Rites For Littleton Teacher Held Here

Funeral services for Mrs. Helen Gardner Bell, widow of James T. Bell of Littleton, were conducted Monday at 3 p. m. at the Warrenton Baptist Church by the Rev. Erbie Mangum and the Rev. John R. Link. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery.

Mrs. Bell, 71, a retired teacher, died Saturday at Warrenton General Hospital. She suffered a stroke on March 27, and since that time had been at a nursing home and the Roanoke Rapids Hospital from where she was transferred to Warrenton General Hospital.

The daughter of the late Franklin P. Gardner and Dora Rodwell Gardner, Mrs. Bell was born at Church Hill but as a small child moved with her parents to High Point. Upon the death of her parents she moved to Warrenton in 1913 and attended Warrenton High School, later graduating from what was then East Carolina Teachers College.

For many years Mrs. Bell taught in schools of Warren County and for the past fifteen years or more had been a teacher at Littleton High School. She retired at the end of the 1965-66 school year but was called back into service last fall due to a teacher shortage and taught until February of this year.

For a brief period following her marriage, she did not teach, but re-entered the classroom upon the death of Mr. Bell in 1953.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Allen C. Aldridge of Kinston and Miss Mamie Gardner of Warrenton; and by one brother, Walter M. Gardner of Warrenton.
