If you're growing soybeans in light soil, and you're not using new Dyanap, you may be growing more weeds than soybeans.
In light soils, most weed killers soak too far down. But new Dyanap liquid weed killer stays in that top layer of light soil where weed and grass seeds germinate! New Dyanap stops more kinds of weeds because you can apply it. (1) At planting, to knock out germinating weed seeds or (2) Just before soybeans sprout to get weeds and grasses on contact. New Dyanap stops the worst of your weeds. Cocklebur, pigweed, Johnson grass (from seed), crabgrass, barnyard grass, foxtail, lambsquarter, ragweed, velvetleaf and other hard-to-kill annual grasses and broadleaf weeds.
Easy to use. New Dyanap mixes easily in water. Sprays on, does its work and disappears, leaving no harmful residue.
For best results and maximum safety, follow label instructions and warnings on all chemicals.
©Dyanap is the U. S. Rubber Company registered trademark for its pre-emergence herbicide.
