

Seniors Feted At Norlina

As it is the custom of "Juniors treat Seniors" at Norlina High School, this year's Junior class presented a romantic new world of beauty to the graduating class this past Friday, May 12.

Festivities were begun as the Seniors were introduced at 8:30 by Junior class president George L. Perkinson. The music was supplied by a top-ranking group, "The Fabulous Kays," and the menu included ham biscuits, cheesestraws, mints, cake squares, and lime punch.

Throughout the evening, the nearly 200 attending guests were spellbound by their world of enchantment. The scenic motif was fairy-like with atmosphere, with such highlights as an exceedingly beautiful evergreen lobby, an arbor near the entrance made up entirely of delicate flowers, and a handsomely arranged alcove, complete with lawn furniture, foliage, a bird bath, and, yes, even white doves!

The more romantic couples made their wish over the crystal fountain, shimmering under a blue spotlight in its position at the center of the dance floor. This motif was accented with hundreds of dancing stars, starburst streamers, and a myriad of various colors from the table candles. These candles were take-home souvenirs, as were petite French poodle table decorations, and of course, the specially-arranged "Memory booklets."

Thus, an unforgettable prom was presented under the romantic theme of "Moment to Moment!"

AT WASHINGTON

Members of the Norlina Senior Class left by chartered bus for Washington, D. C., on Wednesday morning, and will return to Norlina on Saturday. The group was accompanied by Clint Hege, a member of the faculty, and Mrs. Robert Satterwhite, the mother of one of the seniors.

In 1960, Tennessee became an urban rather than a rural state.

In Memoriam

In memory of our Son and brother, Moses S. Davis, who was killed in action May 17, 1944 Bougainville, South Pacific

When you left and went to war In respond to the Draftee law; Peace and freedom then we saw, Sonny Boy, Sonny Boy.

There you fought with valiant pride With your comrades side by side; On the battle field you died, Sonny Boy, Sonny Boy.

We were waiting your return, Anxiously our hearts did yearn, When the tragic news we learned Of Sonny Boy, Sonny Boy.

Fought for freedom that we love, Died your love for it to prove, Now happy with the "Stars" above Sonny Boy, Sonny Boy.

When your blue star turned to gold Sorrow settled in our soul, Misery still is ours untold, Sonny Boy, Sonny Boy.

Now we are waiting for the time When we reach the realms sublime, Where we shall see Christ, All Divine, And meet with Sonny Boy, Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel G. Davis, Sisters: Mrs. Mary D. Williams, Mrs. Ruby D. Amos, Mrs. Mattie D. Webber, Brothers: George M. Davis and Willard E. Davis.
