Inez Community Club And Fire Dept. House Given Coat Of Paint

By FRANK REAMS
County Ext. Chairman

COMING EVENTS

March 19-25: Poison Prevention Week.
March 22-24: Extension Agent's Conference, Durham.

FACE LIFTING

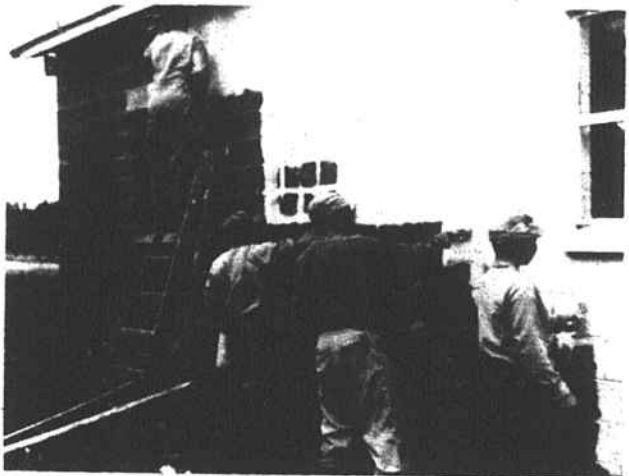

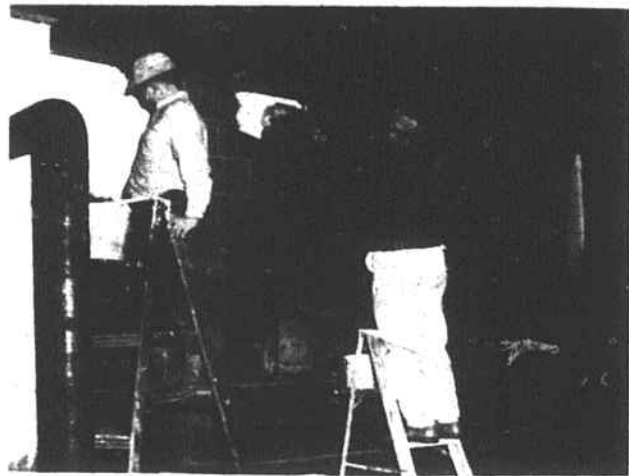

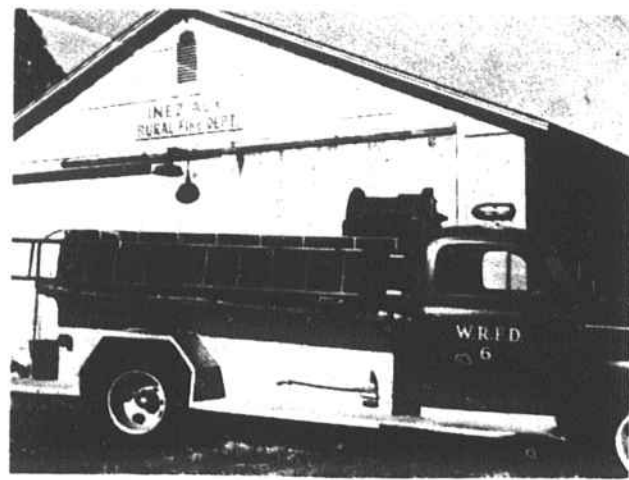

The Inez Community Club House and the Inez Auxiliary Rural Fire Department serve a vital need in that community. As in many other similar communities in Warren County, a lot of barbecued chicken, ham suppers and other means of raising money takes place to pay the tab for these community activities. All of this consumes a lot of men and women hours.

Not too many months ago, the Inez Club painted the entire club house and refinished the floor. Just a few weeks ago, the community decided the fire house needed a fresh coat of paint also, so that is what the pictures verify. One picture shows the fire truck packed outside the fire house. It was so cold that day the painters fired up the stove and worked inside. Shown painting inside (l to r) are: Harry Williams, III, and Wade Taylor. Not shown but painting just to the right of the camera were Frederick Williams, S. T. Alston, Harry Williams, Jr., and the Rev. James Coile.

The following Saturday, the weather was much warmer so those shown painting outside are: (l to r) Jimmie Fowler, Martin Fowler, Fire Chief, Harry Williams, Jr., and Harry Williams, III. It is good to observe such outstanding cooperation as this and can't help but create a more livable atmosphere in a community.

Tobacco

Observed as delegates attending the 1967 district meeting of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Stabilization at Fuquay Springs were: Erich E. Hecht and Boyd M. Reams. Those attending the 1967 Tobacco Associates annual meeting were: Dennis Harris and C. W. Curran. Both these organizations have been very vital in the tobacco program and it is hopeful tobacco producers take an occasional inventory of what is taking place. It is so easy to take some things for granted but suggest these two organizations be taken seriously.

Poison Prevention Week

It is tragic that each year in America allow 500 children to die due to accidental poisoning and another 500,000 to be poisoned non-fatally. Let us pledge that during National Poison Prevention Week - March 19-25, 1967, we will survey our homes, yards, out-buildings, and other places where poisonous materials may be found and eliminate hazardous situations. Since so many of the poisonings occur in the home, let us carry out a poison proofing operation

Poison Control Center-Duke

Please note - There has been a telephone number change for the Poison Control Center at Duke University Hospital. Please change the number to 919-684-4811, Extension 3866.

Dr. Jay Arena and Dr. Shirley Osterhout are in charge of this Poison Control Center.

following a few simple rules:

1. Keep household products and medicines out of reach and out of sight of children, preferably in a locked cabinet or closet.
2. Store internal medicines separately from other household products.
3. Keep household products in their original containers.
4. Be sure that all products are properly labelled.
5. Never give or take medications in the dark.
6. Avoid taking medications in the presence of children.
7. Refer to medications by their proper names - never as candy.
8. Clean out medicine cabinets regularly, flushing your old medications down the drain. Rinse the containers and discard them.

In addition to medications, other products such as cleaning and polishing agents, detergents, bleaches, pest control agents and petroleum products account for a share of accidental poisonings. Experts in the field are quick to point out that many children are poisoned each year by absorbing various toxic substances through the skin. Infants still in the crawling stage are most susceptible to this type of poisoning.

L. B. Hardage, Agricultural Extension Agent, is our staff pesticide coordinator and suggest that any problem you have be brought to his attention.

May Named Ranger At Nutbush

A Warrenton man has been appointed a ranger at Kerr Lake, it was disclosed this week by Howard L. Stewart, manager of the Kerr Reservoir Development Commission.

Stewart said that Alvin May of Warrenton has been appointed a ranger to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Lawrence Kearson, a member of the staff for the past two years. He left at the end of February to accept a position as biologist with the N. C. Wildlife Resources Commission.

May, a Warrenton native who recently completed service in the Navy, has been assigned to the Nutbush Bridge recreation area. Ranger Wayne Parham has been transferred from Nutbush Bridge to Satterwhite Point, filling the post formerly held by Kearson.

Stewart said considerable favorable weather during the winter has made it possible to go ahead with improvements in all park areas. "We have already had some fairly large weekend crowds," he said, "and we expect to have all facilities ready when the really big turnouts start."

TO HOLD REVIVAL

The Rev. Albert T. Ayscue, former pastor of the Wise Baptist Church will hold a revival at Ephesus Baptist Church at Smith's Crossroads from March 19 through March 24 at 7 o'clock each night. The public is cordially invited to attend. Mr. Ayscue is now pastor of the Baptist Church at Pine Level.

Porcupine Mountain State Park, in Michigan, is said to be the largest state park in the U. S.

W. MONROE GARDNER ABOUT THIS QUESTION:

"I hear that 100,000 local agents all across the country belong to a National Association of Independent Insurance Agents. Is the Warrenton Insurance Agency a member of NAI, pledged to give personal assistance and claim service to a traveler who is a client of any one of them?"

White Says Good Forage Plan Essential For Beef Cattle Profits

By NAT WHITE
Soil Conservation

A good forage program is a must for any profitable Warren County beef operation. A great deal of planning, timing, work and management is necessary to have high quality food available to a beef herd at all times. The large number of overgrazed pastures is a matter of concern to the Warren Soil Conservation District Supervisors. Most local beef herds have surplus pasture in the spring and early summer and a shortage in the hot time of summer and the winter months.

The Soil Conservation Service offers assistance to farmers in planning a sound forage program. This plan provides for grazing during the entire year with a minimum of hay and silage. In many instances cropland can be rotated between row crops and tall fescue; a rotation that benefits the row crops as well as helping provide pasture in the winter months.

A sound forage program may have 1.2 to 1.5 acres of permanent legume-grass pasture, 0.3 to 0.5 acre of tall fescue alone, and 0.3 to 0.5 acre of Bermuda grass pasture per animal unit. The permanent pasture will provide grazing in the spring, early summer, and fall. The Bermuda grass will furnish pasture during the summer and fall from May through October. The fescue alone can be used to winter the herd on after the permanent pasture has been grazed to the desired height. Surplus forage can be cut for hay and stored for use when needed.

There are many plants and combination of plants that can be used to good advantage in a beef cattle program. These plants should be chosen to fit the soils, the needs of the herd, the seasons when needed, and to complement the entire farm operation. Each year the farmer needs to plan his forage program to provide plenty of good forage each month of the year.

A farmer needs to plan a good forage program to provide adequate food for his herd at all times. The chart above will serve as a good tool to use in planning the program.

Former Pastor Here To Go To Florida

The Rev. Philip Lykes, former pastor of the North Warrenton Baptist Church, has resigned the pastorate of the New Sandy Creek Baptist Church in Vance County to accept a call to Vero Beach, Fla., to become assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Lykes left Warrenton two and a half years ago to become pastor of the Sandy Creek Church, where he will complete his pastorate on Sunday, March 19. On Easter Sunday, March 26, he will assume his duties in the new pastorate in Florida.

Mr. Lykes graduated from Southeastern Baptist Seminary in Wake Forest in 1965, and previously had graduated from Baylor University in Texas. He is a native of Harrington, Texas.

At Vero Beach, the church has many former North Carolinians as members. One is the wife of Pat Hazel. She was formerly Miss Gupton of Vance County.

New Sandy Creek has a membership of about 450, and is an outstanding rural Baptist Church in Vance County.

Mr. and Mrs. Lykes are the parents of two young daughters.
