said.

Of the estimated $700,000 flood damage done annually along the Tar River and its major tributaries, the en-
