Never Again, Says Boy After Starting A Fire

It took Harry M. Williams, | Jr., and Wade Taylor, members of the Inez Rural Volunteer Fire Department just five minutes to extinguish a fire at Inez Tuesday afternoon. This was less time than was needed to cool the seat of the pants of the sixyear-old boy who started the fire when his father finished with him.

This information was supplied this newspaper on Wednesday morning by a prominent Fork citizen who said that he wanted to remain anonymous, but wants to give Harry Williams, Jr., credit for the fine work he has been doing as a fire fighter at Inez.

The informant also said that he promised the child's mother that he would not use his name and for this reason he would not reveal the home saved by the Inez firemen. But he did say that damage to the home was negligible.

was probably fractured, and is badly swollen. He returned home Monday night.

Plaster said that Davis was blinded by lights from a car that pulled into a parking lot back of the batter's box just as the ball was lined over second and past Davis' glove.

Davis has a season's batting average of 452, with 14 hits out of 31 appearances at the plate, Plaster said. He has time he got on base.
