This is an architect's sketch of tourist welcome centers to be built in Warren and Northampton counties.

Welcome Station To Be Built

Construction of two Welcome Centers designed to lure tourist dollars to North Carolina is scheduled to begin early in 1968 in Northampton and Warren Counties.

The Welcome Center in Warren County will be located on the site of the Rest Center on Interstate Highway No. 85, between Oline and the Virginia Line, Frank W. Reams, Industrial Director for Warren County, said yesterday.

Mrs. Sara Harrison, supervisor of the center program, said Wednesday that architects are putting the final touches on plans and bids are expected to be sought in January. The centers are expected to open in June.

REST CENTER SITE OF WELCOME STATION

The centers will be built a few miles south of the Virginia state line on U. S. Highways 95 and 85.

The architecture of the centers has brought forth the criticism of Dean Henry Kamphoefner of N. C. State University's School of Design.

Kamphoefner said earlier that the centers' "Moravian architecture . . . appears to me to be a serious backward step in the State's building code, a step that could drastically damage the progressive image of North Carolina."

State officials have countered however, that the architecture which they describe as "Old Salem," is typically North Carolinian in origin and can be traced as being native to the State.

The welcome center program falls under the jurisdiction of the tourist and industry division of the State Department of Conservation and Development. J. W. (Willie) York of Raleigh is chairman of the C&D board.

The C&D department asked the 1967 General Assembly to appropriate about $1 million to finance the costs of building seven welcome centers. The legislature pared the requests to appropriations for only two centers.

Total cost of the two initial centers is estimated at $120,000. Each will contain about 2,800 square feet of space.

They will consist of a carpeted reception room, storage room, a lounge and office space. Men and women's rest rooms will be open 24 hours a day.

The centers will open each day at 8 a. m. and close at 5 p. m.—except during June, July and August when they will remain open until 8 p. m.

They will be built of brick in a Fleming bond pattern and each will have a bay window and dormer windows on the second level.

The upper story will be used to house heating equipment. The roof will be built with slate shingles. Paneled wainscoting will be built in the reception room and a fireplace designed after those found in Old Salem will be in each center.

NEAL TO SPEAK
Dudley Neal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Neal, will be the speaker Sunday morning at the Warrenton Baptist Church. The college and high school students will be in charge of the service.

Warrenton Girls Slip By Aycock; Boys Lose

AYCOCK - Warrenton's sextet continued its winning ways here last Wednesday evening by topping host Aycock 31-27 in their last game until after Christmas.

But the Yellow Jacket boys were handed their sixth loss without a win by a 65-49 margin in the finale. The girls stand 4-2 on the year and have won their last three.

Betty Carroll tossed in 13 points and Jean Drake notched 10 to pace the visiting ladies. This pair sparked Coach Wayne Plaster's club in front 14-3 at the end of the opening stanza and held on.

Aycock trimmed the Yellow Jackets lead to 18-13 at the midway point but could do no better than play on eventers with the visitors the second half. Jackie Hoyle was practically the entire show for Aycock with 18 points.

Bad passes and the lack of confidence in ability frustrated the Yellow Jacket boys again. Warrenton fell behind 21-12 at the end of the first stanza and slipped gradually the rest of the way. Aycock enjoyed a 37-24 margin at the intermission and sealed the contest early in the final period.

The Yellow Jackets got 16 points from Robert Rivers but Leon Edmonds' nine points were next high. Hal Brame bucketed 16 for the victors while James Burnette scored 12 and Robert Matthews and Larry Brame 11 each.

Announced By State Wel. Office

March 1 has been indicated as the probable effective date for the beginning of operation of the Food Stamp Program in Warren County.

Announcement that funds would be eligible for the program in Warren County was made last Tuesday afternoon from the office of Congressman L. H. Fountain by telephone to Amos L. Capps, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, and to Ernest A. Turner, president of the Warren County Chapter of the NAACP. Capps said following receipt of the information that he did not know when the program would become effective.

The March 1 date was announced last Thursday by Commissioner Clifton M. Craig of the State Department of Public Welfare.

Craig said that the Food Stamp Program for low-income families will be extended to seven more North Carolina counties in early 1968. The latest North Carolina counties designated for participation by the Secretary of Agriculture included Bladen, Brunswick, Greens, Guilford, Rockingham, Union and Warren. They bring the number of counties participating in the Food Stamp program in North Carolina to 28.

All of the counties with the exception of Bladen and Union now offer the surplus food commodity distribution program, Craig said. A change to the Food Stamp program was requested by the boards of county commissioners in each county.

The food Stamp program is administered in North Carolina by the Department of Public Welfare in cooperation with the Consumer and Marketing Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The food stamp program operates through normal trade channels. Low-income families exchange the amount of money they could normally be expected to spend for food for coupons worth in most cases almost double this amount. These families, then, use the coupons to buy food at any authorized retail store at existing prices. Local banks and retail food outlets participate in the program, which not only provides improved nutrition for low income families but boosts the overall economy of participating counties.

As of October, a total of 32,725 North Carolinians, including 13,976 recipients of public assistance in the 21 participating counties and 18,749 others certified as eligible by county welfare departments were listed as participants in this program to provide improved diet and living conditions to low income citizens.
