

Joint Concert To Be Held At Norlina Gym

A joint concert featuring the Norlina High School and the John Graham High School Glee Clubs will be presented at the Norlina High School Gymnasium on Tuesday, April 30, beginning at 8 p. m., the Rev. Bruce Pate, director of the Norlina club, announced yesterday.

Each group will be heard alone in two groups of numbers. The concert will be concluded with the two clubs together for five selections.

The John Graham High School Glee Club, directed by John M. Davis and accompanied by Mrs. Nellie Gardner, will open the concert with five sacred selections. They will begin with "Surely He Hath Borne Our Griefs," by Lotti, followed by Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "Go Not Far From Me" by Zingarelli. Two religious folk melodies, "Brother James Air" and "Soon A-Will Be Done" will conclude the group selections.

For its first group of numbers, the Norlina High School Glee Club accompanied by Tommy Currie, will be heard in five sacred and classical selections. The Netherlands folk tune, "Prayer of Thanksgiving" will open the group, followed by Bach's "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" and Saint-Seán's "Praise Ye The Lord." Two choruses from famed operas, "Toreador" from Bizet's "Carmen" and "Soldiers Chorus" from Gounod's opera "Faust" will conclude this section.

For its second group of numbers the JGHS Glee Club will lead in several light popular selections, opening with "Come, Sing This Song With Me," followed by the popular "Chin, Chin, Cher-ee" from "Mary Poppins" and "The Rain in Spain" from "My Fair Lady." A Jamaican folk song, "Jamaica Farewell" and a choral setting of the popular "Moon River" will conclude its offerings.

Two folk songs, the English Ballad, "Shenandoah" and the Negro Spiritual "Were You There?" will open the second group of numbers by the NHS Glee Club. These will be followed by three selections from popular musicals, "Oklahoma" from the Rogers and Hammerstein musical of the same name,

"Hey, Look Me Over" from "Annie Get Your Gun" and "Exodus Theme" from the movie "Exodus."

The concert will close with the two clubs combining to form a 130-voice mixed chorus. They will be heard first in three Rogers and Hammerstein favorites, "Climb Every Mountain" from "The Sound of Music", "You'll Never Walk Alone" from "Carousel" and "Hello, Young Lovers" from "The King and I". The popular selection "Born Free" will follow. The closing number by the ensemble will be "The Battle Hymn of the Republic", featuring Norlina's Lee Burrows on drums.

Mr. Pate said the public is cordially invited to the concert. There will be no admission charged. A free will offering will be received at the door following the concert for use by the two clubs in future efforts.

Morris Funeral Held On Saturday

Funeral services for Walter William Morris, Sr., 83, were conducted at Blaylock Funeral Chapel in Warrenton at 3 p. m. Saturday by the Rev. H. L. Davis of Littleton and the Rev. Mr. Cataline. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery.

Mr. Morris died in Warren General Hospital Thursday. He was a member of Wesley Memorial Methodist Church and was a retired employee of the Warrenton Box and Lumber Co. where he had worked as a lumber inspector for 57 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Jane Buchanan Morris; two sons, W. W. Morris, Jr., of Warrenton and Randolph Morris of Keyesville, Va.; one daughter, Mrs. Paul Zablosky of Abington, Mass.; one sister, Mrs. Ada Ayscue of Henderson; nine grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

In Hospital

Patients in Warren General Hospital at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon were listed as follows:

Nettie Overby Ayscue, J. L. Overby, Hettie Overby, Estelle Cheek, Peytona Rogers, Alice Crutchfield, John Waddell, Wiley Coleman, Herman Hayes, Lizzie Weaver, Willie Robertson, Clarence Herbert, Asa Dowlin, Devilla Vick, Mary Davis, Ida Henderson, Charlie Davis, Will Taylor, Lee Alston, Clarence P. Gaston, Julia P. Young, Tempie Richardson, Myrtle S. Fleming, Beulah Townes, Mary Speed Massenburg, William Southerland, Ricardo Williams.

By 1970 North Carolina will have 983,000 young people between the ages of 10 and 19.

HAM OR TURKEY DINNER

The Wise-Paschall Ruritan Club will sponsor a ham or turkey dinner at the Wise school building from 5 p. m. to 8 p. m. on Saturday, April 27. Adult plates will serve for $1.25 and children's plates for 75¢. Tickets may be obtained at Joe Riggins Store at Wise, Paynter's Grocery, 1 mile north of Wise on U. S. No. 1, and at the door.

Norlina Native Has Been Licensed To Preach

Thomas Clyde Currie, a native of Norlina and a graduate of Norlina High School, has been licensed to preach the gospel by the Norlina Baptist Church, the Rev. Cecil Baughman, Jr., said yesterday.

Mr. Baughman said that Mr. Currie is the second man in the 56 1/2 years history of the Norlina Baptist Church to be licensed to preach. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Currie of Norlina, the husband of the former Miss Lucy Williams of Wise, and the father of six children.

Mr. Currie has been preaching in a number of churches in the Cullom Association for the past two years and is at present the pastor of the North Warrenton Baptist Church.

THOMAS CLYDE CURRIE

Postoffice Patrons May Stop Pandering Advt.

Mail patrons offended by pandering advertisements can now take steps to curb such mail, Postmaster A. C. Blalock said this week in announcing plans for administering a new law which gives each family the right to decide that an ad is "erotically arousing or sexually provocative."

When an advertisement sent through the mails is offensive on these grounds, a postal patron can now ask the post office to direct the mailer to send no more mail to him and to remove immediately the patron's name from all mailing lists he owns, controls or rents.

To assist patrons, the Post Office Department has published a brief pamphlet—How You Can Curb Pandering Advertisements—which is now available at the Warrenton post office. In addition to explaining how the law works, the pocket-size leaflet contains a form letter one can use when sending his complaint to the post office.

The pamphlet explains that when a patron receives an advertisement which is, in his opinion, pandering, he must send the ad, its envelope and the form letter, or one which includes its language, to his post office with the words, "Request for prohibitory order" on the face of the envelope.

Postmaster Blalock said: "This new law should give some protection to American families offended by advertisements they believe to be morally harmful, particularly to their children."

"Last year the Post Office Department received some 140,000 complaints from those offended by pandering advertisements. While in most cases the ads were not legally obscene and were therefore mailable, they are often offensive and are usually not the type of material one would want his children to read," Postmaster Blalock said.

He added that "because the law gives a mail patron the sole right to decide what is offensive, and does not deny others the right to receive the same mail, the Congress felt it does not violate Constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech."

While the patron's complaint will only be directed to the sender, Postmaster Blalock believes that one or two complaints will provide substantial protection because "the great bulk of this advertising comes from fewer than 20 so-called 'smut dealers' who are frequently swapping mailing lists."

If a mailer does not strike a complainant's name from his mailing list, and the patron receives a second mailing 30 days after the firm has received the prohibitory order, he may bring the matter to the attention of the postmaster issuing the initial order by writing him and enclosing the second pandering ad with its envelope. If the mailer still fails to respect the order, the Postmaster General may ask the Attorney General to apply for a Federal Court order directing compliance. Failure to observe the order may be punishable by a fine or imprisonment.

When an advertisement sent through the mails is offensive on these grounds, a postal patron can now ask the post office to direct the mailer to send no more mail to him and to remove immediately the patron's name from all mailing lists he owns, controls or rents.

To assist patrons, the Post Office Department has published a brief pamphlet—How You Can Curb Pandering Advertisements—which is now available at the Warrenton post office. In addition to explaining how the law works, the pocket-size leaflet contains a form letter one can use when sending his complaint to the post office.

The pamphlet explains that when a patron receives an advertisement which is, in his opinion, pandering, he must send the ad, its envelope and the form letter, or one which includes its language, to his post office with the words, "Request for prohibitory order" on the face of the envelope.

Postmaster Blalock said: "This new law should give some protection to American families offended by advertisements they believe to be morally harmful, particularly to their children."

"Last year the Post Office Department received some 140,000 complaints from those offended by pandering advertisements. While in most cases the ads were not legally obscene and were therefore mailable, they are often offensive and are usually not the type of material one would want his children to read," Postmaster Blalock said.

He added that "because the law gives a mail patron the sole right to decide what is offensive, and does not deny others the right to receive the same mail, the Congress felt it does not violate Constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech."

While the patron's complaint will only be directed to the sender, Postmaster Blalock believes that one or two complaints will provide substantial protection because "the great bulk of this advertising comes from fewer than 20 so-called 'smut dealers' who are frequently swapping mailing lists."

If a mailer does not strike a complainant's name from his mailing list, and the patron receives a second mailing 30 days after the firm has received the prohibitory order, he may bring the matter to the attention of the postmaster issuing the initial order by writing him and enclosing the second mailing list he owns, controls or rents.

To assist patrons, the Post Office Department has published a brief pamphlet—How You Can Curb Pandering Advertisements—which is now available at the Warrenton post office. In addition to explaining how the law works, the pocket-size leaflet contains a form letter one can use when sending his complaint to the post office.

The pamphlet explains that when a patron receives an advertisement which is, in his opinion, pandering, he must send the ad, its envelope and the form letter, or one which includes its language, to his post office with the words, "Request for prohibitory order" on the face of the envelope.

Postmaster Blalock said: "This new law should give some protection to American families offended by advertisements they believe to be morally harmful, particularly to their children."

"Last year the Post Office Department received some 140,000 complaints from those offended by pandering advertisements. While in most cases the ads were not legally obscene and were therefore mailable, they are often offensive and are usually not the type of material one would want his children to read," Postmaster Blalock said.

He added that "because the law gives a mail patron the sole right to decide what is offensive, and does not deny others the right to receive the same mail, the Congress felt it does not violate Constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech."

While the patron's complaint will only be directed to the sender, Postmaster Blalock believes that one or two complaints will provide substantial protection because "the great bulk of this advertising comes from fewer than 20 so-called 'smut dealers' who are frequently swapping mailing lists."

If a mailer does not strike a complainant's name from his mailing list, and the patron receives a second mailing 30 days after the firm has received the prohibitory order, he may bring the matter to the attention of the postmaster issuing the initial order by writing him and enclosing the second mailing list he owns, controls or rents.

To assist patrons, the Post Office Department has published a brief pamphlet—How You Can Curb Pandering Advertisements—which is now available at the Warrenton post office. In addition to explaining how the law works, the pocket-size leaflet contains a form letter one can use when sending his complaint to the post office.

The pamphlet explains that when a patron receives an advertisement which is, in his opinion, pandering, he must send the ad, its envelope and the form letter, or one which includes its language, to his post office with the words, "Request for prohibitory order" on the face of the envelope.

Postmaster Blalock said: "This new law should give some protection to American families offended by advertisements they believe to be morally harmful, particularly to their children."

"Last year the Post Office Department received some 140,000 complaints from those offended by pandering advertisements. While in most cases the ads were not legally obscene and were therefore mailable, they are often offensive and are usually not the type of material one would want his children to read," Postmaster Blalock said.

He added that "because the law gives a mail patron the sole right to decide what is offensive, and does not deny others the right to receive the same mail, the Congress felt it does not violate Constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech."

While the patron's complaint will only be directed to the sender, Postmaster Blalock believes that one or two complaints will provide substantial protection because "the great bulk of this advertising comes from fewer than 20 so-called 'smut dealers' who are frequently swapping mailing lists."

If a mailer does not strike a complainant's name from his mailing list, and the patron receives a second mailing 30 days after the firm has received the prohibitory order, he may bring the matter to the attention of the postmaster issuing the initial order by writing him and enclosing the second

STEW SALE
Jerusalem Methodist Church will sell stew at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Van Coleman on Tuesday, April 30. The stew will be ready to serve by noon and will sell for $1.00 per quart if the customer furnishes container. For orders to be reserved or delivered call Mrs. W. J. King, Mrs. Joe Riggan or Mrs. Van Coleman. Proceeds will be used for the benefit of the church. In case of bad weather, the sale will be postponed to a later date.

BAKE SALE
The American Legion Auxiliary, Unit No. 25, will hold a sale on Friday, April 26, at the AAA Gas Company at 10 a. m. for the benefit of Girls Bazaar.

After all these years, I have had a brand new experience — five nights of curfew.

I have lived through two world wars (served in the Air Corps in the first one) and have observed many advances in science and technology.

In communications — I will remember the first radio program I ever heard, using a home-made "crystal set" and an earphone. The telephone on the wall — two shorts, one long and short, etc. Conrad Nagel was the first voice I heard on Vitaphone. Now stereophonic sound, color TV and satellites. I have watched my daily paper, The News and Observer, grow from a circulation of 35,000 to 153,000.

In transportation — I have driven "tin-lizzies" with brass bands, Overlands, Saxons, Maxwells, EMF 30's. Flown in J. N. 4's, Curtis Fledglings, Ford-Stout Tri-Motors and jets.

I could go on through oil lamps to fluorescent tubes and atomic power but these examples should be sufficient to bring into sharp focus what we are prone to call, at least in conventional terms, progress.

With all the advances in science and technology, which have made life so easy for us, it appears that we have lost sight of human values. Society has eroded to the lowest level in modern history and resembles a badly gullied hillside where the roots of faith, hope and charity are having a hard time finding anchorage.

This directs me to my lead paragraph, my first experience with:

CURFEW
It is quiet on our street,
Ominously quiet,
And yet,
The atmosphere is charged with uncertainty.
Love! Hate! Memorials! Incongruous.
The radio crackles,
Another spectacular fire!
Why? Is this the answer?
Have we too long forgotten
The little things in life that mean so much?
To do justly?
To love mercy?
To walk humbly in His sight?

NOT SATISFIED
The barber had completed what he thought was a fine job of cutting a customer's hair. He held up a mirror behind the man's head and awaited the compliments which he was sure would ensue. Instead, the customer peered into the mirror and then said: Just a little longer in the back, please.

(Political Advertisement)

RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. T. E. Peoples has returned to her home from a Rocky Mount hospital where she was treated for injuries received in a fall.

VISITING IN COUNTY

Miss Sharon Norvell is spending several months with her great-grandmother, Mrs.

A. P. Rodwell, at Warren Plains and with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Norvell at Wise while her parents, Sgt. and Mrs. Harry Norvell and family are stationed in California. Sgt. and Mrs. Norvell recently returned to the states after spending three years in Italy.

Three out of four American homes have electric toasters.

(Political Advertisement)

E-L-E-C-T

HENRY MYRICK

— for —

COUNTY COMMISSIONER

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY - MAY 4th

The Man For The People Of Warren County

If you're concerned about the kind of government North Carolina will have for the next four years, spend the next few minutes reading this ad in behalf of Mel Broughton for Governor.

Since Mel Broughton announced his candidacy, he has spoken out clearly and consistently on the major issues confronting North Carolina. Here is where he stands now — and where he will stand as governor:

On Law And Order:
"As governor, I would use every resource to put down riots and apprehend the criminals and hoodlums who start and participate in them. I also would seek to eliminate the problems that cause riots."

On Open Housing:
"My position on open housing laws is now and always has been one of strong opposition to all such laws — national, state and local."

On Education:
"I have recommended pay raises that will at last bring teacher salaries in North Carolina up to the national average and keep them there for the biennium. Higher salaries will help attract and keep better teachers and strengthen our educational system."

On Improving Roads:
"We should continue as rapidly as possible to upgrade existing routes from east to west and north to south until all primary roads are four laned. We also must have more and better secondary roads throughout our state."

On Medical Centers:
"Medical centers in the east and in the west in coordination with regional universities, existing hospitals and clinics could do much to cure the ills resulting from weak medical services in those regions."

On Agriculture:
"The economic status of the farmer in North Carolina must be improved. As governor, I would form a task force of our best scientists, agricultural specialists and business leaders to seek answers to farm problems."

On Fiscal Matters:
"We must make sure that North Carolina receives a dollar's worth of value for every dollar we pay out. As governor, I would continue the sound principles of fiscal responsibility and fiscal integrity that have guided our state for many years."

VOTE BROUGHTON FOR GOVERNOR

NOTICE

FREE MOTHPROOFING WITH DRYCLEANING SERVICE

-----THOSE MOTHS!!!

next time I'll have my clothes drycleaned by a SANEX drycleaner! SANEX is the world's leading mothproofing with a Purifying Finish."

Your garments are not only mothproofed, but new scientific additive in our drycleaning process protects them against perspiration odors, mold and mildew.

Garments look better and last longer... at no extra cost to you!

Two Convenient Plants To Serve You.

Grissom's SERVICE CLEANERS NORLINA
Tel. 458-2781

Fashion CLEANERS WARRINGTON
Tel. 297-3628